Foreword

The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP), developed by the U.S. Department of Education's Center for Education Statistics (CES) in 1979-80, was updated for the first time in 1985. CIP is a taxonomy for instructional programs at all levels. It is used in all CES surveys and is the accepted government standard for education information surveys.

In 1979-81, when CIP was developed and published, CES assured the education community that CIP would be updated periodically. CIP is intended to reflect the continuing changes for postsecondary education program offerings. Since first published, CIP has been used by CES in the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS), and the Vocational Education Data System (VEDS); by other organizations, such as the Office for Civil Rights, Office of Vocational and Adult Education, and National Occupational Information Coordinating Committee; and by State agencies and national associations. CIP's use has been extensive enough so its completeness and relevance can be analyzed. For example, a review of HEGIS and VEDS data confirmed that most programs in CIP existed. "Write-ins" for programs not in CIP indicated new and emerging programs.

The CIP update will be used in CES' Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS). The Carl Perkins vocational education legislation specifies the use of CIP in IPEDS vocational education surveys.

The CIP update was accomplished with help from State, Federal, institutional, and association representatives. The revised CIP is the result of their contributions and the empirical examination of reported data.

Chapter 1

Introduction

Uses of the Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP)

According to 1986 data, in the United States there are over 3,300 colleges and universities, over 9,000 noncollegiate schools offering occupational programs, and over 15,000 elementary and secondary school districts. Most of these schools and colleges have developed instructional programs that meet the needs of the institution and its students. They have identified and described those programs in ways that best serve needs, and evolved classification and coding schemes that reflect their own arrangements and meet management needs.

However, many times schools and colleges must communicate information about their programs with State or Federal agencies, professional or accrediting groups, and other institutions in a language that everyone understands. That means a set of data categories and definitions subscribed to by all parties to the information exchange (data collecting and reporting). This does not mean that institutions must modify their internal systems to satisfy the needs of external reporting. To the contrary, to do so would reduce the internal use of data, which in most institutions is the primary consideration. Rather an institution should be prepared to translate its data into a common structure for reporting data and communicating with other agencies and institutions. This classification should be used to structure recordkeeping systems for internal use if

- 1) it is appropriate for intra-institutional use, and
- 2) external (reporting) uses prevail over internal uses so efficiency is better served.

CIP is to assist in collecting, reporting, and interpreting data about instructional programs. It is to aid those who design data collection instruments; respond to questionnaires; and compile, verify, and analyze data. CIP provides a universe for designers of data-collection instruments from which program titles may be selected. For survey respondents and those who compile and verify data, CIP is a dictionary to clarify where a particular datum should be reported.

CIP provides the Federal government with a standard means of describing instructional programs in Federal data surveys. The Center for Education Statistics (CES) uses CIP for its Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) and other surveys.

Apart from Federal purposes and obligations, CIP has value for States and institutions. State education agencies, central offices of college and university systems, and superintendents of large school districts have data reporting needs not unlike those of the Federal government. These administrative units require standardized data on instructional programs for such functions as budgeting, funding, planning, allocating classroom space, assigning personnel, and reviewing programs. State agency personnel need standardized data from each institution in their State, for example, to compare program offerings and avoid duplications. Central university system offices and school district offices also rely on standardized data to prepare system-wide and district-wide budgets.

CIP should also be useful to institutions. To keep up with latest developments, institutions belonging to a particular interest group often exchange data on a regular basis. Institutions undertaking self-studies often compare their data with equivalent data from similar institutions.

Among potential users of CIP are State and Federal agencies and other organizations that are not primary sources of data about instructional programs. Since they must first collect data from schools and colleges before they can either use the data or pass it on to third parties; such organizations may find it useful to structure their record-keeping systems in accordance with CIP.

Cautionary Notes About Use

The CIP describes the content of programs at three levels (two-digit, four-digit, and six-digit levels). Its design allows it to be used in collecting data at varying levels. However, it is the responsibility of the individual or agency requesting the data to specify the level. Many times, no single level will yield the desired data. CIP provides the building blocks; it does not provide the blueprint for all uses.

Users should not interpret similar classification of programs as connoting comparability. Programs at two institutions can be categorized and coded in the same way, and yet be different. This can happen for a variety of reasons. First CIP is a framework to which institutions translate their own data. Second, there are many nuances to a description of an instructional program. These involve methods of teaching, prior preparation of students, mix of resources used, etc. In short, comparability is a relative, not an absolute, concept. If used properly, CIP should help assure that programs in the same category are more like each other than they are like programs in other categories.

Concepts Basic to CIP

A. The Definition of Instructional Programs

For purposes of this publication, instructional programs are defined as one or more structured learning experiences designed to accomplish a predetermined objective or set of allied objectives, such as preparation of advanced study, qualification for an occupation or range of occupations, or solely to increase knowledge or understanding.

Two points should be noted. First, as used in this publication, instructional programs comprise structured learning experiences. Learning that occurs by happenstance or that accrues through experience, but in the absence of a designed intent are to be excluded. At the same time, "structured learning experience" should be interpreted broadly. Student learning contracts, organized field experiences, and other planned experiences can be accommodated within this definition. The important thing is that they are planned and structured; the methods by which they are carried out are not determining considerations. Included within the scope of this definition are the following:

- o Programs leading to the award of a high school diploma, college degree, or certificate of some form (programs resulting in an award are generally designed to provide a well-rounded education or preparation for further study or entry into one or more occupations);
- o programs leading to educational attainment generally begin with a particular age or grade level--for example, a fifth grade instructional program (grade-level programs generally prepare an individual for the next level of education);
- o programs intended to keep employed individuals current in their fields (continuing professional education or occupational updating programs); and
- o programs intended to equip individuals for leisure-time pursuits.

Second, instructional programs are planned and organized toward an end. They can be described in explicit or implied objectives; for example, preparation for advanced study, preparation for job entry, occupational or professional updating, or preparation for a licensing exam. Alternatively, instructional programs can be described by the forms of recognition given on completion of the programs; for example, high school diplomas, certificates, or degrees. In many cases, the basic objectives are implied by the nature of the award conferred upon program completion. There is more commonality of practice and understanding about awards than about program purposes more abstractly stated. The approach in using awards as the determining factor has been adopted in this publication.

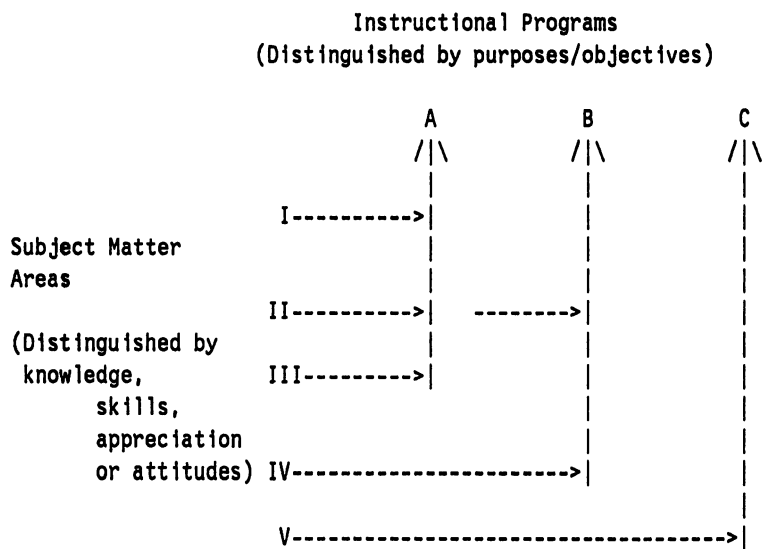

B. Subject Matter

The concept of instructional programs is often confused with the concept of subject matter. This confusion requires that a distinction be made between these concepts. According to CES, subject matter is defined as:

A body of facts, understandings, processes, skills, values, and appreciations related to a specific aspect of human activity and experience. Subject matter includes the accumulated knowledge, skills, appreciations, and attitudes comprising the substance of any subject-matter area. *

Instructional programs, therefore, are distinguished by the objective or objectives they are to accomplish. Subject matter areas are distinguished by the substantive content of the knowledge, skill, appreciations, or attitudes they embody. While these concepts are related in that all instructional programs have a subject-matter base, they are not synonymous (see figure 1.)

The relationships between Subject Matter Areas I, II, III, and Instructional Program A illustrate instructional programs generally derive from many subject matter areas. For example, an instructional program that prepares students for advanced study in physics may draw from mathematics, chemistry, and physics. The relationship between Subject Matter Area II and Instructional Programs A and B illustrate that multiple instructional programs often draw from a common subject matter area. Programs designed for such different purposes as preparing students for advanced study in physics and preparing students as entry-level machinists both draw on mathematics, though at different levels of complexity. Finally, the relationship between Subject Matter Area V and Instructional Program C shows that many instructional programs have as their purpose the transferral of knowledge or skills from one subject matter area. Examples are programs to help students with a communication skill such as reading or programs to acquaint an individual with recent advances in chemistry.

The concept of an instructional program generally applies to collecting data about degrees granted and student majors. The concept of subject matter generally applies to collecting data about levels of activity--full-time equivalent (FTE) faculty assigned or student credit/ contact hours generated--for instruction in a particular discipline. CIP is used to describe instructional programs. If any other use of CIP is planned users should clearly state how the classification is being used in that given application.

c. Relationship to Labor Market Supply and Demand

A major use of instructional program data, particularly at the State and National level, is in the development of information for labor market supply and demand comparisons. Instructional program (supply) categories are aligned as closely as possible with occupational (demand) categories. (See figure 2.)

This illustration indicates

- 1) Occupations can draw entrants from different instructional programs--for example sales personnel can come from business, engineering, liberal arts;
- 2) An instructional program can provide entrants to many occupations; liberal arts is an example; and
- 3) Some programs' relation to occupations are singular and direct. (The categories of Mechanics and Repairers, and Precision Production have been developed on this basis, for example.)

Criteria for Designing the Classification

Six criteria were used to design CIP:

1. Distinctions among programs are made on the basis of program objectives. For example, civil engineering technology is distinguished from civil engineering because the explicit purpose of the first program is training individuals to assist civil engineers.
2. The classification applies to all instructional programs regardless of the organization providing the instruction.
3. The classification applies to all educational levels--elementary, secondary, and postsecondary. This means that a program offered mostly by secondary schools, such as industrial arts, is included.
4. To provide continuity, ties to existing classification schemes are maintained as long as they do not violate other criteria.
5. The classification reflects the historical traditions of instructional program areas. Thus the category of home economics is detailed while law is not.
6. The structure reflects an institutional or organizational perspective because institutions are the data providers.

Describing the Classification

CIP comprises two parts, one for program purpose and the other for program category. Additional detail for the program category is in chapter 2, and definitions for program categories as well as program purposes are in chapter 3.

Program Purpose

The category for program purposes distinguishes whether or not programs culminate in a formal award, such as a degree, diploma, or certificate. It reflects a distinction made by institutions in describing their programs as "degree" or "nondegree". It also reflects the way institutions collect and report data on program enrollment and completion.

A search of college catalogs reveals statements of program purposes and objectives such as to enhance the quality of life, to promote democratic ideals, to develop the whole person, and to prepare individuals for employment in particular occupations. While such statements may be descriptive of program goals, there is no consensus on how they fit in categories. It is necessary to distinguish program levels within the program purpose categories. For programs culminating in formal awards, subcategories are the particular award granted upon program completion, such as high school diploma or baccalaureate degree. Further distinctions within award programs, such as grade-level descriptors, are often used. Such descriptors perhaps more appropriately describe the progress of an individual compared to a program rather than the program itself. Nevertheless, often all individuals at a particular grade level take the same educational program--for example, the first year of medical school. In such cases, grade-level distinctions can be legitimately used to identify and classify instructional programs. For programs not resulting in a formal award, level distinctions often are not made. In instances where level distinctions are useful or necessary, programs can be categorized as "introductory", "intermediate", or "advanced". (See table 1 for a listing of program purpose subdivisions.)

The discussion of program purpose would not be complete without addressing the question of "purpose as identified by whom?" This question can be answered from at least three perspectives--the learner, society, and the institution providing the program.

- 1.2 Junior High/Middle School Program
- 1.3 High School Diploma Program

2.0 Postsecondary Certificates/Awards/Diplomas/Degrees

- 2.1 Postsecondary Certificate, Awards or Diploma of less than one academic year
- 2.2 Postsecondary Certificate, Awards or Diploma of at least one but less than two academic years
- 2.3 Associate Degree
- 2.4 Postsecondary Certificate, Award or Diploma of at least two but less than four academic years
- 2.5 Baccalaureate Degree

3.0 First-Professional Certificates/Degrees

- 3.1 First-Professional Degree
- 3.2 Post-Professional Certificate (Post-Degree)

4.0 Graduate Certificates/Degrees

- 4.1 Postbaccalaureate Certificate
- 4.2 Master's Degree
- 4.3 Post-Master's Certificate
- 4.4 Doctoral Degree
- 4.5 Post-Doctoral Certificate

5.0 Nonformal Award Programs

Learners give many reasons for participating in an educational program. So it is difficult to classify program purposes in a standard way. Society asks what the societal benefits are of continued investment in education. The difficulty is that societal objectives are too broadly stated to use in classifying program purposes. For this classification, the third perspective--that of the institutional providing the instructional program--will be used. Most data about instructional programs is collected from institutions, not students. So we adopt the institution's perspective if data are to be interpreted with consistency. Program purpose is interpreted as the objective intended by the institution offering the program.

Program Category

The second part of the classification distinguishes programs by programs area.

Coding Programs

The program category has three levels. The definitions of all two-digit elements begin with the words "a summary of groups of instructional programs", while the definitions of all four-digit elements begin with "a group of instructional programs". At the six-digit level, all definitions begin with the words "an instructional program". Thus, by definition, an instructional program can only be coded at the six-digit level. This is why many four-digit programs have only one six-digit subdivision: it was necessary to add the six-digit entry for uniformity so that an instructional program under the four-digit group of programs would have a six-digit code by which to be classified.

There are programs cross-referenced from one, two-digit grouping to another. This is done where programs historically have been classified in more than one place. The cross-reference helps in locating these programs.

One more note should be made about program category. There was no attempt to include within this framework programs that combine education and work. These programs, called experiential education, are defined as "a set of planned educational experiences designed to enable learners to acquire attitudes, skills, and knowledge for work and other life roles by participating in work settings". It includes four major types of programs: cooperative vocational education, work experience education, career exploration, and work study programs. If there is demand for information concerning these types of programs, steps can be taken in the future to incorporate them into CIP. However, they do not fall within the criteria established for designing this classification.

Classifying Selected Programs

Some programs are difficult to match with this classification. The following guidelines deal with classifying these programs as well as unusual programs for which no appropriate categories are in the classification. The guidelines are by topic:

1. High School Programs Leading to a Diploma
 - General academic or college preparatory programs should be classified
 - o Award, High School Diploma (purpose)
 - o Liberal/General Studies (program category)
 - Occupational/vocational programs resulting in a high school diploma are classified
 - o Award, High School Diploma (purpose)
 - o Appropriate Program Category

2. Baccalaureate Transfer Program Offered by a Community College

If the program is a general-purpose program, it should be classified

- o Award, Associate's, assuming a two-year program (purpose)
- o Liberal/General Studies (program category)

If the program is designed to fulfill the two year requirements for a degree in a particular field (e.g., education or business), it should be classified

- o Award, Associate's (purpose)
- o Appropriate Program Category

3. General Educational Development (GED) Programs

Classified the same as high school diplomas, that is

- o Award, High School Diploma (purpose)
- o Liberal/General Studies (program category)

4. Adult Basic Education

These programs should be classified

- o Nonformal Award (purpose)
- o Basic Skills (program category)

5. Continuing Professional Education

Most such programs are designed to update professionals practicing in their chosen field and might not be credit courses that can be applied toward a degree. As a result, programs commonly labeled "continuing professional education programs" should be classified

- o Nonformal Award (purpose)
- o Appropriate Program Category

If a program labeled a "continuing professional education" course is part of a degree program, it should be classified

- o Award, Appropriate Level (purpose)
- o Appropriate Program Category

6. Occupational Updating Programs

These should be classified the same as continuing professional education programs. If they are not intended to lead to a degree or certificate, then they should be classified

- o Nonformal Award (purpose)
- o Appropriate Program Category

If the occupational updating program is designed to culminate in a degree or certificate, then it should be classified:

- o Award, Appropriate Level (purpose)
- o Appropriate Program Category

7. "General" Program Subcategories

Many of the program categories in the structure have a "general" subcategory (for example, 01.0601, "Horticulture General"). This subcategory should be used only to connote program content covering two or more other six-digit subcategories in that category. It should not be used as a substitute for "other" subcategory.

8. Other Programs

Report instructional programs for which there are no appropriate program elements as XX.9999, Other. The "other" rather than the "general" subcategory should be used when no appropriate six-digit category can be found.

Contents of the Classification

As stated previously, chapter 2 contains a list of all subdivisions under program purpose and program category. Chapter 3 provides a definition for each term appearing in chapter 2. Appendix A lists all changes in this edition of CIP from the 1981 edition. To provide continuity with classifications previously in use, appendixes B crosswalks between the HEGIS Taxonomy and CIP. Appendix C lists those categories of the classification that are recognized as occupationally specific programs. An index is also included which lists all six-digit program entries for the reader's convenience. It identifies programs by the codes used in chapters 2 and 3 rather than by page number.

Definitions of Instructional Programs

Program Purpose

Award Programs. Programs of instruction requiring a specific amount of educational work and resulting in a diploma, certificate, or degree conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the school or agency granting the award.

1.0 Elementary/Secondary Programs

- 1.1 Elementary School Program. A program of instruction usually requiring eight years of elementary school work, the completion of which results in an elementary school diploma or equivalent recognition conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the school or agency granting the diploma.
- 1.2 Junior High/Middle School Program. A program of instruction usually requiring three years of junior high/middle school work, the completion of which results in a junior high/middle school diploma or equivalent recognition conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the school or agency granting the diploma.
- 1.3 High School Diploma Program. A program of instruction usually requiring three or four years of high school work, the completion of which results in a high school diploma conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the school or agency granting the diploma.

2.0 Postsecondary Certificates/Awards/Diplomas/Degrees

- 2.1 Postsecondary Certificate, Award or Diploma of less less than one academic year. A program of instruction requiring less than one year of postsecondary level work, the completion of which results in a postsecondary certificate, award or diploma conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the institution granting the certificate, award or diploma.
- 2.2 Postsecondary Certificate, Award, or Diploma, of at least one but less than two academic years. A program of instruction requiring one year or more of full-time equivalent postsecondary level work, the completion of which results in a postsecondary certificate, award or diploma conferred by faculty and ratified by the governing board of the institution granting the certificate, award or diploma.
- 2.3 Associate's Degree. A program of instruction requiring at least two but less than four years of full-time equivalent college level work, the completion of which results in an associate's degree conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the institution granting the degree.
- 2.4 Postsecondary Certificate, Award or Diploma of at least two but less than four academic years. A program of instruction requiring one year or more of full-time equivalent postsecondary level work, the completion of which results in a postsecondary certificate, award or diploma conferred by faculty and ratified by the governing board of the institution granting the certificate, award or diploma.

- 2.5 Baccalaureate Degree. A program of instruction requiring at least four but not more than five years of full-time equivalent college academic work, the completion of which results in a baccalaureate degree conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the institution granting the degree.

3.0 First-Professional Certificates/Degrees

- 3.1 First-Professional Degree. A program of instruction the completion of which results in a first-professional degree conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the institution granting the degree. In addition, the first-professional degree (1) signifies completion of the academic requirements to begin practice in the profession; (2) requires at least two years of full-time equivalent college level work prior to entrance; and (3) usually requires a total of at least six years of full-time equivalent academic work to complete the degree program, including prior required college level work plus the length of the professional program itself.
- 3.2 Post-Professional Certificate (Post-Degree). A program of instruction requiring significant achievement beyond the first-professional degree, the completion of which results in a formal post-professional certificate conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the institution granting the certificate.

4.0 Graduate Certificates/Degrees

- 4.1 Postbaccalaureate Certificate. A program of instruction requiring significant achievement beyond the baccalaureate degree, the completion of which results in a formal graduate certificate conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the institution granting the certificate.
- 4.2 Master's Degree. A program of instruction requiring at least one but not more than two years of full-time equivalent academic work beyond the baccalaureate degree, the completion of which results in a master's degree conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the institution granting the degree.
- 4.3 Post-Master's Certificate. A program of instruction requiring completion of an organized program of study of 60 credit hours or its equivalent beyond the master's degree, but does not meet the requirements of academic degrees at the doctoral level and is conferred by the faculty and ratified by governing of the institution granting the certificate.
- 4.4 Doctoral Degree. A program of instruction requiring at least three years of full-time equivalent academic work beyond the baccalaureate degree, the completion of which results in a doctoral degree conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the institution granting the degree.
- 4.5 Post-Doctoral Certificate. A program of instruction requiring significant achievement beyond the doctoral degree, the completion of which results in a formal post-doctoral award conferred by the faculty and ratified by the governing board of the institution granting the degree.

Nonformal Award Programs

- 5.0 Nonformal Award Programs. Programs of instruction intended to serve learning clientele and learning objectives that do not result in formal recognition such as a award, diploma, certificate, or degree.

Program Category

- 01. Agribusiness and Agricultural Production. A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepare individuals to apply scientific knowledge and methods, and technical skills in support of agribusiness and agricultural activities concerned with the management of agricultural enterprises, production and propagation of crops and animals, supplies and services, mechanics, products processing and marketing, and horticulture.
- 01.01 Agricultural Business and Management. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to apply the management of agricultural enterprises economic and business principles involved in the organization, operation, and management of farm and agricultural businesses.
- 01.0101 Agricultural Business and Management, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to apply the economic and business principles involved in the organization, operation, and management of farm and agricultural businesses.
- 01.0102 Agricultural Business. An instructional program that prepares individuals to apply business and economic principles relating to the purchasing, selling producing, and marketing of agricultural products and services for maximizing profit.
- 01.0103 Agricultural Economics. An instructional program that prepares individuals to apply business and economic principles relating to the allocation of resources to the production and marketing of agricultural products and services in the domestic and international markets.
- 01.0104 Farm and Ranch Management. An instructional program that prepares individuals to manage a farm or ranch. Includes instruction in farm enterprise analysis, accounting, taxes, production, financing, capital resources, purchasing, government programs, farm inputs, performance records, contracts, estate planning, and marketing.
- 01.0199 Agricultural Business and Management, Other. Any instructional program in agricultural business and management not described above.
- 01.02 Agricultural Mechanics. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to select, operate, maintain, service, sell, and use agriculture/agribusiness power units, machinery, equipment, structures, and utilities. Includes instruction in agricultural power units; the planning and selection of materials for the construction of agricultural facilities; and the mechanical practices associated with irrigation, drainage, runoff, water conservation, and erosion control.
- 01.0201 Agricultural Mechanics, General. An instructional program that prepares individuals in a general way to select, operate, maintain, service, sell and use agriculture/agribusiness power units, machinery, equipment, structures, and utilities. Includes instruction in agricultural power units; the planning and selection of materials for the construction of agricultural facilities; and the mechanical practices associated with irrigation, drainage, runoff, water conservation, and erosion control.

- 01.0202 Agricultural Electrification, Power, and Controls. An instructional program that prepares individuals for the safe use of electricity, electrical power, equipment, and automatic controls.
- 01.0203 Agricultural Mechanics, Construction, and Maintenance Skills. An instructional program that prepares individuals to select, safely use, and maintain hand and power tools, arc and acetylene welding equipment, and construction materials.
- 01.0204 Agricultural Power Machinery. An instructional program that prepares individuals to select, operate, service, maintain, and repair a variety of agricultural power units and agricultural machinery and equipment. Includes instruction in gas, diesel, and electric units; welding; refrigeration; and hydraulics and other power systems.
- 01.0205 Agricultural Structures, Equipment, and Facilities. An instructional program that prepares individuals to plan, select materials for, construct, utilize, and maintain agricultural structures, equipment, and environmental facilities such as barns, sheds, milking parlors, manure and other waste handling structures and equipment, forage and grain storage structures, and greenhouses.
- 01.0206 Soil and Water Mechanical Practices. An instructional program that prepares individuals to implement soil and water management by surveying, planning, laying out, constructing, using, and maintaining irrigation, drainage, and runoff systems.
- 01.0299 Agricultural Mechanics, Other. Any instructional program in agricultural mechanics not described above.
- 01.03 Agricultural Production. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to plan and economically use facilities, land, water, machinery, chemicals, finance, and labor in the production of plant and animal products.
- 01.0301 Agricultural Production, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to plan and economically use facilities, land, water, machinery, chemicals, finance, and labor in the production of plant and animal products.
- 01.0302 Animal Production. An instructional program that prepares individuals to operate animal production enterprises by developing competencies concerning the selection, breeding, physiology, nutrition, health, housing, feeding, and marketing of animals such as dairy cattle, beef cattle, horses, swine, sheep, poultry, bees, rabbits, cats, dogs, and earthworms.
- 01.0303 Aquaculture. An instructional program that prepares individuals for fish farming and marine plant production and harvesting. Includes instruction in feeding, culturing, protecting, and propagating commercially produced marine food products and seaweed, and the uses of marine foods.

- 01.0304 Crop Production. An instructional program that prepares individuals to operate enterprises concerned with the production of cereal grain, fiber, forage, oilseed, tree fruits and nuts, small fruits, vegetables, and other crops. Includes instruction in soils, plant nutrition, plant and seed identification, genetics, physiology, entomology, plant pathology, plant disease, and pest control, including insecticides, fungicides, herbicides, nonchemical controls, and plant genetic resistance.
- 01.0305 Game Farm Management. An instructional program that prepares individuals to breed, raise, and protect game animals and wildlife for conservation and stocking purposes. Includes instruction in conservation practices and may involve a study of managerial competencies unique to game farm operation.
- 01.0399 Agricultural Production, Other. Any instructional program in agricultural production not described above.
- 01.04 Agricultural Products and Processing. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to process food and nonfood products and to inspect those products preparatory to marketing. Includes instruction in the characteristics and properties of agricultural products and of agriculture-related processing techniques and skills (including quality control and mechanical operations involved in marketing, grading, inspecting, packaging, storing, and marketing).
- 01.0401 Agricultural Products and Processing, General. A group of instructional program that generally prepares individuals to process foods and nonfood products and to inspect those products preparatory to marketing. Includes instruction in the characteristics and properties of agricultural products and of agriculture-related processing techniques and skills (including quality control and mechanical operations involved in marking, grading, inspecting, packaging, storing, and marketing).
- 01.0402 Food Products. An instructional program that prepares individuals for activities dealing with processing food products such as meat, fish, poultry, eggs, dairy products, fruits and vegetables, and cereal grains for sale and consumption.
- 01.0499 Agricultural Products and Processing, Other. Any instructional program in agricultural products and processing not described above.
- 01.05 Agricultural Services and Supplies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to sell supplies for agricultural production; provide agricultural services; and purchase, grade, store, market, and transport agricultural products. Includes instruction in animal breeding, horseshoing, and small animal services.
- 01.0501 Agricultural Services and Supplies, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to sell supplies for agricultural production; provide agricultural services; and purchase, grade, store, market, and transport agricultural products. Includes instruction in animal breeding, horseshoing, and small animal services.

- 01.0502 Agricultural Services. An instructional program that prepares individuals to provide agricultural services such as custom work, equipment operation and maintenance, management and finance. Includes instruction in small animal services including breeding, horseshoing, and pet services.
- 01.0503 Agricultural Supplies Marketing. An instructional program that prepares individuals for purchasing, storing, grading, transporting, and marketing agricultural supplies such as feeds, seeds, fertilizers, chemicals, machinery and parts, and products such as livestock and grains.
- 01.0504 Pet Grooming. An instructional program that prepares individuals to groom pets such as dogs and cats by clipping the nails, cleaning the ears, brushing the hair, bathing and drying the animal, styling the hair through the use of hair clippers and scissors and beautifying through the use of items such as bows.
- 01.0505 Animal Training. An instructional program that prepares individuals to teach animals to obey commands, compete in shows, or perform tricks to entertain an audience.
- 01.0506 Horseshoing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to select aluminum and steel shoes (plates) and fit, shape, and nail shoes to animals' hooves.
- 01.0507 Horse Handling and Care. An instructional program that prepares individuals to provide for the well-being and training of horses. Includes instruction in obedience training, grooming, diseases and wounds, care of feet and legs, worming, first aid, nutrition and feedstuffs, stable maintenance, equipment care and maintenance, immunization and breeding.
- 01.0599 Agricultural Services and Supplies, Other. Any instructional program in agricultural services and supplies not described above.
- 01.06 Horticulture. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to produce, process, and market plants, shrubs, and trees used principally for ornamental, recreational, and aesthetic purposes and to establish, maintain, and manage horticultural enterprises such as arboriculture, floriculture, greenhouse operation and management, landscaping, nursery operation and management, and turf management. Includes instruction in machinery and equipment necessary for each horticultural enterprise.
- 01.0601 Horticulture, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to produce, process, and market plants, shrubs, and trees used principally for ornamental, recreational, and aesthetic purposes and to establish, maintain, and manage horticultural enterprises such as arboriculture, floriculture, greenhouse operation and management, landscaping, nursery operation and management, and turf management. Includes instruction in machinery and equipment necessary for each horticultural enterprise.

- 01.0602 Arboriculture. An instructional program that prepares individuals to cultivate and maintain woody plants and trees used for decoration and shade purposes.
- 01.0603 Ornamental Horticulture. An instructional program that prepares individuals to produce flowers, foliage, and related plant materials in fields and greenhouses for ornamental purposes, and to arrange, package, and market these materials.
- 01.0604 Greenhouse Operation and Management An instructional program that prepares individuals to produce plants under glass and in other artificial environments.
- 01.0605 Landscaping. An instructional program that prepares individuals to locate, plant, and maintain turf, plants, shrubs, or devices for the beautification of home grounds and other areas of human habitation and recreation.
- 01.0606 Nursery Operation and Management. An instructional program that prepares individuals to produce turf, plants, shrubs, and/or trees for the purpose of transplanting or propagation.
- 01.0607 Turf Management. An instructional program that prepares individuals to establish, manage, and maintain grassed areas for ornamental and/or recreational purposes.
- 01.0699 Horticulture, Other. Any instructional program in horticulture not described above.
- 01.07 International Agriculture. A group of instructional programs (see 01.0701).
 - 01.0701 International Agriculture. An instructional program that prepares individuals to apply the social, biological and, agricultural sciences and technologies as they relate to food production and distribution on a worldwide scale.
- 01.99 Agribusiness and Agricultural Production, Other. A group of instructional programs in agribusiness and agricultural production not described above.
 - 01.9999 Agribusiness and Agricultural Production, Other. A group of instructional programs in agribusiness and agricultural production not described above.
- 02. Agricultural Sciences. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the production, processing, and distribution of food and fiber.
 - 02.01 Agricultural Sciences, General. A group of instructional programs (see 02.0101).
 - 02.0101 Agricultural Sciences, General. An instructional program that generally describes the production, processing, and distribution of food and fiber.
 - 02.02 Animal Sciences. A group of instructional programs that describes the theories, principles, and applications of appropriate technical skills that apply to the production and management of animals and animal products.

- 02.0201 Animal Sciences, General. Instructional program that generally describes the production, processing, and distribution of food and fiber.
- 02.0202 Animal Breeding and Genetics. An instructional program that describes the principles of inheritance and their applications for the improvement of agricultural animals through breeding and selection.
- 02.0203 Animal Health. An instructional program that describes the environment, drugs, antibiotics, vaccinations, blood tests, and other management factors that affect the prevention and control of diseases in agricultural animals.
- 02.0204 Animal Nutrition. An instructional program that describes the relationship in agricultural animals of proteins, fats, carbohydrates, water, vitamins, and feed additives in the production of meat, milk, eggs, and wool.
- 02.0206 Dairy. An instructional program that describes the theories, principles, and applications of appropriate technical skills that apply to the production and management of milk animals and dairy products.
- 02.0208 Livestock. An instructional program that describes the theories, principles, and applications of appropriate technical skills that apply to the production and management of livestock and livestock products.
- 02.0209 Poultry. An instructional program that describes the theories, principles, and applications of appropriate technical skills that apply to the production and management of poultry and livestock products.
- 02.0299 Animal Sciences, Other. Any instructional program in animal sciences not described above.
- 02.03 Food Sciences. A group of instructional programs (see 02.0301).
- 02.0301 Food Sciences. An instructional program that describes the principles and practices involved in converting agriculture products to forms suitable for direct human consumption or for storage.
- 02.04 Plant Sciences. A group of instructional programs that describes the theories and principles of science and practices involved in the production and management of plants for food, feed, fiber, and soil conservation.
- 02.0401 Plant Sciences, General. An instructional program that generally describes the theories and principles of science and practices involved in the production and management of plants for food, feed, fiber, and soil conservation.
- 02.0402 Agronomy. An instructional program that describes the principles and practices and involved in the development, production, and management of field crops, including plant breeding, plant diseases, soils, insect control, and weed control.
- 02.0403 Horticulture Science. An instructional program that describes the principles and practices involved in the production of fruits and vegetables and the management of the pests of these crops.

02.0408 Plant Protection (Pest Management). An instructional program that describes the principles and practices of combining entomology, plant pathology, and weed science with crop production to minimize the economic loss caused by plant pests and to protect the environment.

02.0409 Range Management. An instructional program that describes the principles and practices involved in determining and applying appropriate uses of range resources to ensure sustained productivity and resource conservation.

02.0499 Plant Sciences, Other. Any instructional program in plant sciences not described above.

02.05 Soil Sciences. A group of instructional programs (see 02.0501).

02.0501 Soil Sciences. An instructional program that describes the physical, chemical, and biological sciences and basic principles which relate to the determination of soil properties and their conservation and management for crop production, or other purposes.

02.9999 Agricultural Sciences, Other. A group of instructional programs in agricultural sciences not described above.

03. Renewable Natural Resources. A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepare individuals for activities involving the conservation and/or improvement of natural resources such as air, soil, water, land, fish, and wildlife for economic and recreation purposes.

03.01 Renewable Natural Resources, General. A group of instructional programs (see 03.0101).

03.0101 Renewable Natural Resources, General. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals for activities involving the conservation and/or improvement of natural resources such as air, soil, water, land, fish, and wildlife for economic and recreation purposes.

03.02 Conservation and Regulation. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to engage in activities concerned with the preservation, protection, and regulation of renewable natural resources.

03.0201 Conservation and Regulation, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to engage in activities concerned with maintaining the stability and productivity of air, soil, water, land, fish, and wildlife.

03.0202 Conservation. An instructional program that prepares individuals to engage in activities concerned with maintaining the stability and productivity of air, soil, water, land, fish, and wildlife.

03.03 Fishing and Fisheries. A group of instructional programs (see 03.0301).

03.0301 Fishing and Fisheries. An instructional program that prepares individuals to engage in fishing for commercial purposes and to manage fish resources to optimize production.

----- Commercial Fishing Operation. (See 49.0303).

03.04 Forestry Production and Processing. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to produce, protect, and manage timber and specialty forest crops; maintain, operate, and repair related equipment and machinery; harvest and transport trees as a crop and select, grade, and market forest raw materials for converting into a variety of consumer goods, and to utilize the forest for multiple purposes such as game preserves and recreation.

03.0401 Forestry Production and Processing, General. An instructional program that prepares individuals in a general way to produce, protect, and manage timber and specialty forest crops; maintain, operate, and repair related equipment and machinery; harvest and transport trees as a crop and select, grade, and market forest raw materials for converting into a variety of consumer goods, and to utilize the forest for multiple purposes such as game preserves and recreation.

03.0402 Forest Production. An instructional program that prepares individuals to plant, select, identify, manage, and protect timber and specialty forest crops such as Christmas trees. Includes instruction in maintenance, safe operation, and repair of related equipment.

03.0403 Forest Products Utilization. An instructional program that prepares individuals to select, grade, and market forest raw materials for conversion to consumer goods such as paper, plywood, wallboard, turpentine, plastics, and preservation-treated wood products. Includes instruction in maintenance, safe operation, and repair of related equipment.

03.0404 Forest Products Processing Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a manager, engineer, chemist, or forest product scientist in the measurement, analysis of quality, testing, and processing of harvested forest raw materials. Includes instruction in identifying types of raw forest materials; procedures and processes involved, including measuring, assessing quality, evaluating commercial value, and testing strength of fiber or cut products; cutting into finished or semi-finished products; drying or otherwise conditioning; finishing or laminating into plywood marketable products; and cutting, digesting, and fabricating into paperboard or other product form.

03.0405 Logging. An instructional program that prepares individuals to harvest and transport trees as a crop, and maintain, safely operate, and repair logging equipment and machinery.

- 03.0499 Forestry Production and Processing, Other. Any instructional program in forestry production and processing not described above.
- 03.05 Forestry and Related Sciences. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to apply the science, art, and practice of managing and using for human benefit the natural resources that occur on, and in association with, forest lands.
- 03.0501 Forestry and Related Sciences, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to apply the science, art, and practice of managing and using for human benefit the natural resources that occur on, and in association with, forest lands.
- 03.0502 Forestry Science. An instructional program that prepares individuals to manage and use for human benefit the natural resources that occur on, and in association with, forest lands.
- 03.0504 Forest Engineering. An instructional program that prepares individuals in forest road design and construction, harvesting plans and systems, machinery design and other engineering needs.
- 03.0506 Forest Management. An instructional program that prepares individuals in the management and administration of forests and forest lands. Includes instruction in silviculture, forest protection, and forest policy, planning and economics.
- 03.0509 Wood Science. An instructional program that prepares individuals for occupations dealing with wood, wood anatomy and properties, wood engineering, wood utilization, and the provision of useful products. Includes instruction in production and marketing.
- 03.0599 Forestry and Related Sciences, Other. Any instruction program in forestry and related sciences not described above.
- 03.06 Wildlife Management A group of instructional programs (see 03.0601).
- 03.0601 Wildlife Management. An instructional program that prepares individuals in the principles and practices used in the production and improvement of wildlife resources for aesthetic, ecological, and recreational uses of public and private lands.
- 03.99 Renewable Natural Resources, Other. A group of instructional programs in renewable natural resources not describe above.
- 03.9999 Renewable Natural Resources, Other. An instructional program in renewable natural resources not described above.
04. Architecture and Environmental Design. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the methods to create, adapt, alter, preserve, and control man's physical and social surroundings.
- 04.01 Architecture and Environmental Design, General. A group of instructional programs (see 04.0101).

- 04.0101 Architecture and Environmental Design, General. An instructional program that generally describes the methods to create, adapt, alter, preserve, and control man's physical and social surroundings.
- 04.02 Architecture. A group of instructional programs (see 04.0201).
- 04.0201 Architecture. An instructional program that describes the processes that promote the use of aesthetic patterns, forms, and structures for human purposes in harmony with the environment.
- 04.03 City, Community, and Regional Planning. A group of instructional programs (see 04.0301).
- 04.0301 City, Community, and Regional Planning. An instructional program that describes the application of the planning process to the development of environmental programs designed to deal with urban, regional, and other geographically distinct areas.
- 04.04 Environmental Design. A group of instructional programs (see 04.0401).
- 04.0401 Environmental Design. An instructional program that describes the processes, procedures, observations, and techniques essential to the development of designs for interior and exterior environments.
- 04.05 Interior Design. A group of instructional program (see 04.0501).
- 04.0501 Interior Design. An instructional program that describes the processes, procedures, observations, and techniques essential to the development of designs for interior environments.
- 04.06 Landscape Architecture. A group of instructional programs (see 04.0601).
- 04.0601 Landscape Architecture. An instructional program that describes the design processes as applied to man-made structures and objects and inanimate natural materials in the landscape with the object of furthering human purposes, and synthesizing knowledge of functional relationships, human behavior, ecology, and land form, construction technology, and aesthetic sensitivity.
- 04.07 Urban Design. A group of instructional program (see 04.0701).
- 04.0701 Urban Design. An instructional program that describes the systematic process of creating and modifying those physical elements which constitute a city; synthesizing function, aesthetic sensitivity, technology, and social, psychological, and economic well-being.
- 04.08 Land Use Management and Reclamation. A group of instructional programs (see 04.0801).
- 04.0801 Land Use Management and Reclamation. An instructional program that describes the application of planning principles and techniques to land uses, problems of slums, and renewal and redevelopment of blighted areas.
- 04.99 Architecture and Environmental Design, Other. A group of instructional programs in architecture and environmental design not described above.

04.9999 Architecture and Environmental Design, Other. Any instructional program in architecture and environmental design not described above.

05. Area and Ethnic Studies. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of a particular geographic region or a particular subset of the population sharing common racial characteristics or common traits and customs.

05.01 Area Studies. A group of instructional programs that describe the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of a particular geographic region.

05.0101 African Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Africa.

05.0102 American Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of the United States of America.

05.0103 Asian Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Asia.

05.0104 East Asian Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of East Asia, including China, Japan, and Korea.

05.0105 Eastern European Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Eastern Europe.

05.0106 European Studies, General. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Europe.

05.0107 Latin American Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Latin America.

05.0108 Middle Eastern Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of the countries east of the Mediterranean and Aegean Seas to India.

05.0109 Pacific Area Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Australia, New Thailand, and the Pacific Islands.

05.0110 Russian and Slavic Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Russia and the Slavic countries.

05.0111 Scandinavian Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Scandinavia, including Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and Finland.

05.0112 South Asian Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Southeast Asia, including Pakistan, India, and Bangladesh.

- 05.0113 Southeast Asian Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Southeast Asia, including Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, Burma, and Malaysia.
- 05.0114 Western European Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Western Europe.
- 05.0115 Canadian Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture and economics of Canada.
- 05.0199 Area Studies, Other. Any instructional program in area studies not described above.
- 05.02 Ethnic Studies. A group of instructional programs that describe the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of subsets of the population sharing common racial characteristics or common traits and customs.
 - 05.0201 Afro-American (Black) Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Afro-Americans.
 - 05.0202 American Indian Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of American Indians.
 - 05.0203 Hispanic-American Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Hispanic-Americans.
 - 05.0204 Islamic Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of Afro-Asian countries in which the population is predominantly Islamic in religious orientation.
 - 05.0205 Jewish Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of the Jewish people.
 - 05.0299 Ethnic Studies, Other. Any instructional program in ethnic studies not described above.
- 05.99 Area and Ethnic Studies, Other. A group of instructional program in area and ethnic studies not described above.
 - 05.9999 Area and Ethnic Studies, Other. Any instructional program in area and ethnic studies not described above.
- 06. Business and Management. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the processes of purchasing, selling, producing, and interchanging of goods, commodities, and services in profit-making and non-profit public and private institutions and agencies.
 - 06.01 Business and Management, General. A group of instructional programs (see 06.0101).
 - 06.0101 Business and Management, General. An instructional program that generally describes the processes of purchasing, selling, producing, and interchanging of goods, commodities, and services in profit-making and non-profit public and private institutions and agencies.

- 06.02 Accounting. A group of instructional programs (see 06.0201).
- 06.0201 Accounting. An instructional program that describes the principles, procedures, and theories of organizing, maintaining, and auditing business and financial transactions.
- 06.03 Banking and Finance. A group of instructional programs (see 06.0301).
- 06.0301 Banking and Finance. An instructional program that describes the financial management of industrial and commercial enterprises; of commercial, savings, and mortgages banking; and of investment analysis and portfolio selection.
- 06.04 Business Administration and Management. A group of instructional programs that describe the planning, organizing, and controlling of a business, including organizational and human aspects, with emphasis on various theories of management, the knowledge and understanding necessary for managing people and functions, and decisionmaking.
- 06.0401 Business Administration and Management, General. An instructional program that generally describes the planning, organizing, and controlling of a business, including organizational and human aspects, with emphasis on various theories of management, the knowledge and understanding necessary for managing people and functions, and decisionmaking.
- 06.0402 Contract Management and Procurement/Purchasing. An instructional program that describes the methods, techniques, and processes by which contracts are obtained, monitored, and completed.
- 06.0403 Product Management. An instructional program that describes the systematic regulation and control of the manufacturing, fabricating, extracting, or processing of goods.
- 06.0499 Business Administration and Management, Other. Any instructional program in business administration and management not described above.
- 06.05 Business Economics. A group of instructional programs (see 06.0501).
- 06.0501 Business Economics. An instructional program that describes the principles and methods for organizing a business firm and for combining resources to produce goods and services, taking account of costs, profits, and the nature and extent of competition in markets.
- 06.06 Human Resources Development. A group of instructional programs (see 06.0601).
- 06.0601 Human Resources Development. An instructional program that describes the principles, methods, and techniques that are used to assess and meet the training and career development needs of employees.
- 06.07 Institutional Management. A group of instructional programs that describe the nature and application of management methods and techniques related to specific kinds of institutions.

- 06.0701 Hotel/Motel Management. An instructional program that describes the nature and application of management methods and techniques related to hotels and motels.
- 06.0702 Recreational Enterprises Management. An instructional program that describes the nature and application of management methods and techniques related to recreational enterprises.
- 06.0703 Resort Management. An instructional program that describes the nature and application of management methods and techniques related to resorts.
- 06.0704 Restaurant Management. An instructional program that describes the nature and application of management methods and techniques related to restaurants.
- 06.0705 Transportation Management. An instructional program that describes the nature and application of management methods and techniques related to transportation enterprises.
- 06.0799 Institutional Management, Other. Any instructional program in institutional management not described above.
- 06.08 Insurance and Risk Management. A group of instructional programs (see 06.0801).
- 06.0801 Insurance and Risk Management. An instructional program that describes risk analysis and personal and business insurance and their applications to life, disability, property, liability, and fiduciary trust and annuity underwriting.
- 06.09 International Business Management. A group of instructional programs (see 06.0901).
- 06.0901 International Business Management. An instructional program that describes the principles and processes of export sales, trade controls, foreign operations, attitudes, monetary problems, and other areas of concern in the international business environment as it affects, or is affected by, a company's policies, procedures, and products.
- 06.10 Investments and Securities. A group of instructional programs (see 06.1001).
- 06.1001 Investments and Securities. An instructional program that describes the securities market, investment concepts, and the effects of economic business cycles on investments. Includes instruction in the study of stocks, mutual funds, bonds, unlisted and listed securities, and yield changes as they affect long-term holdings.
- 06.11 Labor/Industrial Relations. A group of instructional programs (see 06.1101).
- 06.1101 Labor/Industrial Relations. An instructional program that describes the history and development of the labor movement, including the analysis and interpretation of Federal and State legislation, union contracts, labor negotiation, conciliation, arbitration, and grievance procedures.
- 06.12 Management Information Systems. A group of instructional programs (see 06.1201).

- 06.1201 Management Information Systems. An instructional program that describes computer-based information systems that deal with business data and are generally characterized by logical patterns of clerical work flow from the point of original data gathering to completion of necessary reports and retrieval displays.
- 06.13 Management Science. A group of instructional programs that describe the application of mathematical and analytical techniques such as modeling, programming, forecasting, and analysis in the design, implementation, monitoring, and control of organizational processes and operations to determine their purpose and effectiveness, and means for attaining maximum efficiency.
- 06.1302 Operations Research (Quantitative Methods). An instructional program that describes the principles and procedures of analyzing management problems utilizing theory, continuous distributions, mathematical programming, queueing theory, Markov processors, replacement maintenance and inventory models, other mathematical models, and simulation and game theory.
- 06.1303 Management Science, General. An instructional program that generally describes the application of mathematical and analytical techniques such as modeling, programming, forecasting and analysis in the design, implementation, monitoring, and control of organizational processes and operations to determine their purpose and effectiveness, and the means for attaining maximum efficiency.
- 06.1399 Management Science, Other. Any instructional program in management science not described above.
- 06.14 Marketing Management and Research. A group of instructional programs that describe the principles, practices, and concepts involved in the performance of business activities which direct the transfer of goods and the acquisition of services from producer to consumer. Includes instruction in marketing functions and institutions; activities having to do with effecting change in ownership and possession of goods and services; and the study of applied economics relating to the creation of time, place, and possession utility.
- 06.1401 Marketing Management. An instructional program that describes applying marketing skills in a management position in any industry, generally at a mid-management level or in a management-training program, or to advance to more specialized training in marketing.
- 06.1402 Marketing Research. An instructional program that describes undertaking research activities such as analysis of data on products and sales, the conducting of surveys and interviews, test marketing of new products, and preparation of recommendations to clients or internal management.
- 06.1499 Marketing Management and Research, Other. Any instructional program in marketing management and research not described above.
- 06.15 Organizational Behavior. A group of instructional programs (see 06.1501).

- 06.1501 Organizational Behavior. An instructional program that describes the behavior and motivations of individuals functioning in groups, the influence of styles of leadership that may be used by managers, and the means of intervention that may be used to improve interpersonal relations and team behavior.
- 06.16 Personnel Management. A group of instructional programs (see 06.1601).
- 06.1601 Personnel Management. An instructional program that describes the methods, principles, procedures, and understandings necessary to manage and administer programs that are directed to the welfare and working conditions of employees in a business or other organization.
- 06.17 Real Estate. A group of instructional programs (see 06.1701).
- 06.1701 Real Estate. An instructional program that describes the theories and techniques of buying, selling, appraising, renting, managing, and leasing of real property.
- 06.18 Small Business Management and Ownership. A group of instructional programs (see 06.1801).
- 06.1801 Small Business Management and Ownership. An instructional program that describes the managerial functions and ownership principles involved in operating a small business.
- 06.19 Taxation. A group of instructional programs (see 06.1901).
- 06.1901 Taxation. An instructional program that describes the principles, procedures, and regulations applicable to the maintenance of records and the preparation and filing of income tax returns for individuals, partnerships, corporations, and other types of organizations.
- 06.20 Trade and Industrial Supervision and Management. A group of instructional programs (see 06.2001).
- 06.2001 Trade and Industrial Supervision and Management. An instructional program that describes supervising and managing personnel engaged in construction, mechanical repair, manufacturing, transportation, or material moving.
- 06.21 Computer Installation Management. A group of instructional programs (see 06.2101).
- 06.2101 Computer Installation Management. An instructional program that describes functions concerned with managing and supervising personnel engaged in computer programming, operating computers, servicing computers, systems analysis, and with coordinating the work of the unit with managers of other departments such as accounting, administration, budget, personnel and production.
- 06.99 Business and Management, Other. A group of instructional program in business and management not described above.

06.9999 Business and Management, Other. Any instructional program in business and management not described above.

07. Business (Administrative Support). A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepare individuals for a variety of activities in planning, organizing, directing, and controlling all business office systems and procedures. Includes instruction in preparing, transcribing, systematizing, and preserving written communications and records; preparing and analyzing financial records; collecting accounts and receiving and disbursing money; gathering, processing and distributing information and mail; operating office machines and electronic data processing equipment; storing, distributing, and accounting for inventories of materials; operating telephone switchboards and delivering messages; and performing other business office duties.

07.01 Accounting, Bookkeeping, and Related Programs. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to systematize information about transactions and activities into accounts and quantitative records, verify accuracy of data by applying auditing principles, prepare budgets and financial reports, operate bookkeeping machines, and pay and receive money.

07.0101 Accounting, Bookkeeping, and Related Programs, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to systematize information about transactions and activities into accounts and quantitative records, verify accuracy of data by applying auditing principles, prepare budgets and financial reports, operate bookkeeping machines, and pay and receive money.

07.0102 Accounting and Computing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform paraprofessional duties supporting the accountant in organizing, designing, and computing numerical and financial data.

Includes instruction in basic and applied physics and chemistry, with the supporting mathematics of photographic processes; light, optics, and optical systems of black-and-white and color photography; the science, design, and function of cameras and related devices such as light meters; source and applications of special photographic light; systems of mechanisms for still photography, moving pictures, photographic composition, portrait photography, and medical photography, techniques for taking, developing, mounting still pictures; and techniques for cutting, splicing, and modifying moving-picture films.
- 10.0104 Radio and Television Production and Broadcasting Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support broadcast managers in the production of materials and the production and broadcasting of materials or programs. Includes instruction in the equipment, processes, and procedures used in producing and making radio or television broadcast operations; electronic communication, both radio and television; script and program preparation; photographic and audiorecording of material to be broadcast; monitoring, modulating, and controlling the broadcast processes; and recording and storing broadcast materials.
- 10.0105 Sound Recording Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to record music, dialogue, or sound effects of phonograph recording sessions, radio and television broadcasts, movie soundtracks, training courses and conferences.
- 10.0106 Video Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to regulate the quality, brightness, and contrast of television pictures being transmitted; to operate and maintain video tape recording equipment; and to edit video tapes for broadcast, industrial, educational, and theatrical applications.
- 10.0199 Communications Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in communications technologies not described above.
11. Computer and Information Sciences. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the coding, processing, and storage of data through repetitious and highly complex mathematical operations at high speed, and in accordance with strictly defined systems and procedures.
- 11.01 Computer and Information Sciences, General. A group of instructional programs (see 11.0101).
- 11.0101 Computer and Information Sciences, General. An instructional program that generally describes the coding, processing, and storage of data through repetitious and highly complex mathematical operations at high speed, and in accordance with strictly defined systems and procedures.
- 11.02 Computer Programming. A group of instructional programs (see 11.0201).
- 11.0201 Computer Programming. An instructional program that describes the methods and procedures used in flow charting and writing instructions in computer language for the direction of computer operation in the solution of a problem.
- 11.03 Data Processing. A group of instructional (see 11.0301).

- 11.0301 Data Processing. An instructional program that describes computers and computer programming.
- 11.04 Information Sciences and Systems. A group of instructional programs (see 11.0401).
- 11.0401 Information Sciences and Systems. An instructional program that describes the methods of creating, organizing, storing, and accessing organized fields of information.
- 11.05 Systems Analysis. A group of instructional programs (see 11.0501).
- 11.0501 Systems Analysis. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques involved in the design of large-scale computer programs. Includes instruction in modeling, flow charting, data organization, and the impact of the programs on organizational objectives.
- 11.06 Microcomputer Applications. A group of instructional programs (see 11.0601).
- 11.0601 Microcomputer Applications. An instructional program that prepares individuals to develop microcomputer systems and application packages for particular uses, e.g. accounts receivable, accounts payable, inventory control, time management. Includes instruction in the concept and capabilities of microcomputers, programming, and design and implementation of disk-operating systems.
- 11.99 Computer and Information Sciences, Other. A group of instructional programs in computer and information sciences not described above.
- 11.9999 Computer and Information Sciences, Other. An instructional program in computer and information sciences not described above.
12. Consumer, Personal and Miscellaneous Services. A summary of instructional programs that prepare individuals to provide a variety of services to individual consumers as well as to organizations such as businesses and industries.
- 12.01 Drycleaning and Laundering Services. A group of instructional programs (see 12.0101).
- 12.0101 Drycleaning and Laundering Services. An instructional program that prepares individuals to operate and manage drycleaning and laundering plants. Includes instruction in receiving and inspecting garments; identifying fabrics; identifying spots and using cleaning agents; washing and dry and wet cleaning; dyeing and bleaching; ironing, pressing, sorting, folding, and wrapping household furnishings, wearing apparel and accessories; making minor alterations and repair of articles; and using a variety of hand and power tools and equipment.
- 12.02 Entertainment Services. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to perform a variety of services related to the sale of food, beverages, and entertainment.
- 12.0202 Bartending. An instructional program that prepares individuals to mix and serve alcoholic and nonalcoholic drinks to patrons of a bar or other drinking establishment, following standard recipes.

- 12.0203 Card Dealing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to run a card game at a casino or other gambling establishment.
- 12.0204 Umpiring. An instructional program that prepares individuals to officiate at a variety of sporting events.
- 12.0299 Entertainment Service, Other. Any instructional program in entertainment service not described above.
- 12.03 Funeral Services. A group of instructional programs (see 12.0301).
- 12.0301 Funeral Services. A instructional program that prepares individuals to perform sanitary and embalming preparations of interment, in conformity with legal requirements. Includes instruction in human physiology and anatomy, with particular emphasis on the circulatory system; the underlying chemistry and application of embalming compounds and products; the procedures, techniques, and methods used in embalming compounds and products; the procedures, techniques, and methods used in embalming and preparation for interment, with special emphasis on sanitation and on potential pathological hazards and precautions; and the material and techniques of applied cosmetology used in preparation for interment.
- 12.04 Personal Services. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to render a variety of personal services.
- 12.0401 Personal Services, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to render a variety of personal services.
- 12.0402 Barbering/Hairstyling. An instructional program that prepares individuals to cut, shampoo, and style hair; and shave; with special attention to hygiene, skin and scalp disease, and equipment sterilization. Instruction qualifies students for licensing examinations.
- 12.0403 Cosmetology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to care for and beautify hair, complexion, and hands by giving shampoos, rinses, and scalp treatments, styling, setting, cutting, dyeing, tinting, permanent waving, and bleaching hair; and giving facials, manicures, and hand and arm massages, with emphasis on hygiene, sanitation, customer relations, and salon management. Instruction qualifies student for licensing examinations.
- 12.0404 Electrolysis. An instructional program that prepares individuals to remove hair, warts, moles, and birthmarks from and individual by means of an electric current applied to the body with a needle-shaped electrode.
- 12.0405 Massage. An instructional program that prepares individuals to administer systematic friction, stroking, slapping, kneading or tapping to stimulate circulation, increase suppleness, promote healing, and induce relaxation in the human body.
- 12.0406 Make-up Artistry. An instructional program that prepares individuals to apply cosmetics, wax, rubber and other materials to the faces or body areas of actors and actresses to enhance appearance or to alter physical characteristics to accord with the characters they are portraying.

- 12.0499 Personal Services, Other. Any instructional programs in consumer, personal, and miscellaneous services not described above.
- 12.99 Consumer, Personal and Miscellaneous Services, Other. Any instructional program in consumer, personal, and miscellaneous services not described above.
- 12.9999 Consumer, Personal and Miscellaneous Services, Other. Any instructional program in consumer, personal, and miscellaneous services not described above.
13. Education. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the art of processes of imparting knowledge, developing the power of reasoning and judgment, and preparing others intellectually for a more mature life.
- 13.01 Education, General. A group of instructional programs (see 13.0101).
- 13.0101 Education, General. An instructional program that generally describes the art of processes of imparting knowledge, developing the powers of reasoning and judgment, and preparing others intellectually for a more mature life.
- 13.02 Bilingual/Crosscultural Education. A group of instructional programs (see 13.0201).
- 13.0201 Bilingual/Crosscultural Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating programs which prepare, upgrade, or retrain students in English and another language which may be their native tongue.
- 13.0202 Bilingual Education Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a teacher conduct and carry out the objectives of a bilingual/crosscultural program. Includes instruction in methodology and materials for use with non-English speaking students and with students who have learned or are learning English as a second language.
- 13.0299 Bilingual/Crosscultural Education, Other. Any instructional program in bilingual/crosscultural education not described above.
- 13.03 Curriculum and Instruction. A group of instructional programs (see 13.0301).
- 13.0301 Curriculum and Instruction. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and procedures of designing, controlling, developing, and integrating educational activities and programs.
- 13.04 Education Administration. A group of instructional programs that describe the principles and techniques of planning organizing, developing, staffing, coordinating, managing, researching, evaluating, financing, and controlling educational institutions and agencies.
- 13.0401 Education Administration, General. An instructional program that generally describes the principles and techniques of planning organizing, developing, staffing, coordinating, managing, researching, evaluating, financing, and controlling educational institutions and agencies.
- 13.0402 Administration of Special Education. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of planning organizing, developing, staffing, coordinating, managing, researching, evaluating, financing, and controlling educational institutions.

- 13.0403 Adult and Continuing Education Administration. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of planning organizing, developing, staffing, coordinating, managing, researching, evaluating, financing, and controlling adult and continuing educational programs and institutions.
- 13.0404 Educational Supervision. An instructional program that describes the principles, theories, methods, and practices of directing, controlling and administering the resources of educational institutions and agencies.
- 13.0405 Elementary and Secondary Education Administration. An instructional program that describes the principles, and techniques of planning, organizing, developing, staffing, coordinating, managing, researching, evaluating, financing, and controlling elementary and secondary education programs and institutions.
- 13.0406 Higher Education Administration. An instructional program that describes the principles, and techniques of planning, organizing, developing, staffing, coordinating, managing, researching, evaluating, financing, and controlling higher education institutions and agencies.
- 13.0407 Community College Education Administration. An instructional program that describes the principles, and techniques of planning, organizing, developing, staffing, coordinating, managing, researching, evaluating, financing, and controlling junior and community college institutions.
- 13.0499 Education Administration, Other. Any instructional program in education administration not described above.
- 13.05 Educational Media. A group of instructional programs (see 13.0501).
- 13.0501 Educational Media. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of applying various forms of media to the process of instruction and to the production of educational materials.
- 13.06 Evaluation and Research. A group of instructional programs that generally describes the principles and procedures of searching for new knowledge and providing information about educational programs, personnel, methods, and theories.
- 13.0601 Evaluation and Research, General. An instructional program that generally describes the principles and procedures of searching for new knowledge and providing information about educational programs, personnel, methods, and theories.
- 13.0603 Educational Statistics and Research. An instructional program that describes the application of mathematical and statistical models and research methodology in education.
- 13.0604 Educational Testing, Evaluation, and Measurement. An instructional program that describes the principles and procedures used in the testing, evaluating, and measuring of educational programs, personnel, methods, and theories.

- 13.0605 Elementary and Secondary Research. An instructional program that describes the principles, and procedures of searching for new knowledge and providing information about elementary and secondary education programs, personnel, methods, and theories.
- 13.0606 Higher Education Research. An instructional program that describes the principles, and procedures of searching for new knowledge and providing information about higher education programs, personnel, methods, and theories.
- 13.0699 Evaluation and Research, Other. Any instructional program in evaluation and research not described above.
- 13.07 International and Comparative Education. A group of instructional programs (see 13.0701).
 - 13.0701 International and Comparative Education. An instructional program that describes the similarities and differences between educational theory and practice in different countries and various cultures for the purpose of deepening understanding and solving educational problems.
- 13.08 School Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see 13.0801).
 - 13.0801 School Psychology. An instructional program that describes the study, selection, and application of methods, facts, and theories of psychology that relate to individual learning in formal courses of instruction
- 13.09 Social Foundations. A group of instructional programs (see 13.0901).
 - 13.0901 Social Foundations. An instructional program that describes the impact and relationship between society and education.
- 13.10 Special Education. A group of instructional programs that describe the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students whose physical, emotional, mental, or social needs require a special curriculum and education setting.
 - 13.1001 Special Education, General. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students whose physical, emotional, mental, or social needs require a special curriculum and education setting.
 - 13.1002 Education of the Culturally Disadvantaged. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students whose behavior may be in conflict with norms of home, school, or community but is not in conflict with subgroup norms, and is not related to personal distress.
 - 13.1003 Education of the Deaf and Hearing Impaired. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students whose have an impairment in hearing which adversely affects their educational performance.

- 13.1004 Education of the Gifted and Talented. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students capable of high performance, including those with demonstrated achievement or ability in any one or more of these areas: general intellectual ability, specific academic aptitude, creative or productive thinking, leadership ability, visual and performing arts, or psychomotor ability.
- 13.1005 Education of the Emotionally Handicapped. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students exhibiting one or more of the following characteristics which over a long period of time and to a marked degree adversely affects educational performance: (a) an inability to learn which cannot be explained by intellectual, sensory, or health factors; (b) an inability to build or maintain satisfactory interpersonal relationships with peers and teachers; (c) inappropriate types of behavior or feelings under normal circumstances; (d) a general pervasive mood of unhappiness or depression; or (e) a tendency to develop physical symptoms or fears associated with personal or school problems.
- 13.1006 Education of the Mentally Handicapped. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students whose impaired mental development adversely affects their educational performance.
- 13.1007 Education of the Multiple Handicapped. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students who have a combination of handicaps which adversely affects their educational performance.
- 13.1008 Education of the Physically Handicapped. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students who have severe physical impairment which adversely affects their educational performance.
- 13.1009 Education of the Visually Handicapped. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students who have visual impairment which adversely affects their educational performance.
- 13.1010 Remedial Education. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students deficient in the general competencies necessary for a regular curriculum and educational settings.
- 13.1011 Specific Learning Disabilities. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students whose perception, communication, or motor skill require a special curriculum and educational settings.

- 13.1012 Speech Correction. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students who have a speech impairment which adversely affects their educational performance.
- 13.1099 Special Education, Other. Any instructional program in special education not described above.
- 13.11 Student Counseling and Personnel Services. A group of instructional programs (see 13.1101).
- 13.1101 Student Counseling and Personnel Services. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, functions, operations, and services involved in the personal, social, educational, and vocational development of students and the principles and techniques of managing, directing, and developing an organized unit providing student services within an educational institution.
- 13.12 Teacher Education, General Programs. A group of instructional programs that describe the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students at all levels.
- 13.1201 Adult and Continuing Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities to meet the unique needs of adults and youths who are beyond the age of compulsory school attendance and who have either completed or interrupted their formal education.
- 13.1202 Elementary Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students at the elementary level.
- 13.1203 Junior High/Middle School Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students at the junior high level.
- 13.1204 Pre-Elementary Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students at the pre-elementary level.
- 13.1205 Secondary Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students at the secondary level.
- 13.1299 Teacher Education, General Programs, Other. Any instructional program in teacher education, general programs not described above.
- 13.13 Teacher Education, Specific Subject Areas. A group of instructional programs that describe the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students in specific subject areas.
- 13.1301 Agricultural Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating programs which prepare, upgrade, and retrain students in agricultural occupations.

- 13.1302 Art Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of art.
- 13.1303 Business Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of business.
- 13.1304 Driver and Safety Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of driver and safety education.
- 13.1305 English Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of English.
- 13.1306 Foreign Languages Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of foreign languages.
- 13.1307 Health Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of health education.
- 13.1308 Home Economics Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating programs which prepare, and retrain students for homemaking and wage earning occupations requiring the knowledge and skills of home economics subject matter.
- 13.1309 Industrial Arts Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques for teaching the subject matter of industrial education.
- 13.1310 Marketing and Distributive Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques for designing, implementing and evaluating programs which provide students with various combinations of subject matter and learning experiences related to the flow of good and services from the producer to the consumer.
- 13.1311 Mathematics Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of mathematics.
- 13.1312 Music Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of music.
- 13.1313 Nutritional Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of nutrition.
- 13.1314 Physical Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of physical education.
- 13.1315 Reading Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating programs which prepare, upgrade, or retrain students in reading the language arts.

- 13.1316 Science Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of life sciences and physical sciences.
- 13.1317 Social Science Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of social sciences.
- 13.1318 Social Studies Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of social studies.
- 13.1319 Technical Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating programs which prepare, upgrade, or retrain students for the job opportunities in specialized technical fields or occupations.
- 13.1320 Trade and Industrial Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating programs which prepare, upgrade, or retrain students in a wide range of trade and industrial occupations.
- 13.1321 Computer Education. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques involved in teaching the subject matter of computer education.
- 13.1399 Teacher Education, Specific Subject Areas, Other. Any instructional program in teacher education, specific subject areas not described above.
- 13.14 Teaching English as a Second Language/Foreign Language. A group of instructional programs (see 13.1401).
- 13.1401 Teaching English as a Second Language/Foreign Language. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of designing, implementing, and evaluating organized learning activities for students whose native language is not English.
- 13.15 Teacher Assisting. A group of instructional programs (see 13.1501)
 - 13.1501 Teacher Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a classroom teacher in carrying out the objectives of a specifically assigned teaching area. Includes instruction in preparing lesson plans and various teaching aids such as bibliographies, charts and graphs; in making presentations to students; and in assisting individual students or groups to solve particular problems.
- 13.99 Education, Other. A group of instructional programs in education not described above.
 - 13.9999 Education, Other. An instructional program in education not described above.
- 14. Engineering. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the mathematical and natural sciences gained by study, experience, and practice and applied with judgment to develop ways to economically utilize the materials and force of nature for the benefit of mankind.

- 14.01 Engineering, General. A group of instructional programs (see 14.0101).
- 14.0101 Engineering, General. An instructional program that generally describes the mathematical and natural sciences gained by study, experience, and practice and applied with judgment to develop ways to economically utilize the materials and forces of nature for the benefit of mankind.
- 14.02 Aerospace, Aeronautical, and Astronautical Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.0201).
- 14.0201 Aerospace, Aeronautical, and Astronautical Engineering. An instructional program that describes the design, construction, operation, and maintenance of aircraft, space vehicles, and power units, and to the special programs of flight in both the earth's atmosphere and space, including the flight of air vehicles and the launching, guidance, and control of missiles, earth satellites, and space vehicles and probes.
- 14.03 Agricultural Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.0301).
- 14.0301 Agricultural Engineering. An instructional program that describes the design, construction, operation, and maintenance of equipment, structures, machinery, and energy devices for the purpose of improving the production of food and fiber.
- 14.04 Architectural Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.0401).
- 14.0401 Architectural Engineering. An instructional program that describes the design and application of materials, components, and structural systems for buildings, including environmental control equipment.
- 14.05 Bioengineering and Biomedical Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.0501).
- 14.0501 Bioengineering and Biomedical Engineering. An instructional program that describes the application of engineering and technological concepts, principles, and practices to human and other living systems.
- 14.06 Ceramic Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.0601).
- 14.0601 Ceramic Engineering. An instructional program that describes the techniques of designing, developing, and controlling processes that are involved in the manufacture of clay and ceramic-ware, porcelain, china, pottery, and related substances.
- 14.07 Chemical Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.0701).
- 14.0701 Chemical Engineering. An instructional program that describes the nature of chemical processes, heat and mass transfer, the handling and treatment of liquids and gases, and physical and physical-chemical operations.
- 14.08 Civil Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.0801).

- 14.0801 Civil Engineering. An instructional program that describes the conception, analysis, design, testing, construction, and operation of structures, transportation components and systems, water resource and conveyance systems, pollution control systems, water treatment systems, and appurtenant works.
- 14.09 Computer Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.0901).
- 14.0901 Computer Engineering. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of designing and producing the mechanical, magnetic, electrical, and electronic elements of computer hardware and supporting systems.
- 14.10 Electrical, Electronics, and Communications Engineering. A group of instructional programs that describe the theory and application of electrical and electronic systems and their components, including circuits, electromagnetic fields, and energy sources.
- 14.1001 Electrical, Electronics, and Communications Engineering. An instructional program that describes the theory and application of electrical and electronic systems and their components, including circuits, electromagnetic fields, and energy sources.
- 14.1002 Microelectronic Engineering. An instructional program that describes the design and fabrication of integrated circuits (semiconductor or micro chips). Instruction provides a broad interdisciplinary background in optics, chemistry, device physics, computers, electrical engineering, and statistics.
- 14.11 Engineering Mechanics. A group of instructional programs (see 14.1101).
- 14.1101 Engineering Mechanics. An instructional program that describes the theory and practical application of the action of forces on bodies, with motion, and with statics, kinematics, and kinetics.
- 14.12 Engineering Physics. A group of instructional programs (see 14.1201).
- 14.1201 Engineering Physics. An instructional program that describes the physical principles underlying the fields of engineering.
- 14.13 Engineering Science. A group of instructional programs (see 14.1301).
- 14.1301 Engineering Science. An instructional program that describes the usefulness of subject matters such as physics, chemistry, biology, and mathematics in engineering.
- 14.14 Environmental Health Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.1401).
- 14.1401 Environmental Health Engineering. An instructional program that describes the techniques of identification and reduction of pollution, contamination, and deterioration of the natural environment, including the methodology for corrective action.
- 14.15 Geological Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.1501).

- 14.1501 Geological Engineering. An instructional program that describes the practical application of scientific principles related to the physical history of the earth, the rocks and soils of which it is composed, and the physical changes in its structure.
- 14.16 Geophysical Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.1601).
- 14.1601 Geophysical Engineering. An instructional program that describes the practical application of scientific principles related to the physics of the earth and its environment in space, including phenomena such as fields and forces, mass and motion, time and space, and matter and energy.
- 14.17 Industrial Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.1701).
- 14.1701 Industrial Engineering. An instructional program that describes the organization and management of integrated systems of people, materials, and equipment for the purpose of improving production processes.
- 14.18 Material Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.1801).
- 14.1801 Material Engineering. An instructional program that describes the structures, reactions, functions, and synthesis of metals, ceramics, plastics, textiles, pulp and paper, wood, and other materials, including the effects of their properties on systems and objects that are constructed from the specified materials.
- 14.19 Mechanical Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.1901).
- 14.1901 Mechanical Engineering. An instructional program that describes the design construction, maintenance, and operation of mechanical products and related systems, including production machinery, energy conversion devices, and vehicles.
- 14.20 Metallurgical Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.2001).
- 14.2001 Metallurgical Engineering. An instructional program that describes the development and control of processes for extraction of metals from their ores and metal refining, the properties of metals and alloys, and the manufacturing and processing of metals.
- 14.21 Mining and Mineral Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.2101).
- 14.2101 Mining and Mineral Engineering. An instructional program that describes the techniques and procedures for locating and appraising mineral deposits, and for designing the equipment and the operation processes for extracting minerals.
- 14.22 Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.2201).
- 14.2201 Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of design, construction, installation, maintenance, and operation of vehicles and equipment operating on or in the water.

- 14.23 Nuclear Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.2301).
- 14.2301 Nuclear Engineering. An instructional program that describes the design, development, manufacture, construction, installation, maintenance, and repair of mechanical plants and equipment for the release, control, and utilization of nuclear energy.
- 14.24 Ocean Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.2401).
- 14.2401 Ocean Engineering. An instructional program that describes wave action upon sea structures, equipment, and materials, including the development of instrumentation to determine the forces and accelerations of such action.
- 14.25 Petroleum Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.2501).
- 14.2501 Petroleum Engineering. An instructional program that describes the processing of recovering and refining crude oil and gas, including the design, development, construction, installation, maintenance, and repair of related physical facilities.
- 14.26 Surveying and Mapping Sciences. A group of instructional programs that describe the determination and identification of the shape, contour, location, and dimensions of land or water and their features.
- 14.2601 Surveying and Mapping Sciences. An instructional program that describes the determination and identification of the shape, contour, location, and dimensions of land or water and their features.
- 14.2602 Cartography. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques involved in designing, planning, and constructing maps.
- 14.27 Systems Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.2701).
- 14.2701 Systems Engineering. An instructional program that describes the interacting, interrelated or interdependent elements forming the related engineering system.
- 14.28 Textile Engineering. A group of instructional programs (see 14.2801).
- 14.2801 Textile Engineering. An instructional program that describes the structure, reactions, functions, properties, and synthesis of textiles.
- 14.99 Engineering, Other. A group of instructional programs in engineering not described above.
- 14.9999 Engineering, Other. Any instructional program in engineering not described above.
15. Engineering and Engineering-Related Technologies. A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepare individuals to support and assist engineers and other professionals. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to the mathematical, scientific, or technical aspects of engineering and related sciences.

15.01 Architectural Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to support and assist engineers and other professionals. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to the mathematical, scientific, or technical aspects of engineering and related sciences.

15.0101 Architectural Design and Construction Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist the architect and architectural engineer in planning and designing structures and buildings; testing materials; constructing and inspecting structure; model building and design estimating; utilizing, transporting, and storing construction materials; and dealing with contracts and specifications.

15.0102 Architectural Interior Design Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist architects in planning and designing interior layouts. Includes instruction in designing architectural structures; analyzing and using various types and colors of floor, wall, and ceiling coverings; windows and door; acoustical materials; functional furnishings; electrical, heating, cooling, and other outlets; and in assessing costs related to design and furnishings.

15.0199 Architectural Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in architectural technologies not described above.

15.02 Civil Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to support and assist civil engineers and urban planners. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to the mathematical, scientific, or technical aspects of civil engineering and urban planning.

15.0201 Civil Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a civil engineer in designing, surveying, materials control, testing, and building of various structures. Includes instruction in physical sciences; mathematics; surveying; laying out roadways; preparing plans and specifications for the construction of highways, railroads, buildings, dams, and airports; structural detailing and design testing; construction estimating; and operations management.

15.0202 Drafting and Design Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist mechanical, electrical and electronic, architectural, chemical, civil, or other engineers in the design and drafting of electrical circuits, machines, structures, weldments, or architectural plans. Includes instruction in the preparation of engineering plans, layouts, and detailed drawings according to conventional projection principles and techniques or as specified; preparation of charts, graphs, or diagrams; model making; and the use of handbook data germane to design and drafting in various engineering fields.

15.0203 Surveying and Mapping Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to technically assist civil engineers and urban planners in the determination and description of the shape, contour, location, and dimensions of geographic areas or features.

15.0204 Urban Planning Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to work as team members with civil engineers, social engineers, social scientists, and urban-planning professionals. Includes instruction in methods used in urban design and land utilization; methods of demographic study, including population growth, transportation in urban settings, and housing; building and construction codes and regulations; urban traffic management and control; distribution of water and wastewater systems; electrical systems relating to the overall planning for redevelopment of a urban area; urban mapping and engineering drawing; reading architectural or engineering drawings; methods of urban growth determination and projection; cost determination; analysis and comparison of different types of configurations and the sociological aspects of housing, transportation, recreation, park and living space, employment, and logistics in urban settings.

15.0299 Civil Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in civil technologies not described above.

15.03 Electrical and Electronic Technologies. An group of instructional programs that prepares individuals to work to support and assist electrical and electronic engineers, and other engineers and scientists concerned with the development of lasers. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to the mechanical, mathematical, scientific, or technical aspects of electrical engineering, electronic engineering, and laser development.

15.0301 Computer Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support engineers and scientists in the design, development, and testing of computer and peripheral devices. Includes instruction in electronic circuitry; prototype development and testing; systems design, selection, installation, and testing, solid state and microminiature circuitry to data storage devices, and the preparation of reports and documentation of test results.

15.0302 Electrical Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support electrical engineers in the design, development, and testing of electrical circuits, devices, and systems, for generating electricity and distributing electrical power. Includes instruction in model and prototype development and testing; systems analysis and integration, including design, development of corrective and preventive maintenance techniques; application of engineering data; and the preparation of reports and test results.

15.0303 Electronic Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support electronic engineers and other professionals in the design, development, modification, and testing of electronic circuits, devices, and systems. Includes instruction in practical circuit feasibility; prototype development and testing; systems analysis, including design, selection, installation, calibration, and testing; solid-state and microminiature circuits; and the application of engineering data to specific problems in the electronics field.

15.0304 Laser Electro-Optic Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist engineers, scientists, or plant managers in the assembly, installation, testing, adjustment, and operation of various types of lasers for various applications. Includes instruction in safety precautions and the optical, physical, and chemical theory and application of each laser device.

15.0399 Electrical and Electronic Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in electrical and electronic technologies not described above.

- 15.04 Electromechanical Instrumentation and Maintenance Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals either to support or assist mechanical and electrical engineers, or to install and service electromechanical equipment. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to the mechanical, mathematical, scientific, or technical aspects of mechanical and electrical engineering, biomedical engineering, computer science, and instrumentation design.
- 15.0401 Biomedical Equipment Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to manufacture, install, calibrate, operate, and maintain sophisticated life-support equipment found in hospitals, medical centers, and research laboratories. Includes instruction in the use of testing and diagnostic instruments; calibrating techniques; potential hazards and safety precautions; and methods of installation, repair, maintenance, and operation of the equipment.
- 15.0402 Computer Servicing Technology. An instruction program that prepares individuals to install, program, operate, maintain, service, and diagnose operational problems in computer systems arising from mechanical or electrical malfunctions in computer units or systems. Includes instruction in the underlying physical sciences and supporting mathematics of computer design, installation, construction, programming, operation, maintenance, and functional diagnosis, and how to detect, isolate, and correct malfunctions. Programs describe the electrical and electronic circuits and mechanical devices used in computer construction and their combination into systems in individual computer or computing installations, as well as instruments used to detect weaknesses or failures in electrical systems in computers.
- 15.0403 Electromechanical Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist mechanical and electrical engineers and other managers in the design, development, and testing of electromechanical devices and systems such as plant automation, automated control systems, servomechanical devices and systems such as plant automation, automated control systems, servomechanisms, vending machines, elevator controls, missile controls, tape-control machines, and auxiliary computer equipment. Includes instruction in assisting with feasibility testing of engineering concepts; systems analysis (including design, selection, testing, and application of engineering data); and the preparation of written reports and test results.
- 15.0404 Instrumentation Technology. An instruction program that prepares individuals to design, develop prototypes for, test, and evaluate control or measurement devices on systems, and to prepare graphs, written reports, and test results in support of the professional personnel working in the field of instrumentation. Includes instruction in the fields of electricity, electronics, mechanics, pneumatics, and hydraulics as they pertain to the principles of control, recording systems, automated devices, and the calibration of instrumentation units or systems.
- 15.0405 Robotics Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assemble, program, maintain and repair robots. Includes instruction in the history and development of robots, the types of robots used in industry and their component makeup, computer control systems and robot computer language, and troubleshooting techniques, especially with regard to servomechanisms, microprocessors, and computer operation.

15.0499 Electromechanical Instrumentation and Maintenance Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in electromechanical instrumentation and maintenance technologies not described above.

15.05 Environmental Control Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to assist in controlling either the internal temperature of commercial and industrial buildings, or the levels of toxicity of industrial wastes

15.0501 Air Conditioning, Heating, and Refrigeration Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to work in engineering departments or independently as entrepreneurs capable of designing, installing, maintaining, and operating small or medium air conditioning, heating, and refrigeration systems. Instruction prepares individuals to work in a commercial organization performing special tasks relating to design, assembly, installation, servicing, operation, and maintenance of heating or cooling systems, according to the standards of the American Society of Heating, Refrigeration, and Air Conditioning Engineers, Inc. Includes instruction in air conditioning, heating, and refrigeration devices, equipment, techniques, and systems; evaluation of amount of heating, air conditioning, or refrigeration capacity needed to accomplish a particular task; and in the maintenance and operation of a system that meets the requirements of the task.

15.0502 Air Pollution Control Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to detect, measure, and control air pollution. Includes instruction in the chemistry of combustion from which the majority of pollution elements in the air are derived; the major sources of air pollution, such as internal combustion engines, power plants, and industrial or home use of fuels; methods of sampling smokestacks; detection and source identification and analysis of air pollutants, both gaseous and particulate; and the construction, use, calibration, and maintenance of automatic samplers, recorders, and other analytical devices.

15.0503 Energy Conservation and Use Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support engineers or work independently to identify and measure quantities of energy used in heating and cooling or operating a facility or industrial process; assess efficiency in the use of energy or the amount lost through wasteful processes or lack of insulation; and prescribe remedial steps to conserve energy within the system. Includes instruction in the utilization and conversion of energy in its various forms; techniques for improving use or preventing loss of energy; and the quantification of the net minimum or optimum energy required in a given system or process.

15.0504 Sanitation Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support sanitarians, and others responsible for health and sanitation factors, by determining the nature and amount of bacteria and chemical contaminants in water, wastewater, and food processing. Includes instruction of sampling, culturing and identifying pathogenic or other organisms; determining the relative amounts of contaminants in food, soil, water, or other materials by taking samples and performing analyses using sophisticated chemical and biological equipment and procedures; and sanitation-related aspects of water and wastewater purification and processing systems and food processing, storage, and service. Programs prepare individuals for the licensure or certification that is required in some States for employment in government sanitation or health-related agencies.

- 15.0505. Solar Heating and Cooling Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to work with heating, cooling, and refrigeration engineers and scientists in research, design, installation, and maintenance for maximum efficiency of solar heating units for space heating, cooling, and water heating for factory, home, or institutional use. Includes instruction in the design and dynamics of solar heat collecting systems; heat collection, storage, and distribution in modern heating and cooling systems; theory, procedures, and measuring devices for air conditioning, heating, and refrigeration systems; and the individual mechanisms and controls used in solar heat collecting units for air conditioning, heating, or refrigeration systems.
- 15.0506 Water and Wastewater Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to process, purify, store, control pollution in, distribute, and dispose of wastewater. Includes instruction in the design, construction, operation, and maintenance of equipment for water or wastewater collection, processing, pollution control, and distribution; operation of machines, devices, and control systems which use sophisticated modern instrumentation; testing of samples of materials at various stages in the process design; hydraulics; liquid collection; liquid-processing equipment; pumping and conveying; sampling and testing, both chemically and biologically; processes of purification, digestion, biological deterioration, and disintegration of wastewater products; plant layout, operation, and safety; and the regulations and standards controlling water or wastewater purification.
- 15.0599 Environmental Control Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in environmental control technologies not described above.
- 15.06 Industrial Production Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to supervise industrial processes or to support engineers, scientists, and other professionals who are employed industry. Programs describe the mechanical, scientific, or technical aspects of a variety of industries, including chemical manufacturing, food processing, forest products, marine products, plastics, and textiles.
- 15.0602 Food Processing Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist food chemists and food-processing engineers in processing raw foodstuffs into marketable food products by selecting and grading raw materials, and by industrial processes for extracting, converting, drying, freezing, preserving, canning, pickling, smoking, radiation, chemically treating, and packaging products. Includes instruction in the basic sciences and supporting mathematics of chemistry, microbiology, and physics as they relate to food processing, and in the processes, equipment, sanitation, inspection, handling procedures and techniques, process control and scheduling, product storage, shipping, and cost analyses of alternative processes in the industry as applied to specific products and localities.
- 15.0603 Industrial Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist an industrial engineer in production and planning; design and installation of integrated systems of materials, equipment, and personnel; and measurement, testing, and management of quality control in the manufacturing, transportation, assembly, installation, and operation of processes and products. Includes instruction in the operation of testing equipment (destructive and nondestructive), measuring devices, specification reading, and design and measurement of levels of tolerance compatible with overall production specifications.

- 15.0606 Optical Technology. An instruction program that prepares to grind lenses from optical glass or from modern plastic, according to engineering specifications or optometrist prescriptions. Includes instruction in the science of optics, optical glass, and plastics used in optics; optical design and drawings; machinery, materials, and techniques required for production of optical lenses; and in the polishing of lenses or optical elements for mounting in eyeglasses or holding devices.
- 15.0607 Plastic Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support plastic design engineers, scientists, managers, or entrepreneurs in the application, production, and fabrication of plastic products. Includes instruction in the chemistry and applied engineering sciences related to thermosetting, pressing, forming, molding, and producing of fiberglass or other plastic; drawings for dies, form molds, or plastic packaging for shipment or storage; and hazards associated with production and design.
- 15.0609 Textile Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist scientists, engineers, or managers in the textile industry or in related research, development, production, or servicing. Includes instruction in the nature and characteristics of textile fibers; spinning, weaving dyeing, mordantly, fireproofing, and static arresting; testing of fibers for tensile strength, heat resistance, crease recessions, and laundering, equipment and machines used in marking textiles; and textile production, packaging, storage, shipment and uses.
- 15.0610 Welding Technology. An instructional program that prepares skilled workers at the technician level to understand, perform, and supervise or inspect a wide variety of welding processes. These include gas welding, brazing, flame cutting, metallic arc welding (manual or automatic), metallic gas or inert gas welding of ferrous and nonferrous materials, resistance welding, and fusing of glass and plastics in a welding mode. Includes instruction in the applied physics and metallurgy of the various welding processes, the shielding elements in the welding processes, and the various types of equipment used to accomplish each process. Programs develop an elemental understanding of design for welding fabrication; an understanding of the elements of cost and economics of welding of various types; a knowledge of the methods of non-destructive and destructive inspection of welding and welded products; and an understanding of auxiliary equipment used in the process, such as jigs, fixtures, and annealing equipment related to welding.
- 15.0699 Industrial Production Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in industrial production technologies not described above.
- 15.07 Quality Control and Safety Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to support a variety of engineers and industrial managers. Programs describe the mechanical, scientific, or technical aspects of industrial production, occupational health, and quality control.
- 15.0701 Occupational Safety and Health Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to work with safety engineers and managers in analyzing working conditions in places of employment to ensure maximum safety to workers and occupants. Includes instruction in safety engineering principles and science; related Federal, State and local legislation; procedures, practices, techniques, and methods used in analyzing all aspects of working conditions in an employment establishment, including physical, water, atmospheric, and other environmental elements which may constitute hazards; determination of potentially unsafe working practices; chemical contamination of workers through the air they breathe; methods for correcting unsafe conditions or preventing them; cost analysis of various corrective measures for working conditions or practices on the job; capability in reading engineering drawings; and use of orthographic projection practices in drawing, diagramming, or sketching safety devices or plant layouts.

15.0702 Quality Control Technology. An instructional program that prepares to support engineers or managers by utilizing the sciences of measurement and quality control, quality design, production and inspection, testing (both destructive and nondestructive), statistical sampling, and mathematical probability as it relates to quality control in mass-produced items manufactured by modern production procedures and processes. Includes instruction in the intensive study of the physical and related engineering sciences and supporting mathematics related to material testing devices; testing; inspection techniques; organization of systems of quality control; statistical sampling; management of quality in manufacturing, transportation, assembly, installation, and operation; assurance of maximum accuracy or quality control in all phases of manufacturing; and utilization of all components and units in modern sophisticated machine devices or systems. Special study is required to understand the operation of testing equipment (particularly nondestructive equipment), measuring devices, reading of specifications, design and measuring of tolerances to assure that a certain level of quality will be met in producing a component, unit, or system. Includes instruction in the preparation of scientific or technical reports and in the development of interpersonal skills required in the performance of tasks or in the supervision of the work of others.

15.0799 Quality Control and Safety Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in quality control and safety technologies not described above.

15.08 Mechanical and Related Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to support and assist a variety of engineering professionals, including aeronautical, agricultural, automotive, mechanical, electrical and electronic, architectural, chemical, civil, mining, and petroleum engineers. Programs describe the mathematical, mechanical, scientific, and technical aspects of these engineering specialties.

15.0801 Aeronautical Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist the aeronautical engineer in collecting research data relevant to the operation of aircraft and the design, testing, and development of propulsion, control, and guidance systems of aircraft and aerospace vehicles.

- 15.0803 Automotive Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support an automotive engineer in diagnosing normal or abnormal operation and in maintaining and repairing automotive equipment. Includes instruction in the installation, maintenance, operation, repair, adjustment, or modification of automobiles, trucks, buses, and light industrial or farm equipment powered by gasoline, diesel, or turbine engines and equipped with electrical, hydraulic, pneumatic, or mechanical controls. Also includes instruction in the use and calibration of diagnostic and testing instruments and equipment.
- 15.0804 Marine Propulsion Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support propulsion engineers, ship officers, managers of marine units and fleets, or to work as manufacturers' representatives of marine propulsion units. Includes instruction in various marine propulsion units and systems and their related controls; various fuels and fuel systems and problems and hazards involved in their use; power capacity of various units; the basic design, installation, operation and maintenance and servicing of various marine propulsion units and systems; the use and design of cooling systems; operational controls; cost efficiency of various alternative propulsion systems and maintaining operation and service logs.
- 15.0805 Mechanical Design Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a mechanical-design or equipment-systems engineer in designing, detailing, producing, and testing machines, using appropriate available materials, processes, techniques, and facilities. Includes instruction in drafting; strength of materials; manufacturing or fabrication procedures and practices; materiel testing; component inspection; machine or unit operation; evaluation; basic physics and mechanics, and the supporting mathematics; basic mechanisms; hydraulics and pneumatics; quality control and testing; machine design; materials; specification preparation; and technical reporting.
- 15.0899 Mechanical and Related Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in mechanical and related technologies not described above.
- 15.09 Mining and Petroleum Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to support and assist mining and petroleum engineers and managers. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to the mechanical, scientific, or technical aspects of mining and petroleum engineering.
- 15.0901 Coal Mining Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist mining engineers or managers or to assume responsibility with a degree of independence in various aspects of mining operation. Includes instruction in methods, equipment, processes, techniques, and procedures employed in underground coal mining or in strip mining; coal beneficiating and conditioning for marketing; mapping and planning the exploitation of a coal field; managing for safe mining operations; disposing of mine waste; reclaiming strip-mine areas after coal has been removed; testing and analyzing the quality of coal; measuring the levels of impurities in air in mines and identifying the nature of the impurities; constructing, operating, and maintaining specialized machinery and equipment; and planning for maximum exploitation of deposits of coal by the most economical modern methods.

- 15.0902 Mining (Excluding Coal) Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to work in a supportive role to mining engineers and managers in the development and exploitation of metal or other mineral ore deposits (excluding coal and other fossil fuels). Includes instruction in elementary geology; mechanical drawing and drafting; mining methods, both open pit and underground; surveying as it applies to planning the mining of particular ore body; mining machinery; equipment and methods used in drilling, blasting, conveying, hoisting, crushing, and beneficiating; mine safety; environmental impact; production, storage, and disposal of solid or liquid wastes; and collecting, screening, filtering, drying, processing, storing, and shipping of finished ore.
- 15.0903 Petroleum Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist in petroleum production on-shore or off-shore exploring for petroleum fields; seismic testing of promising geological formations; drilling test wells; improving drilling technology; analyzing cores from drilling; logging cores; collecting petroleum from producing wells; delivering oil to holding points or pipelines for transporting to refineries; or capturing gas and retaining it in holding points for marketing. Includes instruction in the methods for increasing productivity of oil fields; seismic exploration; sophisticated scientific and production methods; instrumentation, machinery, equipment, techniques, and processes used in obtaining and refining crude oil into salable products; oil or gas-well control by use of drilling muds or other techniques; charting and diagraming oil fields; oil wells, and pipelines; and designing refineries.
- 15.0999 Mining and Petroleum Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in mining and petroleum technologies not described above.
- 15.10 Construction Technology. A group of instructional programs (see 15.1001).
- 15.1001 Construction Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support contractors and others responsible for constructing buildings by coordinating the work of craft workers and subcontractors, and assisting in surveying, analyzing costs, and troubleshooting. Includes instruction in building codes and engineering requirements.
- 15.99 Engineering and Engineering-Related Technologies, Other. A group of instructional programs in engineering and engineering-related technologies not described above.
- 15.9999 Engineering and Engineering-Related Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in engineering and engineering-related technologies not described above.
16. Foreign Languages. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the structure and use of language that is common or indigenous to people of the same community or nation; the same geographical area, or the same cultural traditions; including such features as sounds, literature, syntax, phonology, morphology, semantics, sentences, prose and verse, as well as the development of skills and attitudes used in communicating and evaluating thoughts and feelings through oral and written language.
- 16.01 Foreign Languages, Multiple Emphasis. A group of instructional programs (see 16.0101).

- 16.0101 Foreign Languages, Multiple Emphasis. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of more than one specific group of people.
- 16.02 African (Non-Semitic) Languages. A group of instructional programs (see 16.0201).
- 16.0201 African (Non-Semitic) Languages. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of non-Semitic African people; languages such as Ibo, Swahili, and Yoruba are included in this category.
- 16.03 Asiatic Languages. A group of instructional programs that describe the language, literature, and culture of Asiatic peoples; languages such as Cantonese, Mandarin, Japanese, Korean, Malay, and Japanese are included in this category.
- 16.0301 Chinese. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of Chinese-speaking peoples; languages such as Cantonese and Mandarin are included in this category.
- 16.0302 Japanese. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of Japanese-speaking peoples.
- 16.0399 Asiatic Languages, Other. Any instructional program in Asiatic languages not described above.
- 16.04 Balto-Slavic Languages. A group of instructional programs that describe the language, literature, and culture of Baltic and Slavic peoples; languages such as Latvian, Lithuanian, Russian, Polish, Belorussian, Czech, Serbo-Croatian, and Ukranian are included in this category.
- 16.0402 Russian. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of Russian-speaking peoples.
- 16.0403. Languages (Other than Russian). An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of Slavic-speaking (other than Russian-speaking) peoples; languages such as Polish, Belorussian, Czech; Serbo-Croatian and Ukranian are included in this category.
- 16.0499 Balto-Slavic Languages, Other. Any instructional program in Balto-Slavic languages not described above.
- 16.05 Germanic Languages. A group of instructional program that describe the language, literature, and culture of people whose native language belongs to the Germanic branch of Indo-European languages; languages such as German, Norwegian, Swedish, Danish, and Yiddish are included in this category.
- 16.0501 German. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of German-speaking peoples.
- 16.0502 Scandinavian Languages. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of Scandinavian peoples; languages such as Norwegian, Swedish, and Danish are included in this category.
- 16.0599 Germanic Languages, Other. Any instructional program in Germanic languages not described above.

- 16.06 Greek. A group of instructional programs that describe the language, literature, and culture of Greek-speaking peoples.
- 16.0601 Greek (Classical). An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of the ancient Greek world.
- 16.07 Indic Languages. A group of instructional programs (see 16.0703).
- 16.0703 Indic Languages. An instructional program that describes the language, literature and culture of people whose native language belongs to the Indic branch of Indo-European languages; languages such as Hindi, Sanskrit, Urdu, Bengali, and Panjabi are included in this category.
- 16.09 Italic Languages. A group of instructional programs that describe the language, literature, and culture of people whose native language belongs to the Italic branch of Indo-European languages; languages such as French, Italian, Latin, Portuguese, and Spanish are included in this category.
- 16.0901 French. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of French-speaking peoples.
- 16.0902 Italian. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of Italian-speaking peoples.
- 16.0903 Latin. An instructional program that describes the language and literature of Latin.
- 16.0904 Portuguese. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of Portuguese-speaking peoples.
- 16.0905 Spanish. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of Spanish-speaking peoples.
- 16.0999 Italic Language, Other. Any instructional program in Italic languages not described above.
- 16.10 Native American Languages. A group of instructional programs (see 16.1001).
- 16.1001 Native American Languages. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of Native American peoples.
- 16.11 Semitic Languages. A group of instructional programs that describes the language, literature, and culture of Semitic peoples; languages such as Arabic and Hebrew are included in this category.
- 16.1101 Arabic. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of Arabic-speaking peoples.
- 16.1102 Hebrew. An instructional program that describes the language, literature, and culture of Hebrew-speaking peoples.
- 16.1199 Semitic Languages, Other. Any instructional program in Semitic languages not described above.

- 16.99 Foreign Languages, Other. A group of instructional programs in foreign languages not described above.
- 16.9999 Foreign Languages, Other. Any instructional program in foreign languages not described above.
17. Allied Health. A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepare individuals to assist qualified health professionals in providing diagnostic, therapeutic, preventive, restorative, and rehabilitative services to patients in health care facilities, the home, and the community.
- 17.01 Dental Services. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to provide supportive services to the dental profession, including performing dental prophylactic treatments, instructing persons in the care of teeth and mouth, and producing dentures and related appliances.
- 17.0101 Dental Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a dentist at the chairside in a dental operation, to perform reception functions, clerical functions, and selected dental laboratory procedures.
- 17.0102 Dental Hygiene. An instructional program that prepares individuals to provide chairside services to patients (such as performing complete oral prophylaxis and applying medication) and to provide dental health education services to individuals and community health programs, under the supervision of a dentist.
- 17.0103 Dental Laboratory Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to make and repair restorative appliances required for the oral health of the patient, as prescribed by a dentist.
- 17.0199 Dental Services, Other. Any instructional program in dental services not described above.
- 17.02 Diagnostic and Treatment Services. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to use equipment and medical materials for diagnostic and therapeutic purposes by learning to apply roentgen rays and radioactive substances; prepare and administer radioisotopes; operate electrocardiograph, electroencephalograph, respiratory, or dialysis equipment; provide technical assistance before, during, and after an operation; or render medical emergency treatment in a variety of situations that demand immediate care, such as heart attacks, childbirth, poisons, burns, and shock.
- 17.0201 Cardiovascular Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform a wide range of tests related to the functions and therapeutic care of the heart-lung system, operate and maintain a heart-lung machine for extra-corporeal circulation, assist in cardiac catheterization and cardiac resuscitation, and assist in the post-operative monitoring, care, and treatment of heart-lung patients.
- 17.0202 Dialysis Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to provide dialysis and intensive care to patients in a renal service, including cardiac monitoring, respiratory therapy, isolation procedures, and adjustment and maintenance of dialysis equipment.
- 17.0203 Electrocardiograph Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to operate and maintain an electrocardiograph machine to record electromotive variations in the action of the patient's heart muscle. Includes instruction in making minor repairs.

- 17.0204 Electroencephalograph Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to operate and maintain the electroencephalograph to measure impulse frequencies and differences in electrical potential between the various areas of the brain to obtain data for the physician to use in diagnosing brain disorders. Includes instruction in making minor repairs.
- 17.0205 Emergency Medical Technology - Ambulance. An instructional program that prepares individuals to function at the emergency level to treat various cardiopulmonary problems, using cardiac resuscitation and other emergency equipment; airway, fracture, and hemorrhage management; emergency childbirth; and special care of patients exposed to heat, cold, radiation, or contagious disease. Includes instruction in techniques and application of intravenous fluid therapy, pharmacology, and anesthetics.
- 17.0206 Emergency Medical Technology - Paramedic. An instructional program that prepares individuals to provide pre-hospital emergency medical care to patients of all ages. Includes knowledge about the acute, critical differences in physiology, pathophysiology, or clinical symptoms so that appropriate emergency assessment and treatment can be provided and the necessary information communicated to a responsible physician.
- 17.0207 Medical Radiation Dosimetry. An instructional program that prepares individuals to calculate radiation dosage in the treatment of malignant disease and plan the direction of radiation to its target in the safest way.
- 17.0208 Nuclear Medical Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to prepare and administer radioactive isotopes and to measure glandular and other bodily activity in therapeutic, diagnostic, and tracer studies, using a variety of equipment.
- 17.0209 Radiologic (Medical) Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to apply roentgen rays and radioactive substances to patients for diagnostic and therapeutic purposes, under the supervision of a radiologist. Includes instruction in anatomy, physiology, radiographic techniques, radiation protection, equipment maintenance, and film processing and darkroom techniques.
- 17.0210 Respiratory Therapy Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to operate and maintain equipment used in supportive respiratory functions (including the administration of oxygen and other therapeutic gases and mist inhalations) as directed by a physician, to respond to emergency situations and to provide treatment to patients with severe respiratory disorders which require intensive care. Includes instruction in making minor repairs.
- 17.0211 Surgical Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to serve as general technical assistants before, during, and after operations. Includes instruction in pre-operation patient and surgical team preparation, supply inventory maintenance, and sterilization and cleaning of equipment and operating rooms.
- 17.0212 Diagnostic Medical Sonography. An instructional program that prepares individuals to use acoustic energy for diagnosis, research, and therapy; operate ultrasound equipment to obtain diagnostic result; evaluate results for quality of technique; and in emergency situations, make interim reports to medical staff.

17.0299 Diagnostic and Treatment Services, Other. Any instructional program in diagnostic and treatment services not described above.

17.03 Medical Laboratory Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to carry out technical functions to obtain data for use in diagnosis, treatment, and control of diseases, under the supervision of medical specialists. Includes instruction in the use of technical equipment and the administration of medical and/or chemical agents.

17.0301 Blood Bank Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to work under the direction of a pathologist, physician, or laboratory director to collect, classify, store, and process blood, including separation of components from whole blood detection and identification of antibodies in patient and donor bloods and selection and delivery of suitable blood for transfusion.

17.0302 Chemistry Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to work under the supervision of a pathologist, physician, or qualified scientist in performing qualitative and quantitative chemical analyses of body fluids and exudates, utilizing quantitative equipment and wide range of laboratory instruments, to provide information for diagnosing and treating disease.

17.0303 Clinical Animal Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to provide care and treatment to laboratory animals in hospitals, veterinary clinics, and research laboratories; and to perform tests and procedures used in research and diagnose, as prescribed and supervised by pathologists or other qualified research scientists.

17.0304 Clinical Laboratory Aide. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform simple tasks involved in maintaining cleanliness and order in the clinical laboratory. Includes instruction in sterilization of equipment, maintaining supplies, messenger service, and related duties.

17.0305 Clinical Laboratory Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform routine clinical laboratory procedures under the supervision of medical laboratory technicians, pathologists, or other physicians.

17.0306 Cytotechnology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to stain, mount, and screen slides of cells of the human body for determination of abnormalities such as exfoliated cells, under the supervision of a doctor.

17.0307 Hematology Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to work in a hospital setting under the supervision of a hematologist or laboratory director, in performing quantitative, qualitative, and coagulation tests on cellular and plasma components of blood for use in the diagnosis and treatment of disease.

- 17.0308 Histologic Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to prepare, section, and stain tissue for microscopic study by a pathologist or other clinical scientist.
- 17.0309 Medical Laboratory Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform bacteriological, biological, and chemical tests to provide data for diagnosis and treatment of disease, under the supervision of pathologists.
- 17.0310 Medical Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals as a highly skilled laboratory scientist with a strong generalist orientation and an ability to perform complex and specialized procedures in all major areas of the clinical laboratory. The medical technologist is responsible for complex analysis requiring the exercise of individual judgment and must be able to relate findings to the presence or absence of disease. May supervise and/or teach laboratory personnel.
- 17.0311 Microbiology Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to work with a minimum of supervision by a pathologist, physician, or laboratory director, in performing bacteriological, viral, parasitological, immunologic, and serologic procedures in a clinical laboratory setting.
- 17.0399 Medical Laboratory Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in medical laboratory technologies not described above.
- 17.04 Mental Health/Human Services. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to assist nursing and mental health personnel in the care and treatment of the mentally ill, aged, drug addicted, and physically handicapped. Includes instruction in new patterns of living and administering prescribed medication.
- 17.0401 Alcohol/Drug Abuse Speciality. An instructional program that prepares individuals to advise and assist people in their efforts to overcome personal, family, and social problems that are manifested in alcoholism and drug addiction.
- 17.0402 Community Health Work. An instructional program that prepares individuals to serve as liaison between professional health workers and the recipients of health services in the community. Includes instruction in the basic understanding of biology, communicable diseases, environmental health, personal hygiene, care of infants, medications, and family and community services
- 17.0404 Home Health Aide. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist elderly, convalescent, or handicapped patients in their homes by providing for physical, mental, emotional, and/or social health-care needs, under the supervision of a registered nurse or physician.
- Medical Social Work (see 44.0702).
- 17.0405 Mental Health/Human Services Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform routine tasks related to the care, treatment, and rehabilitative activities for the aged, chemically dependent, mentally ill, or mentally handicapped, as supervised by a physician in a hospital or mental health clinic.

- 17.0406 Mental Health/Human Services Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to provide and/or assist in treatment, care, and rehabilitative activities for clients who are aged, mentally ill, mentally or physically handicapped, or chemically dependent, under the supervision of a physician. Includes instruction in new patterns of living and administering medications.
- 17.0407 Rehabilitation Counseling. An instructional program that prepares individuals to help disabled individuals become aware of and secure rehabilitation services designed to fit the disabled person for gainful employment, assist in job placement, and check on job satisfaction after employment.
- 17.0408 Therapeutic Child Care Work. An instructional program that prepares individuals under supervision, to implement activity and training programs which provide a preventive and therapeutic environment for mentally ill and emotionally disturbed children and adolescents. Trains children in self-help skills through intensive group sessions involving structured daily activities and reinforcement of other therapeutic experiences; records, evaluates, and reports progress of patients.
- 17.0409 Population and Family Planning. An instructional program that describes the principles and procedures involved in controlling population and determining family size by the appropriate use of contraceptive techniques.
- 17.0410 Sign Language Interpreting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to become fluent in the use of the American sign language and skilled in language interpreting procedures. Includes instruction in English, in the nature and needs of the hearing impaired as well as in the resources available for hearing impaired persons, and in handling linguistic and social requirements of a variety of settings, e.g., artistic, educational, legal, medical, religious.
- 17.0499 Mental Health/Human Services, Other. Any instructional program in mental health/human services not described above.
- 17.05 Miscellaneous Allied Health Services. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to assist specialists in the health field in providing support functions in such areas as pharmaceuticals, central supply, medical records, and the admissions/discharge of patients.
- 17.0502 Central Supply Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to adjust, clean, sterilize, and assemble hospital equipment, supplies, and instruments according to prescribed procedures and techniques. Includes instruction in inspection, evaluation, and purchasing of equipment and materials and in the distribution and inventory of equipment supplies.
- 17.0503 Medical Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a physician by performing functions related to both business administration and clinical duties of a medical office. Business aspects of instruction cover insurance, accounts, reports, medical records, and medical transcription. Clinical aspects of study include preparation of the patient for examination, assessing vital signs, assisting with examination and treatment, routine laboratory procedures, and use of the electrocardiograph machine.

- 17.0504 Medical Illustrating. An instructional program that prepares individuals to demonstrate medical facts by the creation of illustrations, models, and teaching films; serves as a consultant, advisor, and administrator in the field of medical illustration.
- 17.0505 Medical Office Management. An instructional program that prepares individuals to manage the administration and business aspects of a medical practice or group medical practices.
- 17.0506 Medical Records Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to develop statistical reports, code diseases and operations, and maintain indexes according to accepted procedures; take records to court; handle requests for medical information; record minutes of medical staff committee meetings; and supervise filing areas and activities of medical records clerks.
- 17.0507 Pharmacy Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist the pharmacist in performing routine duties related to maintaining and dispensing pharmaceutical supplies and medications, under supervision of a registered pharmacist.
- 17.0508 Physician Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform physician-delegate functions in the areas of general practice, including family medicine, internal medicine, obstetrics, and emergency medicine, or in specific areas of patient care, e.g., urology, surgery, pathology, orthopedics, pediatrics.
- 17.0510 Podiatric Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support the podiatrist in serving patients by preparing them for treatment, sterilizing the instruments, performing general office duties, and assisting the podiatrist in preparing dressings, administering treatments, and developing x-rays
- 17.0512 Veterinarian Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a veterinary doctor in providing care and treatment to animals in a veterinary hospital or clinic. Includes instruction in preparing the animal for examination, assessing vital signs, assisting with examination and treatment, sterilizing equipment, performing routine laboratory procedures, and giving injections and other medications. Also includes maintaining medical and business records, and charting and scheduling activities.
- 17.0513 Health Unit Coordinating. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform such duties as answering the telephone, relaying messages, receiving and directing visitors, transcribing orders, and preparing requisition forms in the nursing unit of a hospital or other health care facility, under the supervision of a head nurse.
- 17.0514 Chiropractic Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support the chiropractor by assisting chiropractors during physical examination of patients; by giving specified treatments such as diathermy, galvanics, or hydrotherapy; by keeping patients' records; and by performing a variety of office duties.
- 17.0599 Miscellaneous Allied Health Services, Other. An instructional program in miscellaneous allied health services not described above.

- 17.06 Nursing-Related Services. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to work under the supervision of a physician, nurse supervisor, or other qualified nursing staff member in providing nursing care to patients in hospitals, sanitariums, clinics, private homes, or other places by administering medications and treatments, assisting during treatment and examination of patients, or performing related auxiliary services.
- 17.0601 Geriatric Aide. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform tasks involved in providing nursing and personal care to elderly patients under the supervision of qualified nursing staff members. Emphasis is on the maintenance of daily living activities of these patients.
- 17.0602 Nursing Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform routine tasks under the supervision of a registered or licensed practical nurse, in the provision of personal care to individuals who are receiving nursing care.
- 17.0605 Practical Nursing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist in providing general nursing care under the direction of a registered nurse, physician, or dentist.
- 17.0606 Health Unit Management. An instructional program that prepares individuals to supervise and coordinate administrative management functions for one or more patient care units in a health-care facility, under the supervision of a nursing service director or administrator.
- 17.0699 Nursing-Related Services, Other. An instructional program in nursing-related services not described above.
- 17.07 Ophthalmic Services. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to assist an ophthalmologist or optometrist in identifying vision defects, performing tests, administering treatment preliminary to examination or surgery, preparing and fitting eyeglasses or contact lenses, and directing corrective eye exercises.
- 17.0701 Ophthalmic Dispensing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to adapt and fit corrective eyewear as prescribed by the ophthalmologist or optometrist.
- 17.0705 Optometric Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform a variety of vision care procedures or to specialize in a particular area of vision care, such as fitting of contact lenses or visual training, under the supervision of a physician or optometrist.
- 17.0799 Ophthalmic Services, Other. An instructional program in ophthalmic services not described above.
- 17.08 Rehabilitation Service. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to apply the principles and techniques of art to the rehabilitation of physically and mentally ill patients.
- 17.0801 Art Therapy. An instructional program that prepares individuals to apply the principles and techniques of art to the rehabilitation of physically and mentally ill patients.

- 17.0802 Corrective Therapy. An instructional program that prepares individuals to provide medically prescribed programs of therapeutic exercise to physically and mentally ill patients to prevent muscular deconditioning resulting from inactivity and to attain resocialization and specific psychiatric objectives.
- 17.0803 Dance Therapy. An instructional program that prepares individuals to apply the principles and techniques of dance to the rehabilitation of physically and mentally ill patients.
- 17.0804 Exercise Physiology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to work with clinicians in hospitals with rehabilitation programs to provide exercise stress testing and cardiovascular rehabilitation for patients.
- 17.0806 Music Therapy. An instructional program that prepares individuals to use individual and group musical activities with physically and mentally ill patients to accomplish the therapeutic aims, to create an environment conducive to treatment, or to influence behavior.
- 17.0807 Occupational Therapy. An instructional program that prepares individuals to use the principles and techniques of providing therapy that offers mental diversion for the patient, frequently serves to exercise an affected part of the body, and gives vocational training that would enable the patient to enter the work force.
- 17.0808 Occupational Therapy Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist an occupational therapist in implementing the plan of therapy for a patient prescribed by a physician.
- 17.0809 Occupational Therapy Aide. An instructional program that prepares individuals to prepare, collect, and distribute supplies and equipment; keep records; make requisitions; and assist individual patients as directed by the occupational therapist in an occupational therapy unit.
- 17.0811 Orthotics/Prosthetics. An instructional program that prepares individuals to write specifications for, make, fit, and repair braces and appliances and/or artificial limbs following the prescription of physicians.
- 17.0812 Orthopedic Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a physician by applying, adjusting, and removing casts; assembling traction apparatus; fitting strappings and splints for orthopedic patients; assembling exercise frames; and adjusting crutches and canes to fit patients. Training may include instructing patients with casts, braces, and crutches in walking and in care of the devices.
- 17.0813 Physical Therapy. An instructional program that prepares individuals to use the principles and techniques of treating disease, bodily weakness, or physical defects by physical remedies, including massage and gymnastics.
- 17.0814 Physical Therapy Aide. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a physical therapist by cleaning and setting up equipment, assisting in lifting and moving patients, maintaining cleanliness and order in the treatment areas, ordering and storing supplies, keeping records, and escorting patients between nursing units and therapy units.

- 17.0815 Physical Therapy Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a physical therapist in implementing the plan of therapy for a patient prescribed by a physician.
- 17.0816 Recreational Therapy. An instructional program that prepares individuals to plan, organize, and direct medically approved recreation programs such as sports, trips, dramatics, arts and crafts, either to help clients recover from illness or in coping with temporary or permanent disability.
- 17.0817 Recreational Therapy Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist the recreational therapist in conducting medically approved recreation programs such as sports, trips, dramatics, and arts and crafts.
- 17.0818 Respiratory Therapy. An instructional program that prepares individuals to administer respiratory care under the direction of a physician, evaluating the patient's progress, and making recommendations for respiratory therapy. Includes instruction in ventilatory therapy, cardio-respiratory rehabilitation, microenvironmental control, and diagnostic testing of the respiratory system (inhalation therapist).
- 17.0819 Respiratory Therapy Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist a respiratory therapist in implementing the plan of therapy for a patient prescribed by a physician.
- 17.0820 Speech/Hearing Therapy Aide. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist in testing, evaluating, and treating the problems of people with speech and hearing difficulties.
- 17.0822 Recreational Therapy Aide. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist in providing recreational activities to patients by collecting, setting up, ordering and storing equipment and supplies, maintaining records; escorting patients between nursing units and therapy centers; and maintaining cleanliness and order in treatment areas.
- 17.0899 Rehabilitation Services, Other. An instructional program in rehabilitation services not described above.
- 17.99 Allied Health, Other. A group of instructional programs in allied health not described above.
- 17.9999 Allied Health, Other . Any instructional program in allied health not described above.
- 18. Health Sciences. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the restoration or preservation of health through the use of drugs, surgical operations, manipulations, or other curative or remedial methods.
 - 18.01 Audiology and Speech Pathology. A group of instructional programs that describe the therapeutic techniques for treating hearing and speech disorders.
 - 18.0101 Audiology. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of providing therapy that restores or partially restores impaired hearing.

- 18.0102 Speech Pathology. An instructional program that describes the nature and treatment of hearing and speech disorders.
- 18.0103 Speech-Language Pathology/Audiology. An instructional program that describes the nature and treatment of hearing and speech disorders, including the principles and techniques of providing therapy that restores or partially restores normal functioning.
- 18.0199 Audiology and Speech Pathology, Other. Any instructional program in audiology and speech pathology not described above.
- 18.02 Basic Clinical Health Sciences. A group of instructional programs that describe the bodily structures and functions of humans, the principles and techniques of identifying and classifying diseases which affect them, and the foundation of scientific knowledge that is essential to the restoration and preservation of health.
- 18.0201 Clinical Anatomy. An instructional program that describes the structure and parts of the human body, including the bones, tissues, and organs, and their relationship to the restoration and preservation of good health.
- 18.0202 Clinical Biochemistry. An instructional program that describes the nature and chemical composition of the substances that make up the human body, the changes in these substances, and the energy associated with those changes.
- 18.0203 Clinical Microbiology. An instructional program that describes the nature and properties of harmful microorganisms and of the disease processes they induce in humans.
- 18.0204 Clinical Pathology. An instructional program that describes the cause and effect of diseases with emphasis on the structural and functional changes which develop during the disease process, and the systematic methods of detecting these changes.
- 18.0205 Clinical Physiology. An instructional program that describes living organisms or their parts, and their relationship to the restoration and preservation of good health.
- 18.0206 Clinical Toxicology. An instructional program that describes the nature and extent of the injurious response to the ingestion of chemical compounds and the determination of safe levels of exposure of ingestion in humans and other species.
- 18.0299 Basic Clinical Health Sciences, Other. Any instructional program in basic clinical health sciences not described above.
- 18.03 Chiropractic. A group of instructional programs (see 18.0301).
- 18.0301 Chiropractic. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques for relieving disorders believed due to abnormal functioning of the nervous system by manipulation and treatment of structures of the body, especially those of the spinal column.

- 18.04 Dentistry. A group of instructional programs that describe the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of diseases of the teeth and gums and related parts, including the replacement of missing teeth. Includes instruction in the principles and procedures associated with an established, specialized field of dental science.
- 18.0401 Dentistry, General. An instructional program that describes the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of diseases of the teeth and gums and related parts, including the replacement of missing teeth.
- 18.0402 Dental Public Health. An instructional program that describes the formulation and delivery of public preventive and curative dental health services.
- 18.0403 Endodontics. An instructional program that describes the etiology, diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of conditions that affect the dental and other periodontal tissues, including pulp canal therapy and root canal therapy.
- 18.0404 Oral/Maxial Facial Surgery. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of performing restorative surgery to the area of the jaws and face and treating diseases, injuries, or deformities of the jaws and associated structures by manual manipulation or by using instruments and appliances.
- 18.0405 Oral Pathology. An instructional program that describes the functional and structural changes and diseases that affect the area of the mouth.
- 18.0406 Orthodontics. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques involved in the prevention and correction of dental and oral anomalies.
- 18.0407 Pedodontics. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of diagnosing and treating the dental and mouth conditions of young children.
- 18.0408 Periodontics. An instructional program that describes the nature and treatment of diseases which affect the mucous membranes and other structures which surround and support the teeth.
- 18.0409 Prosthodontics. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of constructing artificial devices, and the restoration and maintenance of oral function by the replacement of missing teeth and other oral structures with such artificial devices.
- 18.0499 Dentistry, Other. Any instructional program in dentistry not described above.
- 18.07 Health Services Administration. A group of instructional programs that describe administering some aspect of the health care delivery system.
- 18.0701 Health Services Administration. An instructional program that describes the principles and procedures of planning, organizing, and controlling a hospital or health care facility.
- 18.0702 Health Care Planning. An instructional program that describes the processes involved in the development of alternative ways of achieving the health goals and expectations of society, including the identification of consequences of each alternative for the purpose of guiding decision makers in their deliberations.

- 18.0703 Medical Records Administration. An instructional program that describes the administration of all institutional medical records.
- 18.0799 Health Services Administration, Other. Any instructional program in health sciences administration not described above.
- 18.09 Medical Laboratory. A group of instructional programs (see 18.0901).
- 18.0901 Medical Laboratory. An instructional program that describes the principles and practices of clinical laboratory procedures.
- 18.10 Medicine. A group of instructional programs that describe the principles and procedures used in the observation, diagnosis, care, and treatment of illness, disease, injury, deformity, or other anomalies in humans. Includes instruction in the principles and procedures associated with an established, specialized field of medicine.
- 18.1001 Medicine, General. An instructional program that describes the principles and procedures used in the observation, diagnosis, care and treatment of illness, disease, injury, deformity, or other anomalies in humans.
- 18.1002 Allergies and Endomology. An instructional program that describes the diagnosis, care, and treatment of the condition of hypersensitivity of the body to specific substances that results in various type of distressful reactions.
- 18.1003 Anesthesiology. An instructional program that describes the principles and practices of administering substances that produce general or local insensibility to pain and other sensations.
- 18.1004 Colon and Rectal Surgery. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of treating diseases, injuries, or deformities of the colon and rectum and adjacent areas by manual manipulation or by using instruments and appliances.
- 18.1005 Dermatology. An instructional program that describes the skin, its structures, functions, diseases, and the treatment of skin diseases.
- 18.1006 Emergency Medicine. An instructional program that describes the methods, procedures, and techniques of providing health care services to persons who need emergency treatment, and may not be housed in a health care facility.
- 18.1007 Family Practice. An instructional program that describes the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of diseases and injuries that commonly occur in the general population.
- 18.1008 Geriatrics. An instructional program that describes the methods, procedures, and techniques of providing health care to the aged, and for their characteristic afflictions.
- 18.1009 Immunology. An instructional program that describes the phenomena of immunity from disease, the production of such immunity in humans, induced sensitivity, and allergy.

- 18.1010 Internal Medicine. An instructional program that describes the principles and procedures involved in the diagnosis and nonsurgical treatment of diseases of the body.
- 18.1011 Neurological Surgery. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of treating diseases, injuries, or deformities of the nervous system by manual manipulation or by using instruments and appliances.
- 18.1012 Nuclear Medicine. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of medicine that deal with the diagnosis and treatment of illnesses and injuries that are peculiar to atomic energy devices and installations.
- 18.1013 Obstetrics and Gynecology. An instructional program that describes the nature and treatment of diseases of women, especially those affecting the reproductive system and the process of childbirth, and of the care and treatment of women in childbirth and during the period before and after delivery.
- 18.1014 Ophthalmology. An instructional program that describes the anatomy, physiology, diseases and disorders, and care and treatment of the eye.
- 18.1015 Orthodontic Surgery. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques involved in the prevention and correction of dental and oral anomalies by surgical procedures.
- 18.1016 Orthopedic. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of correcting or curing deformities and diseases of the spine, bones, joints, muscles, or other parts of the skeletal system.
- 18.1017 Otorhinolaryngology/Otolaryngology. An instructional program that describes the anatomy, physiology, disorders, diseases, and care and treatment of the ear, the nose, and the throat.
- 18.1018 Pathology. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques involved in diagnosing, from body tissue, fluids, secretions, and other specimens, the presence and stage of a disease.
- 18.1019 Pediatrics. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques associated with the medical and hygienic care of children and the diagnosis and treatment of children's diseases.
- 18.1020 Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of medicine which deal with the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of disease with the aid of physical agents, such as light, heat, cold, water, and electricity, or with mechanical apparatus.
- 18.1021 Plastic Surgery. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of repairing or replacing malformed, injured, or lost organs or tissue using surgical methods.
- 18.1022 Preventive Medicine. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of medicine which deal with the promotion of physical and mental health, the prevention of disease, and the prolongation of life, as opposed to the mere treatment of existing disease.

- 18.1023 Psychiatry. An instructional program that describes the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of disorders of the mind.
- 18.1024 Neurology. An instructional program that describes the structure, function, disorders, diseases, and care and treatment of the nervous system.
- 18.1025 Radiology. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of using roentgen rays and radioactive substances for diagnostic and therapeutic purposes.
- 18.1026 Surgery. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of treating diseases, injuries, or deformities by manual operation and manipulation or by using instruments and appliances.
- 18.1027 Thoracic Surgery. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques of treating diseases, injuries, or deformities of the region of the chest by manual manipulation or by using instruments and appliances.
- 18.1028 Urology. An instructional program that describes the anatomy, physiology, disorders, diseases, and care and treatment of the genitourinary tract.
- 18.1029 Hematology. An instructional program that describes the nature, functions, and diseases of blood and blood-forming organs and tissues in animals and humans.
- 18.1030 Sports Medicine. An instructional program that describes athletic injuries and the techniques and procedures for treating them with special emphasis on care and rehabilitation.
- 18.1099 Medicine, Other. Any instructional program in medicine not described above.
- 18.11 Nursing. A group of instructional programs that describe the techniques and procedures for providing care for sick, disabled, infirm, or other individuals, including the administering of medications and treatments, assisting a physician during treatments and examinations, and planning education for health maintenance.
- 18.1101 Nursing, General. An instructional program that generally describes the techniques and procedures for providing care for sick, disabled, infirm, or other individuals, including the administration of medication and treatments, assisting a physician during treatments and examinations, and planning education for health maintenance.
- 18.1102 Anesthetist. An instructional program that describes the techniques and procedures for administering anesthetics.
- 18.1103 Maternal/Child Health. An instructional program that describes the techniques and procedures for providing pre-natal care to pregnant women and post-natal care to mothers and their infants.
- 18.1104 Medical Surgical. An instructional program that describes the techniques and procedures for providing care to patients in clinical and surgical settings.

- 18.1105 Nursing Administration. An instructional program that describes the techniques and procedures for managing nursing personnel and services in health care delivery agencies.
- 18.1106 Psychiatric/Mental Health. An instructional program that describes the techniques and procedures for providing care to mentally ill patients.
- 18.1107 Public Health (Nursing). An instructional program that describes the techniques and procedures for providing preventive and curative nursing services.
- 18.1199 Nursing, Other. An instructional program in nursing not described above.
- 18.12 Optometry. A group of instructional programs (see 18.1201).
- 18.1201 Optometry. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques for testing, determining defects, and prescribing corrective means for decreasing deficiencies in an individual's vision.
- 18.13 Osteopathic Medicine. A group of instructional programs (see 18.1301).
- 18.1301 Osteopathic Medicine. An instructional program that describes the system of therapy utilizing accepted physical, medical, and surgical methods, of diagnosis and therapy, and emphasizing the importance of normal body mechanics and manipulation methods of detecting and correcting faulty body structure.
- 18.14 Pharmacy. A group of instructional programs (see 18.1401).
- 18.1401 Pharmacy. An instructional program that describes the principles and procedures of procuring, preparing, compounding, recommending, administering, and dispensing drugs, medicines, and devices used in the diagnosis, treatment, or prevention of disease.
- 18.15 Podiatry. A group of instructional programs (see 18.1501).
- 18.1501 Podiatry. An instructional program that describes the anatomy, physiology, disorders, diseases, and care and treatment of the feet.
- 18.17 Pre-Dentistry. A group of instructional programs (see 18.1701).
- 18.1701 Pre-Dentistry. An instructional program that prepares individuals with the express purpose for entering into a program in dentistry.
- 18.18 Pre-Medicine. A group of instructional programs (see 18.1801).
- 18.1801 Pre-Medicine. An instructional program that prepares individuals with the express purpose for entering into a program in medicine.
- 18.19 Pre-Pharmacy. A group of instructional programs (see 18.1901).
- 18.1901 Pre-Pharmacy. An instructional program that prepares individuals with the express purpose for entering into a program in pharmacy.
- 18.20 Pre-Veterinary. A group of instructional programs (see 18.2001).

- 18.2001 Pre-Veterinary. An instructional program that prepares individuals with the express purpose for entering into a program in veterinary medicine.
- 18.22 Public Health. A group of instructional programs that describe laboratory procedures; program planning, implementation, management, and evaluation; and planning, organizing, and directing health education programs.
- 18.2201 Public Health Laboratory Science. An instructional program that describes the principles and practices of public health laboratory procedures.
- 18.2202 Epidemiology. An instructional program that describes the nature and treatment of epidemic diseases which affect large numbers of people at the same time, spreading from person to person in localities where it was not prevalent previously.
- 18.2203 Public Health Education. An instructional program that describes the process of influencing health-related social and behavior change in human populations.
- 18.2204 Public Health Practice and Management. An instructional program that describes the planning, implementation, and evaluation of community-based health care programs and systems.
- 18.2299 Public Health, Other. Any instructional program in public health not described above.
- 18.24 Veterinary Medicine. A group of instructional programs (see 18.2401).

- 23.06 Linguistics (Includes Phonetics, Semantics, and Philology). A group of instructional programs (see 23.0601).
- 23.0601 Linguistics (Includes Phonetics, Semantics, and Philology). An instructional program that describes the descriptive, historical, and theoretical aspects of language, its nature, structure, varieties, and development, especially sound systems (phonology), grammatical systems (morphology, syntax), lexical systems (vocabulary, semology), and writing systems.
- 23.07 Literature, American. A group of instructional programs (see 23.0701).
- 23.0701 Literature, American. An instructional program that describes American writings in prose or verse, especially those of an imaginative or critical character, including biography, criticism, drama, essay, fiction, poetry, myths, and legends.
- 23.08 Literature, English. A group of instructional programs (see 23.0801).
- 23.0801 Literature, English. An instructional program that describes British writings in prose or verse, especially those of an imaginative or critical character, including biography, criticism, drama, essay, fiction, poetry, myths, and legends.
- 23.10 Speech, Debate, and Forensics. A group of instructional programs (see 23.1001).
- 23.1001 Speech, Debate, and Forensics. An instructional program that describes strategies for improving competence in speaking and listening and the application of forms of argument to testing ideas or reaching decisions.
- 23.11 Technical and Business Writing. A group of instructional programs (see 23.1101).
- 23.1101 Technical and Business Writing. An instructional program that describes the theory, methods, and skills needed for writing scientific, technical, and business papers, and monographs.
- 23.12 English as a Second Language. A group of instructional programs (see 23.1201).
- 23.1201 English as a Second Language. An instructional program that provides foreign-born students who have little or no knowledge of English, with skills to use the language competently in speaking, writing, reading, and listening situations.

23.9999 Letters, Other. Any instructional program in letters not described above.

24. Liberal/General Studies. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the foundation necessary for understanding self and society through an appreciation of the concerns of civilization and common heritage.

24.01 Liberal/General Studies. A group of instructional programs (see 24.0101).

24.0101 Liberal Arts and Sciences. An instructional program that describes the foundation necessary for understanding self and society through an appreciation of the concerns of civilization and common heritage.

24.0102 General Studies. An instructional program that generally describes the overall aspects of a group of subjects without attempting to deal with specific aspects.

24.0199 Liberal/General Studies, Other. Any instructional program in liberal/general studies not described above.

25. Library and Archival Sciences. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the knowledge and skills required to develop, organize, store, retrieve, administer, and facilitate the use of collections of information in such formats as books, documents, manuscripts, machine-readable data bases, filmed and recorded materials, specimens, and artifacts.

25.01 A group of instructional programs (see 25.0101).

25.0101 Library and Archival Sciences, General. An instructional program that generally describes the knowledge and skills required to develop, organize, store, retrieve, administer, and facilitate the use of collections of information in such formats as books, documents, manuscripts, machine-readable data bases, filmed and recorded materials, specimens, and artifacts.

25.02 Archival Science. A group of instructional programs (see 25.0201).

25.0201 Archival Science. An instructional program that describes the collection, organization, preservation, service, and retrieval of public records, documents of historical significance, and other archival materials.

25.03 Library Assisting. A group of instructional programs (see 25.0301).

25.0301 Library Assisting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist professional librarians. Includes instruction in principles, systems, processes, and procedures in library operation; library resources and services; processes of acquisition, cataloging, storage, and display systems; discovery and retrieval of requested materials; management of books, periodicals, and other printed materials; technological media such as audiovisual and education equipment; public services such as library loans; and data-processing implications for automation of records in libraries.

25.04 Library Science. A group of instructional programs (see 25.0401).

- 25.0401 Library Science. A group of instructional programs that describes the attitudes, knowledge, and skills of library materials and libraries.
- 25.05 Museology. A group of instructional programs (see 25.0501).
- 25.0501 Museology. An instructional program that describes the attitudes, knowledge, and skills required to develop, organize, administer, store and retrieve, and facilitate the use of museums and museum materials including art galleries and zoological gardens.
- 25.99 Library and Archival Sciences, Other. A group of instructional programs in library and archival sciences not described above.
- 25.9999 Library and Archival Sciences, Other. Any instructional program in library and archival sciences not described above.
26. Life Sciences. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the systematic study of living organisms.
- 26.01 Biology, General. A group of instructional programs (see 26.0101).
- 26.0101 Biology, General. An instructional program that generally describes life forms, including the structure, function, reproduction, growth, heredity, evolution, behavior, and distribution of living organisms.
- 26.02 Biochemistry and Biophysics. A group of instructional programs (see 26.0201).
- 26.0201 Biochemistry and Biophysics. An instructional program that describes the chemistry of living systems, the biological phenomena that result from the interactions among these systems, including energy changes, and biological phenomena using physical principles and methods.
- 26.03 Botany. A group of instructional programs that describe the structure, function, reproduction, growth, heredity, evolution, and plant life.
- 26.0301 Botany, General. An instructional program that generally describes the structure, function, reproduction, growth, heredity, evolution, and plant life.
- 26.0302 Bacteriology. An instructional program that describes the morphology, physiology, metabolism, and growth of bacteria, and their effects upon substances and other organisms.
- 26.0304 Plant Genetics. An instructional program that describes the inheritance of traits and characters in plants.
- 26.0305 Plant Pathology. An instructional program that describes the nature, causes, and development of plant diseases.
- 26.0307 Plant Physiology. An instructional program that describes the study of plant functions, including such metabolic processes as photosynthesis, respiration, assimilation, and transpiration.
- 26.0399 Botany, Other. Any instructional program in botany not described above.

- 26.04 Cell and Molecular Biology. A group of instructional programs that describe the cell as a unit of organization in plants and animals, and the molecular structure and processes of living organisms.
- 26.0401 Cell Biology. An instructional program that describes the cell as a unit of organization in plants and animals.
 - 26.0402 Molecular Biology. An instructional program that describes the molecular structure and processes of living organisms.
 - 26.0499 Cell and Molecular Biology, Other. Any instructional program in cell and molecular biology not described above.
- 26.05 Microbiology. A group of instructional programs (see 26.0501).
- 26.0501 Microbiology. An instructional program that describes micro-organisms including bacteria, viruses, protista, protozoans, and certain fungi.
- 26.06 Miscellaneous Specialized Areas, Life Sciences. A group of instructional programs that describe specialized areas of the life sciences not described elsewhere in life sciences.
- 26.0601 Anatomy. An instructional program that describes the structure of plants and animals including their tissues, organs, and systems.
 - 26.0602 Biometrics and Biostatistics. An instructional program that describes the application of mathematical and statistical models and methodology in biology.
 - 26.0603 Ecology. An instructional program that describes the interrelationships between organisms and their environments.
 - 26.0604 Embryology. An instructional program that describes the formation, development, structure, and functional activities of embryos; organisms in the state of development before emerging from the egg or before metamorphosis.
 - 26.0605 Endocrinology. An instructional program that describes the endocrine glands and their secretions in relation to their processes or functions, including their care and treatment.
 - 26.0606 Histology. An instructional program that describes the microscopic structures, compositions, and functions of organic tissues in plants, animals, and human beings through selection and preparation of microscopic section.
 - 26.0607 Marine Biology. An instructional program that describes the nature and interrelationships of salt-water organisms and their aquatic environments.
 - 26.0608 Neurosciences. An instructional program that describes the anatomy, physiology, biochemistry, and molecular biology of nerves and nervous tissues and their relation to behavior and learning.
 - 26.0609 Nutritional Sciences. An instructional program that describes the science of food in relationship to human needs, the nutrients and other substances of food, and the processes by which the organism ingests, digests, absorbs, transports, utilizes, and excretes food substances.

- 26.0610 Parasitology. An instructional program that describes the structure, reproduction, development, distribution, and control of plant and animal parasites.
- 26.0611 Radiobiology. An instructional program that describes the nature and effects of radiation on organisms and biological systems.
- 26.0612 Toxicology. An instructional program that describes the nature, source, identification, and characteristics of poisons, toxic substances, and exogenous chemical agents which can cause death, illness, or injury upon contact with, or ingestion into the body, including the detection and measurement of their effects and the use of antidotes and other curatives.
- 26.0699 Miscellaneous Specialized Areas, Life Sciences, Other. Any instructional program in specialized areas of life sciences not described above.
- 26.07 Zoology. A group of instructional programs that describe animals, including their structure, reproduction, growth, heredity, evolution, behavior, and distribution.
 - 26.0701 Zoology, General. An instructional program that describes animals, including their structure, reproduction, growth, heredity, evolution, behavior, and distribution.
 - 26.0702 Entomology. An instructional program that describes the insects, including life cycle, morphology, physiology, ecology, and taxonomy.
 - 26.0703 Genetics, Human and Animal. An instructional program that describes the inheritance of traits and character in humans and animals.
 - 26.0704 Pathology, Human and Animal. An instructional program that describes the nature, causes, and development of human and animal diseases.
 - 26.0705 Pharmacology, Human and Animal. An instructional program that describes the therapeutic and toxic effects of drugs, including pharmacodynamic behavior, metabolism, interactions with other chemicals, and the biochemical, and physiological effects on human beings and animals.
 - 26.0706 Physiology, Human and Animal. An instructional program that describes human and animal functions, including processes such as respiration, circulation, digestion, excretion, and reproduction.
 - 26.0799 Zoology, Other. Any instructional program in zoology not described above.
- 26.99 Life Sciences, Other. A group of instructional programs in life sciences not described above.
 - 26.9999 Life Sciences, Other. Any instructional program in life sciences not described above.
- 27. Mathematics. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the sciences of logical symbolic language and their applications.
 - 27.01 Mathematics, General. A group of instructional programs (see 27.0101).
 - 27.0101 Mathematics, General. An instructional program that generally describes the sciences of logical symbolic language and their applications.

27.02 Actuarial Sciences. A group of instructional programs (see 27.0201).

27.0201 Actuarial Sciences. An instructional program that describes the mathematical and statistical methodology dealing problems of risks in insurance.

27.03 Applied Mathematics. A group of instructional programs (see 27.0301).

27.04 Pure Mathematics. A group of instructional programs (see 27.0401).

27.05 Statistics. A group of instructional programs (see 27.0501).

27.0501 Statistics. An instructional program that describes the probabilistic models involving a finite number of outcomes and the science of collecting, describing, and interpreting numerical data.

27.99 Mathematics, Other. A group of instructional programs in mathematics not described above.

27.9999 Mathematics, Other. Any instructional program in mathematics not described above.

28. Military Sciences. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the causative factors and tactical principles of warfare, armed conflict, and defense.

28.01 Aerospace Science (Air Force). A group of instructional programs (see 28.0101).

28.0101 Aerospace Science (Air Force). An instructional program that describes the purpose and objectives of the United States Air Force and all its branches, its rank structure, its customs and traditions, and its importance in national defense and security.

28.02 Coast Guard Science. A group of instructional programs (see 28.0201).

28.0201 Coast Guard Science. An instructional program that describes the purpose and objectives of the United States Coast Guard and all its branches, its rank structure, its customs and traditions, and its importance in national defense and security.

28.03 Military Science (Army). A group of instructional programs (see 28.0301).

28.0301 Military Science (Army). An instructional program that describes the purpose and objectives of the United States Army and all its branches, its rank structure, its customs and traditions, and its importance in national defense and security.

28.04 Naval Science (Navy, Marines). A group of instructional programs (see 28.0401).

- 28.0401 Naval Science (Navy, Marines). An instructional program that describes the purpose and objectives of the United States Navy and Marine Corps and all their branches, rank structure, customs and traditions, and importance in national defense and security.
- 28.05 Maritime Science (Merchant Marine). A group of instructional programs (see 28.0501).
- 28.0501 Maritime Science (Merchant Marine). An instructional program that prepares the individuals to serve as officers in the U.S. merchant marine. Includes instruction in marine engineering; marine navigation and marine transportation as well as the purposes and objectives of the merchant marine and its branches, rank structure, customs, traditions, and its importance in national defense and security.
- 28.99 Military Sciences, Other. A group of instructional programs in military sciences not described above.
- 28.9999 Military Sciences, Other. Any instructional program in military sciences not described above.
29. Military Technologies. A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepare individuals to undertake the broad range of technical tasks required to keep the armed forces combat ready. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to the mechanical, scientific, or technical aspects of military science in a variety of areas such as military communications and weapons systems.
- 29.01 Military Technologies. A group of instructional programs (see 29.0101).
- 29.0101 Military Technologies. An instructional program that prepares individuals to undertake the broad range of technical tasks required to keep the armed forces combat ready. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to the mechanical, scientific, or technical aspects of military science in a variety of areas such as military communications and weapons systems.
- 29.99 Military Technologies, Other. A group of instructional program in military technologies not described above.
- 29.9999 Military Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in military technologies not described above.
30. Multi/Interdisciplinary Studies. A summary of groups of instructional programs, the components of which derive from two or more separate conventional academic instructional programs.
- 30.01 Biological and Physical Sciences. A group of instructional programs (see 30.0101).
- 30.0101 Biological and Physical Sciences. An instructional program that describes either a general synthesis of one or more of the biological and physical sciences (for example, applied science or general science), or a specialization which draws from the biological and physical sciences (for example, environmental science/studies).
- 30.02 Clinical Pastoral Care. A group of instructional programs (see 30.0201).

- 30.0201 Clinical Pastoral Care. An instructional program that describes the methods, theories, and techniques of providing care and counseling through the relationship of theology to the practice of the ministry.
- 30.03 Engineering and Other Disciplines. A group of instructional programs (see 30.0301).
- 30.0301 Engineering and Other Disciplines. An instructional program that describes either a general synthesis of one or more of the engineering and other disciplines (for example, engineering and mathematics, or engineering and physics), or a specialization which draws from engineering and other disciplines.
- 30.04 Humanities and Social Sciences. A group of instructional programs (see 30.0401).
- 30.0401 Humanities and Social Sciences. An instructional program that describes either a general synthesis of one or more of the humanities and social sciences or a specialization which draws from humanities and social sciences (for example, behavioral science, classical civilization, or human development).
- 30.05 Peace Studies. A group of instructional programs (see 30.0501).
- 30.0501 Peace Studies. An instructional program that describes the peace development process including the analysis of peace and war systems, dispute settlement techniques, social movements, working for creative change, world order studies, and conflict analysis and regulation.
- 30.06 Systems Science. A group of instructional programs (see 30.0601).
- 30.0601 Systems Science. An instructional program that describes a multidisciplinary approach to the study of innate complexity which by synthesizing systemic findings from the natural, social, technological, behavioral and life sciences, and other specialized fields brings holistic perspectives to the solution of problems within a general context.
- 30.07 Women's Studies. A group of instructional programs (see 30.0701).
- 30.0701 Women's Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of women.
- 30.08 Mathematics and Computer Science. A group of instructional programs (see 30.0801).
- 30.0801 Mathematics and Computer Science. An instructional program that describes a general synthesis of mathematics and computer science or a specialization which draws from mathematics or computer science, e.g., operations research.
- 30.09 Imaging Science. A group of instructional programs (see 30.0901).
- 30.0901 Imaging Science. An instructional program that describes an interdisciplinary study involving engineering, computer technology, and the graphic arts and sciences related to the generation, manipulation, analysis, delivery, and effect of visual images processed primarily through electronic means.
- 30.99 Multi/Interdisciplinary Studies, Other. A group of instructional programs in multi/interdisciplinary studies not described above.

30.9999 Multi/Interdisciplinary Studies, Other. Any instructional program in multi/interdisciplinary studies not described above.

31. Parks and Recreation. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the principles and procedures of providing parks and recreational facilities and services for the benefit of the general public.
- 31.01 Parks and Recreation, General. A group of instructional programs (see 31.0101).
- 31.0101 Parks and Recreation, General. An instructional program that generally describes the principles and procedures of providing parks and recreational facilities and services for the benefit of the general public.
- 31.02 Outdoor Recreation. A group of instructional programs (see 31.0201).
- 31.03 Parks and Recreation Management. A group of instructional programs (see 31.0301).
- 31.0301 Parks and Recreation Management. An instructional program that prepares individuals to plan and maintain recreational facilities and programs for public or private agencies.
- 31.04 Water Resources. A group of instructional programs (see 31.0401).
- 31.0401 Water Resources. An instructional program that describes the physical, biological, and social sciences, and the practices which are essential to the understanding and management of water resources for optimum yield and use, as well as conservation.
- 31.99 Parks and Recreation, Other. A group of instructional programs in parks and recreation not described above.
- 31.9999 Parks and Recreation, Other. Any instructional program in parks and recreation not described above.
32. Basic Skills. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the fundamental skills a person is normally thought to need in order to function productively in society.
- 32.01 Basic Skills. A group of instructional programs that describe the fundamental skills a person is normally thought to need in order to function productively in society.
- 32.0101 Basic Skills, General. An instructional program that generally describes the fundamental skills a person is normally thought to need in order to function productively in society.
- 32.0102 Academic and Intellectual Skills. An instructional program that describes the ability to reason through analytical and logical thinking.
- 32.0103 Communication Skills. An instructional program that describes the development of reading, writing, and speaking abilities that are needed to perform day-to-day tasks and which form the basis of later learning and achievement.
- 32.0104 Computational Skills. An instructional program that describes the development of mathematical abilities that are needed to perform day-to-day tasks and which form the basis of later learning and achievement.

- 32.0105 Job-Seeking/Changing Skills. An instructional program that describes the development of skills that are generally needed in order to obtain a job: how to assess one's own capabilities and skills, how to find and use information sources on job openings, how to fill out an application, and how to handle an interview.
- 32.0106 Motor Skills. An instructional program that describes the enhancement of muscular development and coordination.
- 32.0107 Career Exploration. An instructional program that describes possible occupations, the means for preparing for them, and the techniques for getting hired.
- 32.0199 Basic Skills, Other. Any instructional program in basic skills not described above.

33. Citizenship/Civic Activities. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe how individuals can facilitate governmental functions and contribute to the well-being of their community through civic action.

- 33.01 Citizenship/Civic Activities. A group of instructional programs that describes how individuals can facilitate governmental functions and contribute to the well-being of their community through civic action.
 - 33.0101 Citizenship/Civic Activities, General. An instructional program that generally describes how individuals can facilitate governmental functions and contribute to the well-being of their community through civic action.
 - 33.0102 American Citizenship. An instructional program that describes the improvement of an individual's capacity to understand and function as a citizen through a general understanding of the basic principles of American government, voting rights, and so forth.
 - 33.0103 Civic Appreciation. An instructional program that describes an increased awareness of an individual's community through understanding local government and history.
 - 33.0104 Civic Participation. An instructional program that describes the improvement of an individual's capacity to actively participate within the community in specific voluntary functions such as being an election official.
 - 33.0199 Citizenship/Civic Activities, Other. Any instructional program in citizenship/civic activities not described above.

34. Health-Related Activities. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the promotion of the health of individuals.

- 34.01 Health-Related Activities. A group of instructional programs that describe the promotion of the health of individuals.
 - 34.0101 Health-Related Activities, General. A group of instructional programs that generally describes the promotion of the health of individuals.
 - 34.0102 Birth-Related Health Practices. An instructional program that describes all facets of childbirth including pre- and post-natal care, care of the newborn, and family planning techniques.

- 34.0103 Health Enhancement Practices. An instructional program that describes the principles, techniques, and methods by which individuals can improve their overall physical and emotional well-being.
 - 34.0104 Health Treatment/Prevention Practices. An instructional program that describes the principles, techniques, and methods by which individuals can improve or maintain their current physical well-being or focus on a specialized area of health care such as weight loss or stress management.
 - 34.0199 Health-Related Activities, Other. Any instructional program in health-related activities not described above.
35. Interpersonal Skills. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe how to effectively live and interact with others, social organization, being a congenial friend and companion, establishing courses of action for others, and influencing others to follow.
- 35.01 Interpersonal Skills. A group of instructional programs that describe how to effectively live and interact with others, social organization, being a congenial friend and companion, establishing courses of action for others, and influencing others to follow.
 - 35.0101 Interpersonal Skills, General. An instructional program that generally describes how to effectively live and interact with others, social organization, being a congenial friend and companion, establishing courses of action for others, and influencing others to follow.
 - 35.0102 Building Human Relationships. An instructional program that describes how to increase one's ability to establish and develop mutually satisfactory ties with other human beings.
 - 35.0103 Perception of Others. An instructional program that describes how to elevate an individual's awareness and capacity to interact with others.
 - 35.0104 Social Role Engineering. An instructional program that describes how to increase one's ability to understand and cope with others in specific roles or groups in society.
 - 35.0199 Interpersonal Skills, Other. Any instructional program in interpersonal skills not described above.
36. Leisure and Recreational Activities. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the development of an appreciation for and competency in recreational and leisure-related activities.
- 36.01 Leisure and Recreational Activities. A group of instructional programs that describe the development of an appreciation for and competency in recreational and leisure-related activities.
 - 36.0101 Leisure and Recreational Activities, General. An instructional program that generally describes the development of an appreciation for and competency in recreational and leisure-related activities.
 - 36.0102 Crafts (Leisure and Recreational). An instructional program that describes how to increase one's skills to fashion objects in a specialized area of handwork.

- 36.0103 Games. An instructional program that describes how to increase one's ability to engage in specialized activities for amusement or pleasure.
 - 36.0104 Hobbies. An instructional program that describes how to increase one's interest in a specialized area as a recreational pursuit.
 - 36.0105 Housing/Home Maintenance. An instructional program that describes how to improve an individual's capacity to perform home repairs and maintenance as well as to acquire additional skills to construct or remodel a home.
 - 36.0106 Nature Appreciation. An instructional program that describes how to increase one's understanding and knowledge of the natural environment in which we live.
 - 36.0107 Pet Care. An instructional program that describes how to increase one's ability to care for domesticated animals kept for pleasure.
 - 36.0108 Sports/Physical Education. An instructional program that describes how to increase one's ability to engage in a particular recreational activity that generally requires physical exertion.
 - 36.0109 Travel. An instructional program that describes a particular area through an organized trip or tour or increases an individual's ability to undertake a journey.
 - 36.0199 Leisure and Recreational Activities, Other. Any instructional program in leisure and recreational activities not described above.
37. Personal Awareness. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe a person's self-perception, values, attitudes, beliefs, and emotional responses.
- 37.01 Personal Awareness. A group of instructional programs that describe a person's self-perception, values, attitudes, beliefs, and emotional responses.
 - 37.0101 Personal Awareness, General. A group of instructional programs that generally describes a person's self-perception, values, attitudes, beliefs, and emotional responses.
 - 37.0102 Coping Skills. An instructional program that describes how to develop individuals' abilities to assess decisions affecting their lives and to make life choices consistent with needs and beliefs.
 - 37.0103 Personal Decisionmaking. An instructional program that describes how to develop individuals' abilities to assess decisions affecting their lives and to make life choices consistent with needs and beliefs.
 - 37.0104 Self-Perception. An instructional program that describes how to develop, clarify, or modify the views a person holds about one's self.
 - 37.0105 Values, Attitudes, and Beliefs. An instructional program that describes how to examine, evaluate, or modify the basic tenets and behavior patterns on the basis of which people conduct their lives.
 - 37.0199 Personal Awareness, Other. Any instructional program in personnel skills not described above.
38. Philosophy and Religion. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the critical examination of the categories for describing reality, the nature and contexts of human experience, the methodology of rational inquiry and criteria of practice (philosophy); and the investigation of organized forms, beliefs, and practices related to eternal principles or transcendent spiritual entities (religion).

38.01 Philosophy. A group of instructional programs (see 38.0101).

38.0101 Philosophy. An instructional program that describes the basic truths and principles of being, knowledge, or conduct in such fields as ethics, metaphysics, and logic.

38.02 Religion. A group of instructional programs (see 38.0201).

38.0201 Religion. An instructional program that describes the origins, histories, organized forms, beliefs, worship, and practices of specific religions.

38.9999 Philosophy and Religion, Other. Any instructional program in philosophy and religion not described above.

39. Theology. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the practice and application of theological principles and procedures as they apply to the planning, managing, and organizing of religious activities.

39.01 Biblical Languages. A group of instructional programs (see 39.0101).

39.02 Bible Studies. A group of instructional programs (see 39.0201).

39.0201 Bible Studies. An instructional program that describes the ways in which the Bible has been interpreted and utilized in the continuing evolution of religious traditions.

39.03 Missionary Studies. A group of instructional programs (see 39.0301).

39.04 Religious Education. A group of instructional programs (see 39.0401).

39.05 Religious Music. A group of instructional programs (see 39.0501).

39.0501 Religious Music. An instructional program that describes the study of the history, theory, composition, and performance of music for religious or sacred purposes.

39.06 Theological Studies. A group of instructional programs (see 39.0601).

- 39.0601 Theological Studies. An instructional program that describes the relationship of theology to the practice of the ministry and all of its associated aspects.
- 39.99 Theology, Other. A group of instructional programs in theology not described above.
- 39.9999 Theology, Other. Any instructional program in theology not described above.
40. Physical Sciences. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe inanimate objects, processes of matter, energy, and associated phenomena.
- 40.01 Physical Sciences. A group of instructional programs (see 40.0101).
- 40.0101 Physical Sciences, General. An instructional program that generally describes the major topics, concepts, processes, and interrelationships of nonliving matter and associated phenomena.
- 40.02 Astronomy. A group of instructional programs (see 40.0201).
- 40.0201 Astronomy. An instructional program that describes matter and energy in the universe, including the solar system, stars, galaxies, and nebulae.
- 40.03 Astrophysics. A group of instructional programs (see 40.0301).
- 40.0301 Astrophysics. An instructional program that describes the physical and chemical composition of celestial bodies, and of the interactions between matter and radiation within celestial bodies and in interstellar space.
- 40.04 Atmospheric Sciences and Meteorology. A group of instructional programs (see 40.0401).
- 40.0401 Atmospheric Sciences and Meteorology. An instructional program that describes the chemical and physical properties of the mass of air surrounding the earth, and weather, including air masses and their motions, temperature, atmospheric pressure, clouds, and precipitation, and their relatively short-term interrelation on local, regional, and global scales.
- 40.05 Chemistry. A group of instructional programs that describe the micro and macro structure of matter, of the changes matter undergoes, of the energy involved in these changes, and of the models that interpret and the theories and laws that describe these phenomena.
- 40.0501 Chemistry, General. A group of instructional programs that generally describes the micro and macro structure of matter, of the changes matter undergoes, of the energy involved in these changes, and of the models that interpret and the theories and laws that describe these phenomena.
- 40.0502 Analytical Chemistry. An instructional program that describes the chemical and physical methods and techniques needed to qualitatively, quantitatively, and often structurally characterize a sample, including the proper procedures for obtaining representative samples for analyses and the statistical procedures for evaluating the precision and accuracy of the results.
- 40.0503 Inorganic Chemistry. An instructional program that describes all the elements and their compounds, including the isolation, compositions, structures, physical and spectroscopic properties, syntheses, energy relationships, and chemical transformations of these substances, but excluding the hydrocarbons and most of their derivatives.

- 40.0504 Organic Chemistry. An instructional program that describes the hydrocarbons and their derivatives, either synthetic or produced by living organisms, including the isolation, compositions, structures, physical and spectroscopic properties, syntheses, energy relationships, and chemical transformations of these substances.
- 40.0505 Pharmaceutical Chemistry. An instructional program that describes the chemical and physical properties of organic and inorganic compounds which have medical or pharmaceutical uses, including the synthesis of organic drugs and inorganic pharmaceutical chemistry.
- 40.0506 Physical Chemistry. An instructional program that describes the theoretical and experimental investigation of matter, with emphasis on the most fundamental aspects of structure and bonding, and the relationships to the mechanisms and energy changes of transformation.
- 40.0599 Chemistry, Other. Any instructional program in chemistry not described above.
- 40.06 Geological Sciences. A group of instructional programs that describe the history of the earth and other celestial bodies; especially as recorded in rocks.
- 40.0601 Geology. An instructional program that describes the earth and other celestial bodies, including their composition, structure, history, and related changes.
- 40.0602 Geochemistry. An instructional program that describes the chemical composition, structure, and reaction of earth materials.
- 40.0603 Geophysics and Seismology. An instructional program that describes the effects of physical phenomena on the earth, earthquakes, and artificially produced vibrations in the earth.
- 40.0604 Paleontology. An instructional program that describes the fossil evidences of prehistorical life.
- 40.0699 Geological Sciences, Other. Any instructional program in geological sciences not described above.
- 40.07 Miscellaneous Physical Sciences. A group of instructional programs that describe specialized areas of the physical sciences not in the other physical sciences groupings.
- 40.0701 Metallurgy. An instructional program that describes the chemical and physical properties of metals.
- 40.0702 Oceanography. An instructional program that describes the ocean and its phenomena, including the physical and chemical properties of water; the topography and composition of the ocean bottom; waves, currents, and tides; and the formation of islands.
- 40.0703 Earth Science. An instructional program that generally describes the origin and structure of the earth.
- 40.0799 Miscellaneous Physical Sciences, Other. Any instructional program in miscellaneous physical sciences not described above.

- 40.08 Physics. A group of instructional programs that describe the physical properties and interactions of matter and energy, including equilibrium, power, wave phenomena, mechanics, heat, electricity, magnetism, sound, light, special relativity, and the particular nature of matter.
- 40.0801 Physics, General. An instructional program that generally describes the physical properties and interactions of matter and energy, including equilibrium, power, wave phenomena, mechanics, heat, electricity, magnetism, sound, light, special relativity, and the particular nature of matter.
- 40.0802 Atomic/Molecular Physics. An instructional program that describes the properties and behavior of matter on the smallest scale at which chemical elements can be identified.
- 40.0806 Nuclear Physics. An instructional program that describes the intrinsic properties of nucleons and the nucleon- nucleon interaction, nuclear models, and nuclear reactions.
- 40.0807 Optics. An instructional program that describes the nature and propagation of light.
- 40.0808 Solid State Physics. An instructional program that describes the electrical, magnetic thermal, and optical properties and processes within solids, including theories of conduction of metals, semiconductors, and crystals.
- 40.0899 Physics, Other. Any instructional program in physics not described above.
- 40.09 Planetary Science. A group of instructional programs (see 40.0901).
- 40.0901 Planetary Science. An instructional program that describes the geology of planets other than the earth.
- 40.99 Physical Sciences, Other. A group of instructional programs in the physical sciences not described above.
- 40.9999 Physical Sciences, Other. Any instructional program in physical sciences not described above.
41. Science Technologies. A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepare individuals to support and assist various scientists and engineers. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to the mechanical, mathematical, scientific, or technical aspects of various biological, physical, and nuclear sciences.
- 41.01 Biological Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to support and assist biologists in a variety of settings, including commercial, governmental, educational, or other research, biological or pharmaceutical laboratories.
- 41.0101 Biological Laboratory Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support biological scientists in commercial, governmental, educational, or other research, biological or pharmaceutical laboratories, or to assist teachers in biological-science classrooms or laboratory situations. Includes instruction in identification of biological and zoological specimens (both microorganisms and macroorganisms) and in preparing or processing specimens for biological-science research or operational procedures.

- 41.0102 Oceanographic (Biological) Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support marine biologists or oceanographers in collecting or identifying samples of marine organisms, invertebrates, or vertebrates; identifying them biologically; and determining the degree of normalcy or abnormalcy of the specimens. Includes instruction in the biology of marine organisms; processes and materials for collecting, identifying, preserving, dissecting, describing, staining, drawing, and labelling marine organisms found in oceans, lakes, rivers, and stream systems; the development, maintenance, and exploration of fisheries and marine plants; ecology; and the effective functioning on board all type of boats and ships.
- 41.0199 Biological Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in biological technologies not described above.
- 41.02 Nuclear Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to support professionals engaged in developing, manufacturing, testing, researching, maintaining, storing, and handling materials in the nuclear science and energy field. Includes instruction in nuclear physics, radioisotopes, nuclear instrumentation, and safety procedures.
- 41.0201 Nuclear Materials Handling Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support nuclear scientists and engineers in handling nuclear materials and in fabricating, labeling, packaging, and safely transporting nuclear fuel elements and radioactive nuclear power plant wastes. Includes instruction in nuclear radiation, design and fabrication of nuclear fuel elements, detection and intensity measurement of radioactivity, and related safety procedures.
- 41.0202 Nuclear Power Plant Operation Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to become licensed nuclear power plant operators. Includes instruction in radiology, radiation detection, design, control, materials, processes, material balances, equipment, piping systems, and instrumentation in the nuclear power plant, with emphasis on safety procedures and precautions.
- 41.0203 Nuclear Power Plant Radiation Control Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to detect radioactive materials, to measure intensity or level of radiation, to protect workers, and to decontaminate radioactive areas caused by spills, mishandled materials, or other unusual causes. Includes instruction in nuclear and radiation physics, detection and measurement of radioactive materials, mandated codes and permissible levels of radiation, calibration and use of detecting instruments, radiation by-products, and radioisotopes and their control.
- 41.0204 Radiologic (Physical) Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to use radioactive isotopes for industrial, commercial, and research purposes such as determining the flow of underground streams, measuring rainfall in areas remote from human habitation, nondestructive testing and inspection of materials, and continuous measurement of paper or metal thickness.
- 41.0299 Nuclear Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in nuclear technologies not described above.

41.03 Physical Science Technologies. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to support and assist physical scientists and others in related professions. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to the mechanical, scientific, or technical aspects of the physical sciences.

41.0301 Chemical Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support chemists in researching, piloting, controlling, directing and maintaining processing and quality control in the chemical manufacturing field. Includes instruction in material handling, crushing, grinding, and sizing; extraction, distillation, evaporation, drying, absorption, and heat transfer; and assisting in design installation and operation of pilot plants for chemical manufacturing processes.

41.0302 Geological Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support and assist geologists. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to the mechanical scientific, or technical aspects of geology.

41.0303 Metallurgical Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support professional personnel in the production of, quality control of, and research on metals. Includes instruction in conducting tests on the properties of metals; designing and developing pilot and production plans; developing, operating, and altering test procedures, processes, and equipment; and the analysis of data and preparation of reports.

41.0304 Meteorological Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist meteorologists or to work in the interpretation and presentation of weather information, based on reports from the National Weather Service or other sources. Includes instruction in the theory and applied science of meteorology and weather forecasting; methods, procedures, techniques, and practices used in identifying weather-making atmospheric phenomena; use of instruments for determining wind velocity, rainfall, temperature, and other meteorological conditions; the system for charting weather and the symbols for describing weather conditions; photography and photogrammetry as related to the identification of weather-making phenomena (as shown on weather satellite photographs); and making weather predictions on weather systems charted and observed at a given time.

41.0305 Oceanographic (Physical) Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to understand the specialized equipment, instruments, procedures, and techniques determining the depth, temperature, chemical composition, and rate and direction of flow of underwater currents in oceans, seas, or other major bodies of water; the construction and operation of devices used to make measurements of the characteristics of bodies of water, temperature gradients, chemical composition, and dynamics of water movement; and effectively function on board ship.

- 41.0399 Physical Science Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in physical science technologies not described above.
- 41.99 Science Technologies, Other. A group of instructional programs in science technologies not described above.
- 41.9999 Science Technologies, Other. Any instructional program in science technologies not described above.
42. Psychology. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the behavior and experience of people.
- 42.01 Psychology, General. A group of instructional programs (see 42.0101).
- 42.0101 Psychology, General. An instructional program that describes the behavior and experience of people.
- 42.02 Clinical Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see 42.0201).
- 42.0201 Clinical Psychology. An instructional program that describes the application of appropriate methods and theories selected from psychology and other fields as they relate to dealing with the troubled person.
- 42.03 Cognitive Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see 42.0301).
- 42.0301 Cognitive Psychology. An instructional program that describes the acquisition and recall of behaviors, and of the processes of learning activities, and of retaining them through time.
- 42.04 Community Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see 42.0401).
- 42.0401 Community Psychology. An instructional program that describes the theory and practice of using psychologists, and psychological facts in psychological work not in the academic, school, and clinical contexts, but rather in the broader social community, working with private and public organizations.
- 42.05 Comparative Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see (42.0501).
- 42.0501 Comparative Psychology. An instructional program that describes the behavior of members of particular species, and the relationship of the behaviors of the species to their evolutionary origins.
- 42.06 Counseling Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see (42.0601).
- 42.0601 Counseling Psychology. An instructional program that describes the theory and practice of systematically selecting the facts and theories of psychology with the intent of advising people about their problems.
- 42.07 Developmental Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see 42.0701).
- 42.0701 Developmental Psychology. An instructional program that describes progressive changes in the behavioral process of individuals as a function of aging through the life span, from conception to death.

- 42.08 Experimental Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see 42.0801).
- 42.0801 Experimental Psychology. An instructional program that describes the general body of methods, data, and laws that have been derived by scientific research, including theoretical and systematic points of view applicable to the prediction, control, and understanding of the behavior of individual humans and other species.
- 42.09 Industrial and Organizational Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see 42.0901).
- 42.0901 Industrial and Organizational Psychology. An instructional program that describes the application of psychological knowledge and methodology to specific work-related problems in industry and government.
- 42.10 Personality Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see 42.1001).
- 42.1001 Personality Psychology. An instructional program that describes the unique organization of the fairly permanent characteristics that set the individual apart from other individuals and, at the same time, determine how others respond to that person.
- 42.11 Physiological Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see 42.1101).
- 42.1101 Physiological Psychology. An instructional program that describes the processes that determine what actions will occur at a particular time, and the strength or precision with which those actions will occur.
- 42.12 Psycholinguistics. A group of instructional programs (see 42.1201).
- 42.1201 Psycholinguistics. An instructional program that describes the psychology of language, including the behavioral processes that enter into the generation of speech and writing, and the understanding of both spoken and written languages.
- 42.13 Psychometrics. A group of instructional programs (see 42.1301).
- 42.1301 Psychometrics. An instructional program that describes the mathematical and statistical procedures used in psychological test construction and validation, and of the general problems of the measurement of behavior.
- 42.14 Psychopharmacology. A group of instructional programs (see 42.1401).
- 42.1401 Psychopharmacology. An instructional program that describes the changes in behavior that occur as a function of drug-ingestion, and the psychological processes associated with such changes, including altered states of consciousness and addiction.
- 42.15 Quantitative Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see 42.1501).
- 42.1501 Quantitative Psychology. An instructional program that describes the application of mathematical and statistical models and methodology in psychology.

- 42.16 Social Psychology. A group of instructional programs (see 42.1601).
- 42.1601 Social Psychology. An instructional program that describes the behavior of the individual as a member of a group, and of the processes of associating individuals together.
- 42.99 Psychology, Other. A group of instructional programs in psychology not described above.
- 42.9999 Psychology, Other. Any instructional program in psychology not described above.
43. Protective Services. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the principles and procedures for providing police, fire, and other safety services, and for managing penal institutions.
- 43.01 Criminal Justice. A group of instructional programs that describe the principles and procedures of developing, administrating, and managing correctional, law enforcement, and forensic services.
- 43.0101 Correctional Administration. An instructional program that describes the theories and practices of structuring, managing, directing, and controlling agencies and organizations whose purpose it is to provide safety and correctional services.
- 43.0102 Corrections. An instructional program that describes the theories, principles, and techniques of developing, administrating, and managing services for the incarceration, behavior modification, rehabilitation, and returning of legal offenders to society.
- 43.0103 Criminal Justice Administration. An instructional program that describes the theories and practices of structuring, managing, directing, and controlling criminal justice agencies (e.g., the various judicial and administrative court systems).
- 43.0104 Criminal Justice Studies. An instructional program that generally describes the principles and procedures of developing, administrating, and managing correctional, law enforcement, and forensic services.
- 43.0105 Criminal Justice Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to work in a law enforcement agency, crime laboratory, mobile unit dealing with physical evidence, juvenile court, or correctional institution. Includes instruction in patrol and investigative activities; traffic control; using polygraph equipment; procedures for initial contact with the public in such matters as obtaining information, preparing reports, and testifying in court; techniques for collection, preparation, and transportation of physical evidence; methods of crime prevention; and methods for investigation and referral of neglected dependent children, delinquents, and youthful offenders.
- 43.0106 Forensic Studies. An instructional program that describes the theories, principles, and techniques of developing, administrating, and managing services for relating and applying medical facts to legal problems.

- 43.0107 Law Enforcement. An instructional program that describes the theories, principles, and techniques of developing, administering, and managing services for the safety and protection of people and property.
- 43.0108 Law Enforcement Administration. An instructional program that describes the theories and practices of structuring, managing, directing, and controlling agencies whose purposes are to provide law enforcement.
- 43.0109 Security Services. An instructional program that prepares individuals to police private property to prevent thievery, malicious damage, and dishonesty among employees or patrons, and to maintain order.
- 43.0199 Criminal Justice, Other. Any instructional program in criminal justice not described above.
- 43.02 Fire Protection. A group of instructional programs that describe the theories, principles, and techniques of developing, administering, and managing services for fire prevention, fire fighting, and rescue.
 - 43.0201 Fire Control and Safety Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to function as a fire control, prevention, and safety specialist. Includes instruction in structural design and materials; meteorological factors impinging upon fire situations; chemistry of combustion; techniques for coping with fires; procedures for handling hazardous materials (such as petroleum products, and other volatile, explosive, or corrosive materials) either routinely or in an accident situation; methods for inspection of equipment and its proper use; and methods for safety inspections of public and private property.
 - 43.0202 Fire Protection Administration. An instructional program that describes the theories, principles, and techniques of developing, administering, and managing services for fire prevention, fire fighting, and rescue.
 - 43.0203 Firefighting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to fight fires, and control the outbreak of fire. Includes instruction in fire department organization; the use of water and other materials in firefighting and various kinds of equipment such as extinguishers, pumps, hoses, ropes, ladders, gas masks, hydrants, and standpipe and sprinkler systems; entry and rescue and salvage practices and equipment; and fire and arson inspection and investigation techniques.
 - 43.0299 Fire Protection, Other. Any instructional program in fire protection not described above.
- 43.99 Protective Services, Other. A group of instructional programs in protective services not described above.
 - 43.9999 Protective Services, Other. Any instructional program in protective services not described above.
- 44. Public Affairs. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the formulation, implementation, administration, evaluation, and management of public policies and programs, including those services which are directed toward the betterment of economic and social conditions.

- 44.01 Public Affairs, General. A group of instructional programs (see 44.0101).
- 44.0101 Public Affairs, General. An instructional program that generally describes the formulation, implementation, administration, evaluation, and management of public policies and programs, including those services which are directed toward the betterment of economic and social conditions.
- 44.02 Community Services. A group of instructional programs (see 44.0201).
- 44.0201 Community Services. An instructional program that describes the theories, methods, and techniques of combining school and community resources to provide information, instruction, and recreation to all members of a community.
- 44.03 International Public Service. A group of instructional programs (see 44.0301).
- 44.0301 International Public Service. An instructional program that describes the principles and theories underlying the structure and processes of major international organizations, such as the United Nations and the Organization of American States.
- 44.04 Public Administration. A group of instructional programs (see 44.0401).
- 44.0401 Public Administration. An instructional program that describes the knowledge, skills, values, and behaviors involved in the formation of public policies and the management of public services.
- 44.05 Public Policy Studies. A group of instructional programs (see 44.0501).
- 44.0501 Public Policy Studies. An instructional program that describes the principles and techniques by which systematic judgments and evaluative assessments are made with respect to public policy.
- 44.06 Public Works. A group of instructional programs that describe the role of the government in constructing, maintaining and providing structures and utilities for use by the general public.
- 44.0601 Public Sanitation. An instructional program that describes the theories, techniques, planning, and development of provisions for the maintenance of the health and welfare of the general public.
- 44.0602 Public Transportation. An instructional program that describes the theories, techniques, planning, and development of facilities and systems for transporting people and goods.
- 44.0603 Public Utilities. An instructional program that describes the theories, techniques, planning, and development of services such as electricity, waste removal, water, power, and transportation, which are owned and operated, or regulated by governmental agencies, on behalf of the general public.
- 44.0604 Public Works, Other. Any instructional program in public works not described above.
- 44.07 Social Work. A group of instructional programs that describe the social interventions that enhance, conserve, and augment the means by which persons, individually or collectively, can solve disruptions in their social existence.

- 44.0701 Social Work, General. An instructional program that generally describes the social interventions that enhance, conserve, and augment the means by which persons, individually or collectively, can solve disruptions in their social existence.
- 44.0702 Medical Social Work. An instructional program that describes how to remedy social problems that relate specifically to health conditions, such as mental health and mental retardation, physical health, chemical dependency, and other conditions that generally occur in health care settings.
- 44.0799 Social Work, Other. Any instructional program in social work not described above.
- 44.99 Public Affairs, Other. A group of instructional programs in public affairs not described above.
- 44.9999 Public Affairs, Other. Any instructional program in public affairs not described above.
- 45. Social Sciences. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the substantive portions of behavior, past and present activities, interactions, and organizations of people associated together for religious, benevolent, cultural, scientific, political, patriotic, or other purposes.
 - 45.01 Social Sciences, General. A group of instructional programs (see 45.0101).
 - 45.0501 Social Sciences, General. An instructional program that generally describes the major principles and perspectives of social sciences.
 - 45.02 Anthropology. A group of instructional programs (see 45.0201).
 - 45.0201 Anthropology. An instructional program that describes the historic and prehistoric origins of man, his physical and cultural development, racial characteristics, social customs, and beliefs.
 - 45.03 Archeology. A group of instructional programs (see 45.0301).
 - 45.0301 Archeology. An instructional program that describes historic and prehistoric peoples and their cultures through the scientific analysis of their artifacts, inscriptions, monuments, and other remains.
 - 45.0302 Archeological Technology. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support and assist archeologists. Programs stress specialized, practical knowledge related to site location and recording, excavation, artifact cataloging and elementary analysis for cultural resource management.
 - 45.04 Criminology. A group of instructional programs (see 45.0401).
 - 45.0401 Criminology. An instructional program that describes the causes of crime and the methods of detecting and dealing with crime and the criminal, including crime statistics, theories of punishment, and the role of law enforcement in society as an agent for the prevention and treatment of crime.
 - 45.05 Demography. A group of instructional programs (see 45.0501).

- 45.0501 Demography. An instructional program that describes the vital social statistics, including births, deaths, diseases, marriages, and education rates of populations.
- 45.06 Economics. A group of instructional programs (see 45.0601).
- 45.0601 Economics. An instructional program that describes the transformation of limited resources into goods and services which, upon distribution, are again transformed by consumption to yield satisfaction of human wants.
- 45.07 Geography. A group of instructional programs (see 45.0701).
- 45.0701 Geography. An instructional program that describes the earth and its life; the land, sea, and air; and the distribution of plant and animal life, human beings, and industries.
- 45.08 History. A group of instructional programs (see 45.0801).
- 45.0801 History. An instructional program that describes the past, including the recording, gathering, criticizing, synthesizing, and interpreting evidence about past events.
- 45.09 International Relations. A group of instructional programs (see 45.0901).
- 45.0901 International Relations. An instructional program that describes the agencies, operations, and principles involved in communication and interaction among nations, with emphasis upon the relationship between political subdivisions and governments.
- 45.10 Political Science and Government. A group of instructional programs (see 45.1001).
- 45.1001 Political Science and Government. An instructional program that describes and analyzes political institutions and processes, including the origin, development, geographical units, forms, sources of authority, powers, purposes, functions, and operations of government.
- 45.11 Sociology. A group of instructional programs (see 45.1101).
- 45.1101 Sociology. An instructional program that describes the human society, social institutions, and social relationships, including the development, purposes, structures, and functions of human groups.
- 45.12 Urban Studies. A group of instructional programs (see 45.1201).
- 45.1201 Urban Studies. An instructional program that describes the history, society, politics, culture, and economics of urban areas.
- 45.99 Social Sciences, Other. A group instructional programs in social sciences not described above.
- 45.9999 Social Sciences, Other. Any instructional program in social sciences not described above.
46. Construction Trades. A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepare individuals to erect, install, maintain, and repair buildings, highways, airports, missile sites, and other structures using materials such as metal, wood, stone, brick, glass, concrete, and composition substances. Includes instruction in cost estimating; cutting, fastening, and fitting various materials; the use of hand and power tools; and in following technical specifications and blueprints.

- 46.01 Brickmasonry, Stonemasonry, and Tile Setting. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to lay brick, concrete block, hard tile, marble and related materials, using trowels, levels, hammers, chisels, and other handtools.
- 46.0101 Brickmasonry, Stonemasonry, and Tile Setting, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to lay brick, concrete block, hard tile, marble and related materials, using trowels, levels, hammers, chisels, and other handtools.
- 46.0102 Brick, Block, and Stonemasonry. An instructional program that prepares individuals to lay bricks and/or blocks. Includes instruction in laying out and/or spacing bonds; determining vertical and horizontal alignment of courses using gauges, plumb-bobs, and levels; and cutting, notching, and shaping blocks, bricks, terra-cotta veneer, glass, and stone to construct or repair walls, partitions, arches, sewers, and fireplaces.
- 46.0103 Tile Setting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to apply tile to walls, floors, ceilings, and roof decks. Includes instruction in fastening lath to walls; spreading plaster and/or concrete; leveling; spreading mastic or adhesive base; and in cutting, shaping, and positioning tile.
- 46.0199 Brickmasonry, Stonemasonry, and Tile Setting, Other. Any instructional program in brickmasonry, stonemasonry, and tile setting not described above.
- 46.02 Carpentry. A group of instructional programs (see 46.0201).
- 46.0201 Carpentry. An instructional program that prepares individuals to lay out, fabricate, erect, install, and repair structures and fixtures, using hand and power tools. Includes instruction in common systems of framing, construction materials, estimating, and blueprint reading.
- 46.03 Electrical and Power Transmission Installation. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to install, operate, maintain, and repair residential, commercial, and industrial electrical systems, and the power lines that transmit electricity from its source of generation to its place of consumption.
- 46.0301 Electrical and Power Transmission Installation, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to install, operate, maintain, and repair residential, commercial, and industrial electrical systems, and the power lines that transmit electricity from its source of generation to its place of consumption.
- 46.0302 Electrician. An instructional program that prepares individuals to install, operate, maintain, and repair electrically-energized systems such as residential, commercial, and industrial electric-power wiring, and D.C. and A.C. motors, controls, and electrical-distribution panels. Includes instruction in the use of test equipment.
- 46.0303 Lineworker. An instructional program that prepares individuals to install, operate, maintain local, long- distance, and rural lines; erect and construct pole and tower lines; and install underground lines.

- 46.0399 Electrical and Power Transmission Installation, Other. Any instructional program in electrical and power transmission installation not described above.
- 46.04 Miscellaneous Construction Trades and Property Maintenance. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals for construction trades other than those described under other groupings in the construction trades category.
- 46.0401 Building and Property Maintenance. An instructional program that prepares individuals to keep a building functioning; and service a variety of structures including commercial and industrial buildings and mobile homes. Includes instruction in the basic maintenance and repair skills related to the air conditioning, heating, plumbing, electrical, and other mechanical systems.
- 46.0402 Concrete Placing and Finishing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to construct forms; cut, erect, and fasten steel reinforcing bars wire mesh; compact concrete by hand or with pneumatic vibrators; and finish exposed surfaces during hardening and after forms have been removed. Includes instruction in the use of chemical additives, and in hand and power concrete-handling equipment.
- 46.0403 Construction Inspection. An instructional program that prepares individuals to inspect and oversee construction of bridges, buildings, dams, highways, and other types of construction work to ensure that procedures and materials comply with plans and specifications.
- 46.0404 Drywall Installation. An instructional program that prepares individuals to install wallboard, plasterboard, or other interior surfaces in structures.
- 46.0405 Floor Covering Installation. An instructional program that prepares individuals to test and repair subfloors and to install resilient tile, sheet goods, or carpeting. Includes instruction installing underlayments; cutting, fitting, and gluing lining; tacking, stapling, or taping padding; planning, laying out, fitting and installing resilient flooring by gluing or loose-lay methods; installing cover bases, self covering and carpet fasteners; trimming and seaming carpet; and installing stair treads, risers, and countertops.
- 46.0406 Glazing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to prepare, fit, and install glass in structural openings such as windows, doors, and partitions or in display cases and table tops.
- 46.0407 Insulation Installation. An instructional program that prepares individuals to install batt, blanket, board, loose fill, and other forms of insulation in residential, commercial, and industrial buildings in order to heat and cool interiors in energy-efficient ways.
- 46.0408 Painting and Decorating. An instructional program that prepares individuals to finish exterior and interior surfaces by applying protective or decorative coating materials, such as paint, lacquer, and wallpaper. Includes instruction in scraping, burning, or sanding surfaces; making, mixing, and matching paint colors, applying coating with brush, roller, or spray gun; and cutting, pasting, and hanging wallpaper.

- 46.0409 Plastering. An instructional program that prepares individuals to apply plaster, stucco, and similar materials to interior and exterior surfaces. Includes instruction in lathing and in surface preparation, smoothing, and finishing.
- 46.0410 Roofing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to cover roofs and exterior walls of structures with waterproofing or insulating materials, such as asphalt, aluminum, slate, wood, and related composition materials.
- 46.0499 Miscellaneous Construction Trades and Property Maintenance, Other. Any instructional program in miscellaneous construction trades not described above.
- 46.05 Plumbing, Pipefitting, and Steamfitting. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to lay out, assemble, install, and maintain piping fixtures, and piping systems for steam, hot water, heating, cooling, drainage, lubricating, sprinkling, and industrial processing systems. Includes instruction in material selection and use of tools to cut, bend, join, and weld pipes.
- 46.0501 Plumbing, Pipefitting, and Steamfitting, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to lay out, assemble, install, and maintain piping fixtures, and piping systems for steam, hot water, heating, cooling, drainage, lubricating, sprinkling, and industrial processing systems. Includes instruction in material selection and use of tools to cut, bend, join, and weld pipes.
- 46.0502 Pipefitting and Steamfitting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to lay out, fabricate, assemble, install, and maintain piping and piping systems, fixtures, and equipment for steam, hot water, heating, cooling, lubricating, sprinkling, and industrial processing systems, on the basis of knowledge of systems operation and the study of building plans or working drawings.
- 46.0503 Plumbing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assemble, install, and repair pipes, fittings, and fixtures of heating, water, and drainage systems, according to specifications and plumbing codes.
- 46.0599 Plumbing, Pipefitting, and Steamfitting, Other. Any instructional program in plumbing, pipefitting, and steamfitting not described above.
- 46.99 Construction Trades, Other. A group of instructional programs in construction trades not described above.
- 46.9999 Construction Trades, Other. Any instructional program in construction trades not described above.
47. Mechanics and Repairers. A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepare individuals in the adjustment, maintenance, part replacement, and repair of tools, equipment, and machines.
- 47.01 Electrical and Electronics Equipment Repair. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to operate, maintain, and repair business machines, communications equipment, major and small appliances, commercial vending machines, and related equipment. Includes instruction in electrical circuitry, simple gearing, linkages and lubrication of machines and appliances, and the use of testing equipment.

- 47.0101 Electrical and Electronics Equipment Repair, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to operate, maintain, and repair business machines, communications equipment, major and small appliances, commercial vending machines, and related equipment. Includes instruction in electrical circuitry, simple gearing, linkages and lubrication of machines and appliances, and the use of testing equipment.
- 47.0102 Business Machine Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to maintain and repair a variety of offices machines, such as electric-memory typewriters, word processing and dictation machines, calculators, data-processing equipment, duplicating machines, and mailing machines. Includes instruction in diagnostic techniques, the use of testing equipment, and the principles of mechanics, electricity, and electronics as they relate to the repair of business machines.
- 47.0103 Communication Electronics. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assemble, install, operate, maintain, and repair one- and two-way communications equipment and systems, such as TV cable systems, mobile communication devices (phones and radios), fiber optics, and other electronic communication devices, or systems. Includes instruction in using actual equipment or educational trainers, in various types of equipment, motors, mechanical devices, power suppliers, amplifiers, and digital circuitry; the use of testing equipment; and Federal Communications Commission (FCC) licensing requirements.
- 47.0104 Computer Electronics. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assemble, install, operate, maintain, and repair computers and digital-control instruments. Includes instruction in power supplies, number systems, gating logic A-to-D and D-to-A counters, displays, timing circuitry, memory structure, address modes, buffers and registers, microprocessor design, peripheral equipment, programming, and interfacing, including the use of testing equipment and various computer electronic applications.
- 47.0105 Industrial Electronics. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assemble, install, operate, maintain, and repair electrical/electronic equipment used in industry and manufacturing. Includes instruction in using actual equipment, in various types of equipment such as power supplied, amplifiers, motors, controls, digital and computer circuitry, synchro and servomechanisms, mechanical-power-transfer systems, pneumatics, hydraulic systems, and three-phase A.C., electronic wave-shaping, and control circuitry.
- 47.0106 Major Appliance Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to repair, install, service major gas, electric, and microwave consumer appliances such as stoves, refrigerators, dryers, water heaters, washers, dishwashers, and commercial units such as ice makers and coffee makers.
- 47.0107 Motor Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assemble, install, test, maintain, and repair electric motors, generators, transformers, and related equipment.
- 47.0108 Small Appliance Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to repair, maintain, and service small appliances such as irons, toasters, waste disposal units, vacuum cleaners, coffee makers, and dehumidifiers.

- 47.0109 Vending and Recreational Machine Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to install, service, adjust, and repair coin vending and recreational machines; verify by observation that machines are functioning properly; perform tests on ice-making, refrigeration, carbonation, and evaporation systems; dispensing, electrical and coin handling systems; and identify and correct malfunctions, including replacing worn or defective electrical and/or mechanical parts using hand and power tools. Includes instruction in refinishing units, transporting units to location, and connecting water or electric lines.
- 47.0199 Electrical and Electronics Equipment Repair, Other. Any instructional program in electrical and electronics equipment repair not described above.
- 47.02 Heating, Air Conditioning, and Refrigeration Mechanics. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to install, repair, and maintain the operating condition of heating, air conditioning, and refrigeration systems.
- 47.0201 Heating, Air Conditioning, and Refrigeration Mechanics, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to install, repair, and maintain the operating condition of heating, air conditioning, and refrigeration systems.
- 47.0202 Cooling and Refrigeration. An instructional program that prepares individuals to install, operate, test and service cooling and refrigeration systems. Includes instruction in various types of systems, control devices, thermic units, and refrigerators.
- 47.0203 Heating and Air Conditioning. An instructional program that prepares individuals to install, operate, test, repair and maintain commercial and domestic heating and air conditioning systems.
- 47.0299 Heating, Air Conditioning, and Refrigeration Mechanics, Other. Any instructional program in heating, air conditioning, and refrigeration systems not described above.
- 47.03 Industrial Equipment Maintenance and Repair. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to operate, maintain, and repair heavy-duty equipment such as bulldozers, cranes, graders, tractors, trailers, concrete mixers, crawler-mounted shovels, draglines, and compressors.
- 47.0301 Industrial Equipment Maintenance and Repair, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to operate, maintain, and repair heavy-duty equipment such as bulldozers, cranes, graders, tractors, trailers, concrete mixers, crawler-mounted shovels, draglines, and compressors.
- 47.0302 Heavy Equipment Maintenance and Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals in the field maintenance of heavy equipment, and in general maintenance and overhaul of such equipment. Includes instruction in inspection, maintenance, and repair of tracks, wheels, brakes, operating controls, pneumatic and hydraulic systems, electrical circuitry, engines, and in techniques of welding and brazing.
- 47.0303 Industrial Machinery Maintenance and Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to repair and maintain industrial machinery and equipment such as cranes, pumps, engines and motors, pneumatic tools, conveyor systems, production machinery, marine deck machinery, and steam propulsion, refinery, and pipeline-distribution systems.

- 47.0304 Mine Equipment Maintenance and Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to maintain, repair, and adjust mining equipment and machinery such as continuous mines, shuttle cars, air compressors, and haulage equipment. Includes instruction in testing, adjusting, and repairing pneumatic and hydraulic systems; attaching supplemental equipment such as hoses, valves, gates, vibration equipment, and mechanical, electrical, or electronic control devices; and repairing, maintaining, and installing electric motors, switchboards, controls, fans, and starting devices.
- 47.0305 Oil and Gas Drilling Equipment Operation and Maintenance. An instructional program that prepares individuals to engage in oil- and gas-well drilling activities. Includes instruction in drilling, transmission, and pumping of liquids and gases; rigging; and maintenance of drilling equipment.
- 47.0399 Industrial Equipment Maintenance and Repair, Other. Any instructional program in industrial equipment maintenance and repair not described above.
- 47.04 Miscellaneous Mechanics and Repair. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals for mechanic and repairer occupations other than those described under the headings of electrical and electronics equipment repair; heating, air conditioning, and refrigeration mechanics; industrial equipment maintenance and repair; stationery energy sources; and vehicle and mobile equipment mechanics and repair.
- 47.0401 Electromechanical, Hydraulic, and Pneumatic Instrument Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to maintain and repair various types of meters, measuring devices, and control devices such as heating and air conditioning controls; dial pressure gauges; scales and balances; electrical controlling measuring, and recording devices; and optical, aeronautical, and navigational instruments. Includes instruction in diagnosing malfunctions; disassembling, repairing, and/or replacing faulty parts; and cleaning, assembling, and adjusting instruments using special bench tools, hand tools, and other meters and standards.
- 47.0402 Gunsmithing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to repair and modify firearms according to blueprints or customer specifications, using specialized hand tools and machines. Includes instruction in installing such parts as metallic or optical sights, pistol grips, recoil pads, and decorative pieces and in reboring, rebroaching, grinding, polishing, bluing, fabricating, and finishing wooden stocks. Programs may prepare individuals to design new guns and to calculate detailed firearm specifications, such as bullet-flight arc and sight position.
- 47.0403 Locksmithing and Safe Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to repair and open locks, make keys, change lock and safe combinations, and install and repair safes.
- 47.0404 Musical Instrument Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to maintain, repair, and tune acoustic and electric musical instruments. Includes instruction in amplification systems of electric instruments, techniques of cleaning, and methods of tuning musical instruments.
- 47.0405 Operation, Maintenance, and Repair of Audio-Visual Equipment. An instructional program that prepares individuals to operate and repair overhead projectors, slide projectors, silent and sound motion picture projectors, video cameras, video recorders, sound- reproduction equipment and sound-producing equipment.

- 47.0407 Sporting Goods Equipment Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to repair or replace faulty parts of sporting and athletic equipment such as fishing tackle, tennis rackets, golf equipment, and archery equipment. Includes instruction in regluing and rewinding shafts of bows and arrows; restringing tennis rackets; working with metal parts and using metal working tools; and researching specialized types of sporting and athletic equipment.
- 47.0408 Watch Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to make, maintain, and repair clocks, watches, chronometers, and other types of time-measuring devices by diagnosing malfunctions; disassembling, repairing, and/or replacing faulty parts; cleaning, assembling, and adjusting parts; and replacing straps, bands, crystals, crowns, and hands. Includes instruction in the use of various bench and hand tools such as lathes, staking tools, loupes, truing calipers, timing machines, pallet warmers, and other grinding, drilling, and polishing tools. Also instruction in the use of various materials such as metals, plastic, chemicals, oils, waxes, and abrasives.
- 47.0499 Miscellaneous Mechanics and Repairers, Other. Any instructional program in miscellaneous mechanics and repairers not described above.
- 47.05 Stationary Energy Sources. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to install, operate, and maintain large power sources for such purposes as generating electricity, pumping, and heating.
- 47.0501 Stationary Energy Sources, General. An instructional program that prepare individuals to install, operate, and maintain large power sources for such purposes as generating electricity, pumping, and heating.
- 47.0502 Conventional Electrical Power Generation. An instructional program that prepares individuals to install, operate, and maintain electric-power generating stations, and to operate and maintain gas, oil, and coal furnaces, boilers, and electric generators; steam, gas, or hydro-turbines; and diesel engines. Includes instruction in special instrumentation, controls, and emergency and safety procedures.
- 47.0504 Pumping Plants. An instructional program that prepares individuals to install, operate, and maintain electric, diesel, or gas turbine-pumping installations that handle liquids, gases, or solids for delivery through pipelines or for local use. Includes instruction in the operation and maintenance of pipeline motors, engines, turbines, instruments, and controls.
- 47.0599 Stationary Energy Sources, Other. Any instructional program in stationary energy sources not described above.
- 47.06 Vehicle and Mobile Equipment Mechanics and Repairers. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to maintain and repair aircraft; automobiles; diesel engines in vehicles such as buses, ships, trucks, railroad locomotives, and construction equipment; stationary diesel engines in electrical generators; and small engines in mobile equipment such as lawnmowers and rotary tillers.

- 47.0601 Vehicle and Mobile Equipment Mechanics and Repairers, General. An instructional program that prepares individuals to maintain and repair aircraft; automobiles; diesel engines in vehicles such as buses, ships, trucks, railroad locomotives, and construction equipment; stationary diesel engines in electrical generators; and small engines in mobile equipment such as lawnmowers and rotary tillers.
- 47.0603 Automotive Body Repair. An instructional program that prepare individuals in automobile body and fender repair. Includes instruction in body preparation for painting and finishing.
- 47.0604 Automotive Mechanics. An instructional program that prepares individuals to engage in the servicing and maintenance of all types of automobiles. Includes instruction in the diagnosis of malfunctions in and repair of engines; fuel, electrical, cooling, and brake systems; and drive train and suspension systems. Also instruction is given in the adjustment and repair of individual components and systems such as radiators, transmissions, and carburetors.
- 47.0605 Diesel Engine Mechanics. An instructional program that prepares individuals to repair diesel engines in vehicles such as buses, ships, trucks, railroad locomotives, and construction equipment, and to repair stationary diesel engines in electrical generators and related equipment. Includes instruction in diagnosing malfunctions; disassembling engines and replacing parts; and in repairing and adjusting fuel-injection systems, oil and water pumps, generators, governors, auxiliary and accompanying power units, controls, and transmissions, using a variety of tools and testing and diagnostic equipment.
- 47.0606 Small Engine Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to maintain and repair small internal-combustion engines used on portable power equipment such as lawnmowers, chain saws, rotary tillers, motorcycles, and snowmobiles.
- 47.0607 Aircraft Mechanics, Airframe. An instructional program that prepares individuals to inspect, repair and maintain all airplane parts other than engines, propellers, and instruments. Instruction includes layout and fabrication of sheet metals, fabric skin, and other materials into structural members, parts, and fittings, and replacement of damaged or worn parts such as control cables and hydraulic units. The program is designed to meet the Federal Aviation Administration's requirements for licensing as an airframe mechanic.
- 47.0608 Aircraft Mechanics, Powerplant. An instructional program that prepares individuals to inspect, repair and maintain all types of aircraft powerplants and controls. Instruction includes engine inspection and maintenance lubrication and cooling; electrical and ignition systems; carburetion, fuels and fuel systems; and propeller assembly. The program is designed to meet the Federal Aviation Administration's requirements for licensing as a powerplant mechanic.
- 47.0699 Vehicle and Mobile Equipment Mechanics and Repairers, Other. Any instructional program in vehicle and mobile equipment mechanics and repairers not described above.

47.9999 Mechanics and Repairers, Other. Any instructional program in mechanics and repairs not described above.

48. Precision Production. A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepare individuals to produce precision goods and materials by hand or machine. In many instances, instructional activities are designed to cultivate an ability to interpret detailed instructions and specifications, and to produce or manufacture goods at low tolerances.

48.01 Drafting. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to plan, prepare, and interpret mechanical, architectural, structural, pneumatic, marine, electric/electronic, topographical, and other sketches; to use reproduction materials, equipment, and processes, to develop, plan, and process charts and drawings; to develop models; and to prepare reports and data sheets for writing specifications; and to use computer assistance design equipment and materials.

48.0101 Drafting, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to plan, prepare, and interpret mechanical, architectural, structural, pneumatic, marine, electric/electronic, topographical, and other sketches; to use reproduction materials, equipment, and processes, to develop, plan, and process charts and drawings; to develop models; and to prepare reports and data sheets for writing specifications; and to use computer assistance design equipment and materials.

48.0102 Architectural Drafting. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to support architects and/or architectural engineers in developing plans for buildings or other structures, using a variety of building materials; in creating layouts and designs in keeping with building codes, zoning laws, ordinances, and other regulations; in styling and planning in keeping within cost limitations and client preferences, and in the use of computer assistance design equipment and materials.

48.0103 Civil/Structural Drafting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to develop detailed construction drawings, topographical profiles, and related maps and specifications sheets for use in the planning and construction of highways, river and harbor improvement; flood-control structures, drainage structures, sanitation plants, and other structures. Includes instruction in computing the volume of excavation and fill tonnage, in preparing graphs and hauling diagrams for use in earth-moving operations, and in the use of computer assistance design equipment and materials.

48.0104 Electrical/Electronics Drafting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to develop working drawings and wiring diagrams used by construction crews and repairmen to install and prepare electrical equipment, power plants, industrial establishments, and commercial or domestic buildings. Includes instruction in drafting the wiring and schematic diagrams and layout drawings used to manufacture, assemble, install, and repair electrical/electronic equipment such as television cameras, radio transmitters, receivers, audioamplifiers, computers, and related equipment, and in the use of computer assistance design equipment and materials.

48.0105 Mechanical Drafting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assist engineers in the development of detailed working drawings and related specifications for mechanical devices and machinery. Includes instruction in sketching rough layouts; drafting detailed multiview drawings; computing magnitude, direction, and point of application of tension, compression, and bending factors; compiling and analyzing text data to determine design effects on machinery in relation to temperature, pressure, speed, horsepower, and fuel consumption; producing drawings that indicate dimensions, tolerances, fasteners, joining requirements, and other engineering data, and in the use of computer assistance design equipment and materials.

48.0199 Drafting, Other. Any instructional program in drafting not described above.

48.02 Graphic and Printing Communications. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to design and execute layouts and illustrations for advertising displays and instructional manuals. Includes instruction in all phases of offset printing, layout, composition, pressmark and binding, flexography, lithography, photoengraving, and other graphic arts related to the printing industry.

48.0201 Graphic and Printing Communications, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals in the approaches and techniques used in the various graphic and printing communications specialties.

48.0202 Bookbinding. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to gather pages, forms, and related materials for assembly into books or pamphlets. Includes instruction in binding and repairing books and documents.

48.0203 Commercial Art. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to design and execute layouts and make illustrations for advertising displays and instructional manuals. Includes instruction in the preparation of copy; lettering, poster, package, and product design; fashion illustration; silk screening; air brushing; and inks and color dynamics.

48.0204 Commercial Photography. An instructional program that prepares individuals to use cameras and laboratory film-processing techniques. Includes instruction in composition and color dynamics; contact printing; enlarging, developing film; use of air brushes, cameras, meters, and other photographic equipment; portrait, commercial, and industry photography; processing microfilm, and preparing copy for printing or other graphic-arts processing.

48.0205 Typesetting, Make-up, and Composition. An instructional program that prepares individuals to lay out, compose, and make-up typesetting and typecast, by hand and by machine.

48.0208 Printing Press Operations. An instructional program that prepares individuals to make ready, operate, and maintain printing presses.

- 48.0209 Silk Screen Making and Printing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to make silk screens and to perform silk screen printing operations.
- 48.0210 Photoengraving. An instructional program that prepares individuals to photograph illustrations and other copy that cannot be set in type, to develop negatives, and to prepare photosensitized metal plates for use in printing.
- 48.0299 Graphic and Printing Communications, Other. Any instructional program in graphic and printing communications not described above.
- 48.03 Leatherworking and Upholstering. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to fabricate and repair all types of upholstery and leather goods.
- 48.0301 Leatherworking and Upholstering, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to fabricate and repair all types of upholstery and leather goods.
- 48.0302 Saddlemaking and Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to construct and repair saddles. Includes instruction in cutting, assembling, and joining leather parts and other materials according to specification of saddle size, type, color, or grain of leather, using hand and power stitching machines; positioning covering and cushioning materials such as cotton batting, foam rubber, or mohair; attaching accessories and ornamentation; applying paint and liquid dressings for flossy finish; and cutting and stamping leather surfaces with lettering or decoration.
- 48.0303 Upholstering. An instructional program that prepares individuals to engage in all aspects of upholstering furniture, automobile seats, caskets, mattresses, and bedsprings. Includes instruction in installing, repairing, arranging, and securing springs, filler, padding, and covering material of mattresses and bedsprings; cutting, sewing, and trimming; cushion filling, tufting, and buttoning; and wood refinishing.
- 48.0304 Shoe and Boot Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to repair all types of footwear, including replacement and mending of worn parts; repairing orthopedic footwear, refinishing and dyeing leather; and repairing other leather goods such as handbags, belts, and luggage.
- 48.0399 Leatherworking and Upholstering, Other. Any instructional program in leatherworking and upholstering not described above.
- 48.04 Precision Food Production. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to perform slaughtering and butchering operations in a slaughtering and meat packing establishing, or to cut, trim, and prepare carcasses for wholesale or retail sale.
- 48.0401 Precision Food Production, General. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform slaughtering and butchering operations in a slaughtering and meat packing establishing, or to cut, trim, and prepare carcasses for wholesale or retail sale.
- Chef/Cook (see 20.0403).
- 48.0402 Meatcutting. An instructional program that prepares individuals to cut, trim, and prepare carcasses and consumer-sized portions of meat for sale in wholesale, retail, or food-service establishments. Includes instruction in the use of meat-cutting tools; identification of and cutting techniques for different cuts of meat; dressing poultry; processing fish; counter display; and refrigeration of meats, poultry, and fish.

48.0403 Slaughtering and Butchering. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform slaughtering and butchering operations in a slaughtering and meat packing establishment. Includes instruction in stunning and slaughtering; skinning, trimming, and washing; cutting standard cuts of meats such as chucks, hams, loins, plates, rounds, and shanks in preparation for marketing; cleaning and salting hides of cattle, sheep, and hogs; preparing, smoking, and wrapping meats; and making sausage.

48.0499 Precision Food Production, Other. Any instructional program in precision food production not described above.

48.05 Precision Metal Work. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to plan, manufacture, assemble, test, and repair parts, mechanisms, machines, and structures in which materials are cast, formed, shaped, molded, heat treated, cut, twisted, pressed, fused, stamped, or otherwise worked upon.

48.0501 Precision Metal Work, General. An instructional program that prepares individuals to plan, manufacture, assemble, test, and repair parts, mechanisms, machines, and structures in which materials are cast, formed, shaped, molded, heat treated, cut, twisted, pressed, fused, stamped, or otherwise worked upon.

48.0502 Foundry Work. An instructional program that prepares individuals to engage in activities at ferrous and nonferrous foundries. Includes instruction in foundry equipment, various sands and refractories, sand and machine molding, core-making, chipping, grinding, foundry chemistry, and metallurgy.

48.0503 Machine Tool Operation/Machine Shop. An instructional program that prepares individuals to shape metal parts on machines such as lathes, grinders, drill presses, milling machines, and shapers. Programs may also train individuals in the use of one machine tool. Includes instruction in making computations related to work dimensions, testing feeds and speeds of machines using precision measuring instruments such as layout tools, micrometers, and gauges; machining and heat-treating various metals; and in laying out machine parts.

48.0504 Metal Fabrication. An instructional program that prepares individuals to fabricate and assemble a variety of products. Includes instruction in layout; sequence of operations; set up and operation of fabricating machines; design and construction of templates and fixtures; and the positioning; aligning, fitting, and welding of parts.

48.0506 Sheet Metal. An instructional program that prepares individuals to lay out, fabricate, erect or install, and maintain items made of steel, copper, stainless steel, and aluminum, using hand tools and machines such as cornice brakes, forming rolls, and squaring shears.

48.0507 Tool and Die Making. An instructional program that prepares individuals to analyze specifications and to lay out metal stock, set up and operate machine tools to fit and assemble parts for the manufacture and repair of metalworking dies, cutting tools, fixtures, gauges, and machinists' hand tools. Includes instruction in metal properties and in the applications and construction of tool and die designs.

- 48.0508 Welding. An instructional program that prepares individuals to use any welding and cutting processes according to diagrams, blueprints, or written specifications, and may include robotic applications.
- 48.0599 Precision Metal Work, Other. Any instructional program in precision metal work not described above.
- 48.06 Precision Work, Assorted Materials. An instructional program that prepares individuals to produce precision goods in a variety of materials including ceramics, precious stones, metals, glass, and plastics.
- Commercial Garment and Apparel Construction (see 20.0303).
- 48.0601 Industrial Ceramics Manufacturing. An instructional program that prepares individuals to engage in manufacturing activities to produce ceramic machine tools; refractories for space vehicles; and brick, glass, crockery, tile, pipe, and other articles made from clays and silicas. Includes instruction in testing physical, chemical, and heat-resisting properties of materials, and processing, forming, and firing clays to develop ceramic products.
- 48.0602 Jewelry Design, Fabrication, and Repair. An instructional program that prepares individuals to design, fabricate, and repair jewelry articles such as rings, brooches, pendants, bracelets, and lockets. Includes instruction in modelmaking; casting, engraving, polishing, stonesetting, fitting rings, and soldering broken parts; reshaping and restyling old jewelry; and using special jeweler's hand tools and machines.
- 48.0603 Plastics. An instructional program that prepares individuals to mold and cast parts, patterns, and prototype parts; fit, fabricate, and repair internal carvings; finish plastic parts; and assemble plastic components into products.
- 48.0699 Precision Work, Assorted Materials, Other. Any instructional program in precision work, assorted materials not described above.
- 48.07 Woodworking. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to lay out and shape stock; assemble wooden articles or subassemblies; mark, bind, saw, carve, and sand wooden products; repair wooden articles, and use a variety of hand and power tools.
- 48.0701 Woodworking, General. An instructional program that prepares individuals to lay out and shape stock; assemble wooden articles or subassemblies; mark, bind, saw, carve, and sand wooden products; repair wooden articles, and use a variety of hand and power tools.
- 48.0702 Furniture Making. An instructional program that prepares individuals to assemble and finish wood furniture. Includes instruction in preparing freehand sketches; fastening wooden parts with glue; reinforcing joints with dowels, screws, staples, or nails using power screwdrivers, staple guns, or hammers; and finishing or refinishing new, used, damaged, or worn furniture according to specifications.

- 48.0703 Millwork and Cabinet Making. An instructional program that prepares individuals to engage in the mass production of such articles as window frames, moldings, trim and panels; and such products as store fixtures, kitchen cabinets, and office equipment. Includes instruction in cutting, shapping, assembling, and refinishing articles; installing hinges, catches, drawer pulls, and other hardware; and planning and drafting layouts.
- 48.0799 Woodworking, Other. Any instructional program in woodworking not described above.
- 48.99 Precision Production, Other. A group of instructional programs in precision production not described above.
 - 48.9999 Precision Production, Other. Any instructional programs in precision production not described above.
- 49. Transportation and Material Moving. A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepare individuals to operate and control equipment used to facilitate the movement of people or materials.
 - 49.01 Air Transportation. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to engage in activities concerned with the inflight operation of commercial and private airplanes, including piloting, navigating, and providing passenger services and general ground support.
 - 49.0101 Air Transportation, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to engage in activities concerned with the inflight operation of commercial and private airplanes, including piloting, navigating, and providing passenger services and general ground support.
 - 49.0102 Air Piloting and Navigation (Commercial). An instructional program that prepares individuals to pilot aircraft and assume the eventual command responsibility of carrying passengers and freight. Includes instruction in aircraft structure, behavior, operations, and controls; radio communications, meteorology; navigation; airways safety and traffic regulations; and governmental rules and regulations pertaining to piloting aircraft. Completion of this program prepares individuals to take Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) examinations for a commercial pilot's certificate.
 - 49.0104 Aviation Management. An instructional program that prepares individuals in the nature and application of management methods and techniques related to the aviation industry.
 - 49.0105 Air Traffic Control. An instructional program that prepares individuals in air-traffic management and control, usually with additional training at the FAA Flight Control Center in a cooperative education program. Includes instruction in flight control; the use of radar and electronic scanning devices; plotting of flights; radio communication; interpretation of weather conditions affecting flights; flight instrumentation used by pilots; and maintenance of flight-control center or control-tower log books and reports.
 - 49.0106 Flight Attendants. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform a variety of personal services conducive to the safety and comfort of airline passengers during flight, including verifying tickets, explaining the use of safety equipment, and serving prepared meals and beverages.

- 49.0107 Airplane Piloting (Private). An instructional program that prepares individuals to fly aircraft for personal use. The program is designed to meet the Federal Aviation Administration's certification requirements.
- 49.0199 Air Transportation, Other. Any instructional program in air transportation not described above.
- 49.02 Vehicle and Equipment Operation. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to drive trucks and buses, and to operate construction, material handling, and mining equipment.
- 49.0201 Vehicle and Equipment Operation, General. An instructional program that generally prepares individuals to drive trucks and buses, and to operate construction, material handling, and mining equipment.
- 49.0202 Construction Equipment Operation. An instructional program that prepares individuals to operate and maintain a variety of heavy equipment, such as a crawler tractor, motor graders and scrapers, and shovels, including dragline, hoe, and cranes. Includes instruction in digging, ditching, sloping, stripping, grading backfilling, clearing, and excavating.
- 49.0203 Material Handling. An instructional program that prepares individuals to receive, store, ship, transport, control, and distribute products and materials; keep records of transactions; and properly use hand tools and power equipment such as bars, cutters, hand trucks, conveyors, and industrial trucks to move materials.
- 49.0204 Mining Equipment Operation. An instructional program that prepares individuals to engage in mining operation activities; operate excavating machinery and shuttle cars; test for and identify gases in the mine; and maintain testing equipment. Includes instruction in first aid; ventilation and dust control in the mine; techniques of roofing, ribbing, and setting crossbars; escape procedures; and maintenance of pneumatic and hydraulic systems.
- 49.0205 Truck and Bus Driving. An instructional program that prepares individuals to drive trucks and buses. Includes instruction in operating gas, diesel, or electrically-powered vehicles; loading and unloading cargo or passengers; reporting delays or accidents on the road; verifying load against shipping papers; arranging transportation for personnel; and keeping records of receipts and fares.
- 49.0299 Vehicle and Equipment Operation, Other. Any instructional program in vehicle and equipment operation not described above.
- 49.03 Water Transportation. A group of instructional programs that prepare individuals to perform tasks on fresh-water and sea-going ships, tugboats, barges, floating structures, and related harbor and dock machinery. Includes instruction in firefighting; lifeboat work; swimming; fiber and wire rope handling and splicing; hull maintenance and painting; cargo-handling gear and ground tackle; maintenance, operation, and repair of main engines and auxiliary steam, refrigeration, water, and electrical systems; and watchkeeping, store-keeping, and food preparation.

- 49.0301 Water Transportation, General. An instructional program that prepares individuals to perform tasks on fresh-water and sea-going ships, tugboats, barges, floating structures, and related harbor and dock machinery. Includes instruction in firefighting; lifeboat work; swimming; fiber and wire rope handling and splicing; hull maintenance and painting; cargo-handling gear and ground tackle; maintenance, operation, and repair of main engines and auxiliary steam, refrigeration, water, and electrical systems; and watchkeeping, store-keeping, and food preparation.
- 49.0302 Barge and Boat Operations. An instructional program that prepares individuals to direct the operation and navigation of barges, dredges, non-cable ferry boats, and tugboats to transport people and materials; to tow other marine vessels; and to dredge waterways.
- 49.0303 Commercial Fishing Operations. An instructional program that prepares individuals to support the captain of a fishing boat or perform as an officer in charge of various types of boats for commercial or recreational purposes. Includes instruction in operation of boats, fishing gear, navigational instruments, electronic fish-finding and depth-measuring devices; and specialized gear required for catching, identifying, sorting, and storing fish or other marine products; safety procedures; marine law and tradition; maintenance of ships logs and report preparation; and effective functioning on board all types of boats. Programs provide preparation for licensure by the Coast Guard.
- 49.0304 Deep Water Diving and Life Support Systems. An instructional program that prepares individuals to deep-water dive or serve as attendants on board boats from which diving is done. Includes instruction in the use of diving bells and other specialized gear; problems and hazards of diving; mixing and delivering oxygen and other life-support gases; communication systems; decompression systems; and limits of depth of diving; deep underwater salvage; exploration, rescue, and photography; and installation of underwater mechanical systems and their maintenance, repair, or demolition.
- 49.0305 Marina Operations. An instructional program that prepares individuals to manage and operate commercial marinas. Includes instruction in accommodating, docking, serving, and provisioning recreational or small commercial fishing or other boats; designing, installing, and maintaining docks, wharfs, and related equipment; ensuring sanitation of facilities; fueling and fire prevention; protecting wharf and docking facilities from biological or other destructive agents; maintaining facilities and manning the establishment to serve the public; and basic marine laws and legal responsibilities.
- 49.0306 Marine Maintenance. An instructional program that prepares individuals to repair outboard and inboard engines; test, maintain, and repair steering devices and electrical systems; repair metal, wood, and fiberglass; fabricate and maintain sail; and repair and balance propellers.
- 49.0308 Sailors and Deckhands. An instructional program that prepares individuals to use and maintain lines, nets, navigational aids, radios, and electronic equipment; safely handle boats; maintain docks, surfaces, engines, and power plants; and other ocean skills that promote safety and survival at sea.
- 49.0399 Water Transportation, Other. Any instructional program in water transportation not described above.

49.99 Transportation and Material Moving, Other. A group of instructional programs in transportation and material moving not described above.

49.9999 Transportation and Material Moving, Other. Any instructional program in transportation and material moving not described above.

50. Visual and Performing Arts. A summary of groups of instructional programs that describe the creation and perception of auditory, kinesthetic, and visual phenomena which express ideas and emotions in various forms, subject to aesthetic criteria.

50.01 Visual and Performing Arts, General. A group of instructional programs (see 50.0101).

50.0101 Visual and Performing Arts, General. An instructional program that generally describes the historic development, aesthetic qualities, and creative processes of two or more of the visual and performing arts.

50.0201 Crafts, General. An instructional program that generally describes how to increase one's skills to fashion objects in a specialized area of handwork.

50.0202 Ceramics. An instructional program that describes how to increase one's skills to fashion objects of clay and similar materials treated by firing.

50.0204 Fiber/Textiles/Weaving. An instructional program that describes how to increase one's skills to interlace fibrous material (threads, yarns, etc.) into fabrics or materials having decorative or ornamental purposes.

50.0205 Glass. An instructional program that describes how to increase one's skills to form or shape a mass of molten or heat-softened glass into functional and decorative items.

50.0299 Crafts, Other. Any instructional program in crafts not described above.

50.03 Dance. A group of instructional programs (see 50.0301).

50.0301 Dance. An instructional program that describes the performance and choreography of various kinds of dancing, including but not limited to ballet, modern, jazz, ethnic, and folk dance.

50.04 Design. A group of instructional programs that describe the theories, techniques, and creative processes for more effectively performing the function of communicating feelings, ideas, and information through use of materials and media to create two- or three-dimensional visual affects.

50.0401 Design, General. An instructional program that generally describes the theories, aesthetic qualities, and processes of two or more design specialities.

- Fashion Design (see 19.0902).
- 50.0402 Graphic Design. An instructional program that describes the theories, aesthetic qualities, and creative processes for more effectively communicating ideas, information, and feelings in printed form with attention being given to both aesthetic and functional criteria.
- 50.0403 Illustration Design. An instructional program that describes the techniques for conveying information through visual imagery and pictorial representation.
- 50.0404 Industrial Design. An instructional program that describes the techniques of designing consumer or commercial products and packaging to maximize aesthetic appeal while not compromising utilitarian value.
- Interior Design (see 04.0501).
- Medical Illustrating (see 17.0504).
- 50.0405 Theatre Design. An instructional program that describes the techniques of communicating information, ideas, moods, and feelings through set design and costuming with attention to both function and aesthetics.
- 50.0499 Design, Other. Any instructional program in design not describe above.
- 50.05 Dramatic Arts. A group of instructional programs (see 50.0501).
- 50.0501 Dramatic Arts. An instructional program that describes the development, theory, processes of creating live performances through human expressive modalities.
- 50.06 Film Arts. A group of instructional programs that describe the development, theories, processes, and techniques of photographic images as a means of artistic expression.
- 50.0601 Film Arts, General. An instructional program that generally describes the development, theories, processes, and techniques of two or more of the film arts.
- 50.0602 Cinematography/Film. An instructional program that describes the historic development, aesthetic qualities, theories, techniques, and creative processes of the moving images as a means of artistic expression using film as the medium.
- 50.0603 Film Animation. An instructional program that describes the techniques and creative processes for creating motion pictures consisting of a series of drawings, each slightly different from the preceding one so that, when filmed and projected, the figures appear to move.
- 50.0604 Holography An instructional program that describes the theories, techniques and creative processes for making holograms (three-dimensional pictures made on a photographic film or plate without the use of a camera).
- 50.0605 Photography. An instructional program that describes the historic development, aesthetic qualities, theories, techniques, and creative processes of producing images on photographic film or plates.

- 50.0606 Video. An instructional program that describes the aesthetic qualities, theories, techniques, and creative processes of moving images as a means of artistic expression using videotape as the medium.
- 50.0699 Film Arts, Other. Any instructional program in film arts not described above.
- 50.07 Fine Arts. A group of instructional programs that describe the organization of materials and media for two- or three-dimensional visual affects that communicate ideas, express emotion, and are considered primarily in relation to aesthetic criteria of judgments of beauty or meaningfulness.
- 50.0701 Fine Arts, General. An instructional program that generally describes the historic development, aesthetic qualities and creative processes of two or more of the fine arts.
- 50.0702 Art Conservation. An instructional program that describes the techniques and processes for protecting objects of art (e.g., paintings, sculpture) from deterioration or decay and for restoring such objects that have deteriorated or been damaged.
- 50.0703 Art History and Appreciation. An instructional program that describes art and its relationship to concurrent events, the evaluation of artistic styles, the lives of artists, and the role of art in human affairs, including contemporary times.
- 50.0704 Arts Management. An instructional program that prepares individuals to apply economic and business principles to the management and operation of profit and nonprofit organizations that specialize in the visual or performing arts.
- 50.0705 Drawing. An instructional program that describes the aesthetic qualities, techniques, and creative processes for communicating ideas, feelings, and inner visions through representation by lines; a delineation of form without reference to color.
- 50.0706 Intermedia. An instructional program that describes the aesthetic qualities, techniques, and creative processes for expressing emotions, ideas, or inner visions in either two or three dimensions using a variety of materials (media) simultaneously.
- 50.0708 Painting. An instructional program that describes the aesthetic qualities, techniques, and creative processes for expressing emotions or communicating ideas through application of paints to canvases or other materials.
- 50.0709 Sculpture. An instructional program that describes the aesthetic qualities, techniques, and creative processes for creating works of art in the three dimensions through carving, molding, welding or other procedures.
- 50.0710 Printmaking. An instructional program that describes the aesthetic qualities, techniques, and creative processes for producing fine arts prints by rendering art work in stone, metal, wood or other material and transferring images onto paper or other media, using ink or photographic or silkscreen process.
- 50.0799 Fine Arts, Other. Any instructional program in fine arts not described above.

- 50.09 Music. A group of instructional programs that describe the art and science of combining sounds of various timbre in harmonic, rhythmic, or melodic forms which are artistically expressive.
- 50.0901 Music, General. An instructional program that generally describes music history and appreciation, music performance, and music theory and composition.
- 50.0902 Music History and Appreciation. An instructional program that describes music and its relationship to concurrent events, the evolution of musical styles, the lives of musicians, and the role of music in human affairs, including contemporary times.
- 50.0903 Music Performance. An instructional program that describes the applied study of and performance on musical instruments, or the applied study of voice and vocal performance, either solo or in ensemble.
- 50.0904 Music Theory and Composition. An instructional program that describes the principles, forms, and foundations of music as well as the techniques of creating and arranging tonal combinations and sequences.
- 50.0999 Music, Other. Any instructional program in music not described above.
- 50.99 Visual and Performing Arts, Other. A group of instructional programs in visual and performing arts not described above.
- 50.9999 Visual and Performing Arts, Other. Any instructional program in visual and performing arts not described above.
